C. N. McCain, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Butler Bank Building
Hood River, Oregon.

July 31, 1943.

Office of the Dean,
Temple University, School of Medicine,
Broadway and Ontario Streets,
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Dear Dean:

It is both a pleasure and a privilege to commend to You Mr. Shu Yasui, a splendid young man whom I have known very well for the last fourteen years, having been his family doctor for that period of time.

This young member of the Nisei, a loyally patriotic organization of the second generation Japanese, was a member of one of the finest of the numerous high esteemed Japanese families in our community.
Shu as well as three brothers and two sisters were outstanding students in grade school and high school and all of them who have as yet gone to Universities have likewise ranked high scholarsticallly and extra curricular activities. This young man despite his lesser poundage was an outstanding his high school athlete and was always very popular with his team mates and fellow students.

Trusting that this letter may serve to aid this very deserving young man, whom I feel sure will become an excellent doctor, to secure the opportunity to pursue his education, I am

Very truly yours

C. W. McCain, M. D.