Girls Collect Scraps To Make Toys, Gadgets

Curious elders raised their eyebrows this week when they saw attractive Midori Kasai begging milk bottle tops from little children. Their eyebrows went up another notch when they saw the same young lady rummage in the refuse box behind one of the mess halls.

They can relax their eyebrows and smile now because there's a good reason behind all of this.

Miss Kasai is salvaging waste material for the handicraft program of the girls' clubs.

Making toys for nursery children calls for empty cans, milk bottle tops, and empty cereal boxes. That's what Miss Kasai, supervisor of the Deltas (girls 19 years old and over), and other girls' club workers have been collecting.

Useful household articles are also being made from scraps of paper, yarn, cloth, and wire by girls' club members.

FIRE ALARM INSTRUCTIONS

Residents who detect fire should go to their nearest Mess hall and phone the Fire department.

According to Fire Chief Raymond Peterson, a new system of alarm may be installed in the near future.

Music Hour Will Be All Recordings

The third Music appreciation hour scheduled for tomorrow from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the Recreation hall will be an all-record program, according to Ruth Watanabe in charge of the event.

"This group represents the number of people who are unprotected from illness in the event of an outbreak of typhoid fever or smallpox," Dr. Kobayashi emphasized.

Each parent is asked to assume responsibility for the protection of his family from these diseases.

Little Tokio in Last Gasp

"Little Tokio, Los Angeles, looks like a ghost town," said Ben Yoshioka, WCCA, employee, who is probably the only person of Japanese ancestry in southern California to be living outside of an Assembly or Reception center.

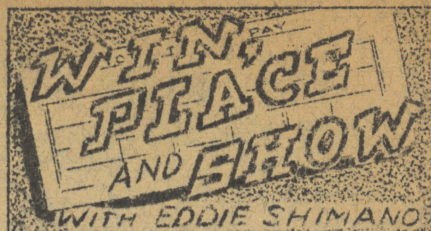

"Little Tokio is really 'sad'," he said, "everything looks so deserted. Stray cats can be seen wandering aimlessly in and out of doorways looking for their masters who had gone away.

"The Miyako hotel is now called the Civic hotel. And the JAFL sign, 'We are Ready To Serve America!' is still hanging on the corner of First and San Pedro."

Yoshioka has a special permit from the army, exempting him from the travel freeze and curfew.

He is staying at the Los Angeles Downtown YMCA. His family lives in the Center.

One of the most attractive Center publications on our exchange list is the Pinedale Logger, published at the Pinedale center near Fresno.

To it goes the PACEMAKER rating of the week.

ANCIENT HISTORY

Tanfo's Tote rags us with complaints that we are hornblowers, and it plaintively recalls 'that Jericho's walls crumbled to the accompaniment of brass.'

But sages at Tanforan should know that when Joshua blew a hot lick on his battered trumpet, it was the walls of Jericho which couldn't take it. And thus ends the lesson for today.

APPRENTICE ALLOWANCE

And as long as this is the election-results special, we might as well say that an informal poll taken in the PACEMAKER office last week rated the Manzanar Free Press the best in news coverage; the Tulare News 'Grapevine,' the best column; and an unmentionable paper, the most illiterate.

Of course, the rating of Center sheets excluded the PACEMAKER.

Don't Forget Your Own Paper

To prevent waste of toilet paper, supplies in the toilets were eliminated and delivery of necessary amounts to individual units was begun this week.

According to William R. Towle, Utility officer, enough will be delivered every two weeks for the needs of the occupants of each unit.

The new system was put into operation because of the large amount wasted under the former setup, explained Towle in a statement today.
