JUVENILE DELINQUENCY REPORT

The Japanese American Youth, Inc., organized in 1958, is continuing its policy of keeping Nisei parents in Southern California aware of the possibility of their own children becoming a delinquent. Nothing has as much punch as evidence in this problem of juvenile delinquency—even though names are withheld.

Roy Yamadera, active JAY leader and stalwart of East Los Angeles JACL, has issued his report covering May, June and July on the basis of reports from the L.A. Police, County Sheriff, Gardena Police and Pasadena Police departments.

In May, the L.A. Police, which patrols some 434 square miles, arrested seven Japanese American juveniles: two males for robbery (a felony), one male for petty theft, three females for petty theft, and one male for gang activity. The same month the county sheriff picked up one male for narcotics violation.

In June, there was only one male picked up for curfew violation by the city police, which elicited this comment from them: "This month's figures indicate there are active preventive forces in the Japanese American community and we would like to think it is the work of the parents and we wish to commend them."

In July, the city police arrested 12 juveniles: two males and one female for sex delinquency, three males for gang activity, three males for lack of supervision, one male for petty theft, one male and one female for curfew violation. In the county, the sheriffs arrested one male for liquor law violation and two males for lack of parental supervision.

In Gardena, where many Japanese Americans reside, its police chief reported only one during the three-month period for traffic violation. "It appears the work you are doing is paying dividends," JAY was told. And JAY wants the parents of teenagers in Gardena to receive whatever credit is given for the fine showing.

In Pasadena, there were two 16-year-old girls held for petty theft, one male for runaway during the same period.

Probably parents outside of Los Angeles are anxious to know how JAY operates. When calls are received by JAY and have to do with teenage disturbances, such as noisy house parties without parental or adult supervision and large groups of teenagers on sidewalks or in parked cars generally disturbing the neighborhood after curfew hours, JAY notifies the proper authorities and it become a matter of the police . . . These disturbances are violations of local city and county teenage laws. Communities outside of Los Angeles County probably have similar teenage laws.

