Regulations Released for Evacuees on Seasonal Leave

Relocation officers are reporting that many evacuees on seasonal leave are heading into difficulties because they seem unaware of their responsibilities, it was announced by Dillon S. Myer, WRA director. In order to avoid misunderstandings in the future, Myer released the following regulations which are to be observed by those out on such leave:

1. You are working under contract with the War Food Administration, in cooperation with the State Extension service, which will be responsible for all placement and transfers on the different jobs to which you may be assigned. The county agent of the Extension service will provide you with information as to the prevailing wage which you will receive.
2. If you become unemployed or have any justifiable complaint concerning your employment or need medical care or have any other problems, you should take them up with the placement man at the camp or the county agent of the extension service or his labor representative.
3. Permission to travel outside the travel district specified on the seasonal leave card must be obtained from the district relocation officer of the War Relocation Authority, and also from the U. S. District Attorney if you are an alien. Any travel outside the travel district must be fully justified and will be held to an absolute minimum. Permission to visit your center before completion of your contract will not be given by the relocation officer except in case of genuine emergency.
- A visit to the center without permission of the relocation officer may result in cancellation of your seasonal leave permit and inability to secure another seasonal leave without prior approval from the director of WRA.
4. An evacuee who breaks his seasonal leave work contract without the permission of the Government agent in charge of the labor group or the district relocation officer will be required to return to the center at his own expense. In no instance will permission be given an evacuee to break his Government labor contract to accept private employment unless indefinite leave has been applied for.
5. You may convert from seasonal leave to indefinite leave at any time without returning to the center provided you first secure the approval of the relocation officer supervising the territory which includes the community in which you propose to relocate. Application for indefinite leave should be made to the relocation officer supervising the territory in which you are working.
6. If you are of draft age, you will receive the same consideration for deferment as any other citizen. Each application for deferment is judged on its own merits by the local selective service board. As a general rule very few deferments are being granted for seasonal farm work at the present time.
7. Most evacuees will find it desirable to keep a daily work record on time worked or the amount of production in case of piece work. This record should be checked with the employer at regular intervals.

Adult Classes Resumed in High School Building

Adult education classes meeting in the high school were resumed Monday, announced Walter C. Schlossar, director. Classes were suspended last week due to the reconditioning of floors.

No Smoking Regulation to be Enforced in Theaters

Officials of the fire department and community activities announced that hereafter when any person is seen smoking in the theaters the picture will be stopped, the lights turned on and the person asked to leave until he has finished smoking.

USO Hosts and Hostesses to Re-register

Due to the reorganization of the USO personnel, re-registration of the host and hostess club will be undertaken immediately. Prospective applicants and present members are requested to contact Kay Kushino, hostess chairman, for application forms before Wednesday, May 24.