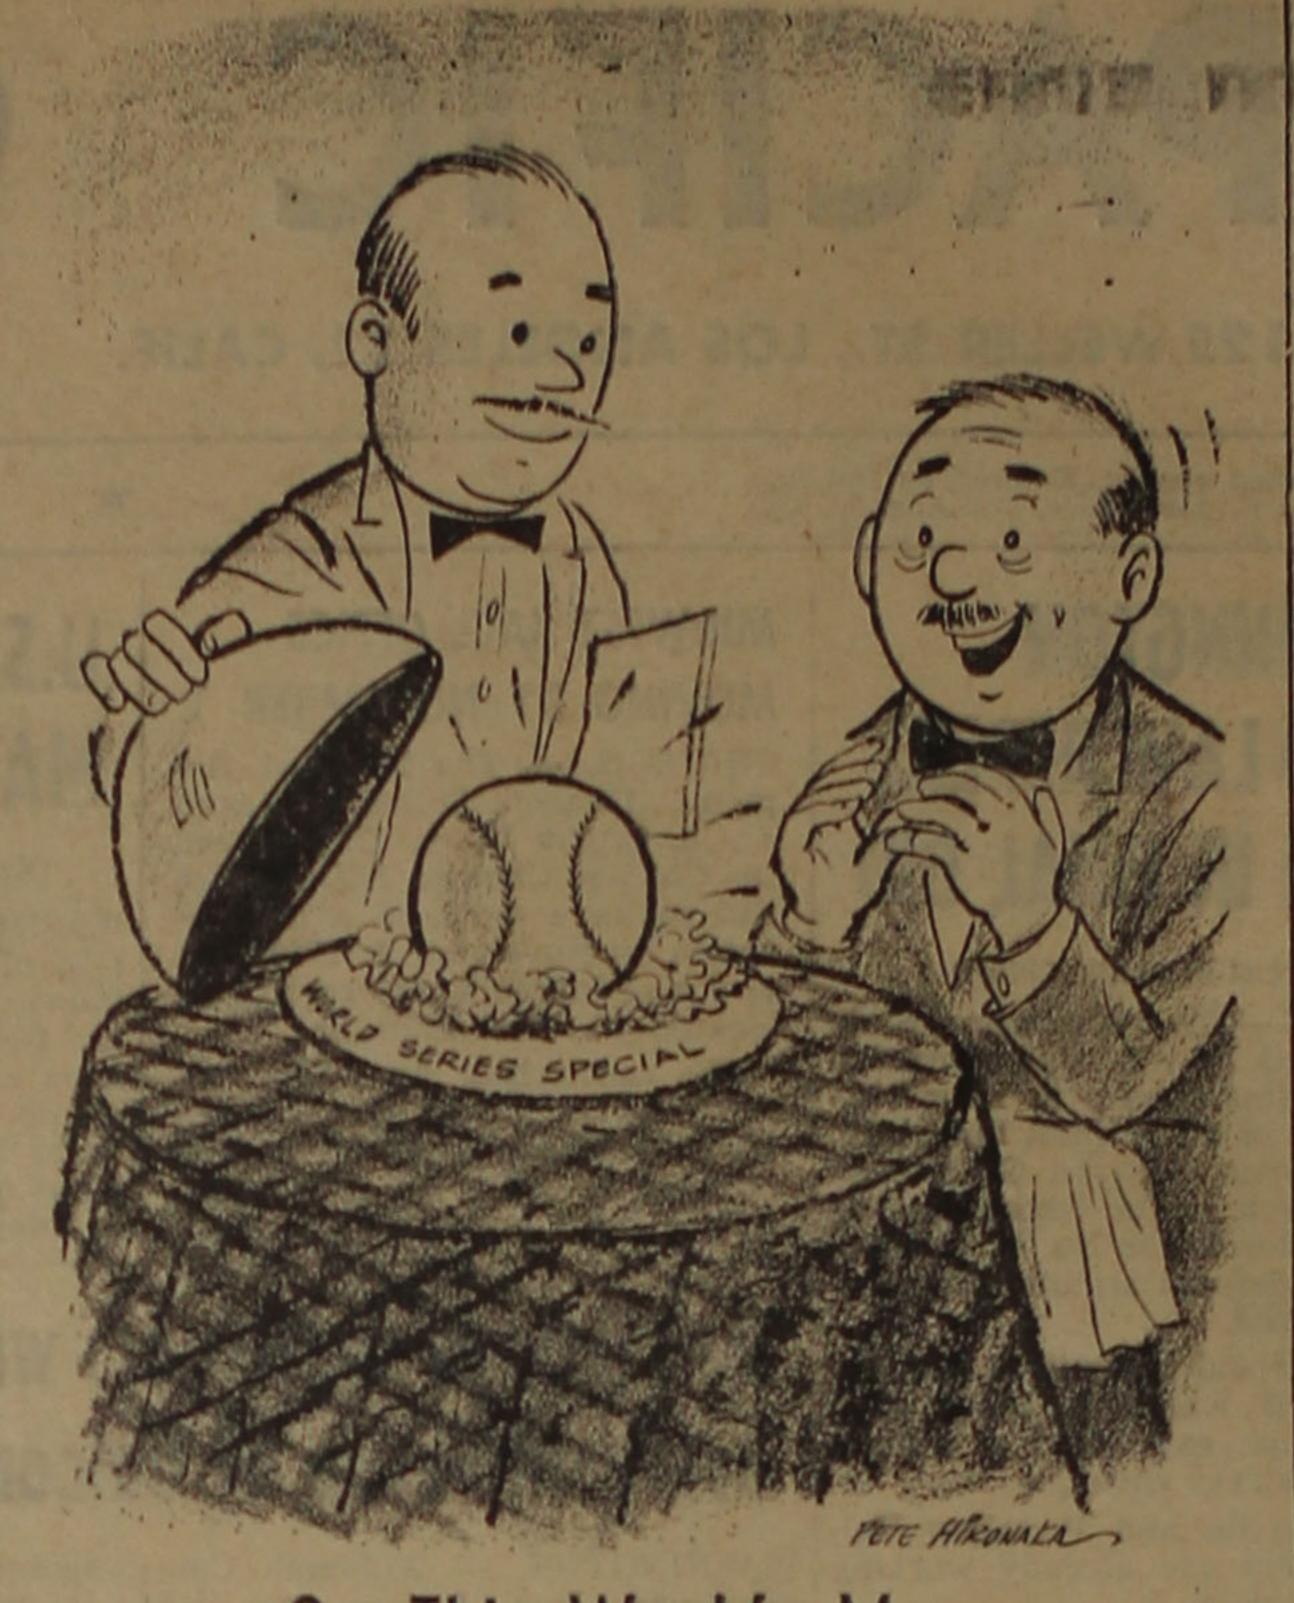

Parents who wonder about the behavior of children at dances would do well to volunteer as chaperones and find out for themselves, advises JAY. This has always been stressed in the past as a "must" for the concerned parents.

AN INTERESTING RECIPE

Among the many recipes found in JACL chapter publications, the specialty found in the Washington, D.C., News Note deserves a comment here this week. . . . What many of us on the West Coast would never consider preparing-kamaboko (fish cakes)-is revealed by Mrs. A. Kuratsune, who has been in the Capitol Area for the past two years. Kamaboko is something we seldom have at home (because I don't like it though the others do). It is our understanding that fish cakes differ in taste according to the maker. The amount of ingredients are also supposed to be a secret . . . So it was with deep interest that we perked our eyebrows to see this fish cake recipe:

Taro Yashima publishes fifth book for children

"The Golden Footprints", a fifth story book for children published by Taro Yashima, noted artist and author, is off the press. The book is a translation of an original story written by Yashima's friend, Hatoju Muku, who is head of a library in Kagoshima where Yashima attended high school.

Yashima illustrated the book which tells the story of a hunter's family and a baby fox to which the son becomes devoted. Yashima's next book is entitled "Momoko no Kneko". It will be published in the spring.

MUSIC MAGIC- For more than a week, Denverites were delighted by the musical magic of Flower Drum Song, staged by the New York company on tour. After the first couple of nights, when word of the show's wonderful warmth spread, every performance was sold out. As everyone knows by now, Flower Drum Song is a musical set in San Francisco's Chinatown where, even as in Li'l Tokio, the relationship between generations is not always smooth.

It is not likely that Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein had sociology in mind when they wrote the musical. Flower Drum Song is completely fun-gay music, exciting dancing, and some wonderfully funny lines. But, without ever being offensive about it, Flower Drum Song unobtrusively pushes the cause of tolerance and racial understanding.

Even though the cast is made up of stereotypes, the Americans of Chinese descent are portrayed as individuals with their private weaknesses, problems, and even a measure of nobility. In other words, the stage characters become warm, amusing, interesting people, and as such the objects of our affection.

With due respects to Elaine Dunn, who does a rousing job as Linda Low, the brassy strip-teaser, it would have been nice if Pat Suzuki could have remained with the road company. Pat created the role, and when she turned on her smile it radiated through the entire theater. And she sang her songs as if they'd been written especially for her. Pat dropped out of the show to play her current role of housewife. Meanwhile, another Suzuki, known on the stage as Jack Soo, comes into his own as the irascible Sammy Fong. While this is a show without individual stars, Soo's completely natural hamming carries it along at a rollicking pace.

CHERRY BLOSSOM SONG?-The musical Flower Drum Song is based on a novel by C. Y. Lee. Unfortunately there isn't a single story quite comparable dealing with the Nisei, although James Edmiston's novel, "Home Again," may come close.

Out of the JACL's proposal to include the Nisei in its definitive history of the Japanese in America, there may come an equally human, heartwarming story to be added to the folklore of the American melting pot. Meanwhile, the first step is to get the story down on paper. Memories have a way of being faulty, and the sources personally acquainted with history are not becoming more plentiful.

GOLDEN FOOTPRINTS- Speaking of folklore, friend Taro Yashima has sent along his latest volume of Japanese stories, "The Golden Footprints" (The World Publishing Co., $2.95). It has to do with a boy named Shotaro whose father, a hunter, captures a baby fox. The fox is chained in a shed, waiting for the day it grows to adulthood, when it will be killed for its pelt. But the fox refuses to eat, pining for freedom.

One night Shotaro sees the adult foxes coming to the cub's aid and out of that experience grows a strange friendship between the foxes and the hunter's son.

Yashima has both translated the story and illustrated it. While "The Golden Footprints" falls short of Yashima's touching and perspective "Crow Boy" published in 1955, it is a welcome addition to the deplorably slim library of Japanese folk stories for children.

SAMURAI DEMOCRAT—And speaking of books, Dan Kurzman's "Kishi and Japan" (Ivan Obolensky, Inc. $5.95) is timely and fascinating reading for anyone interested in current Japan. Kishi, born of a samurai family, was builder of Manchuria's economy, member of the Tojo cabinet, one of the conspirators who tried to wreck Tojo's cabinet, war criminal, and ultimately the prime minister of Japan. He cooperated with Kurzman, an able American reporter, in producing this biography. The volume confirms a suspicion that I've harbored for some time: That Nobusuke Kishi is one of the great men of Japan, and one of the more able men of our times.

Supreme Court —

(Continued from Front Page) The nine justices will also consider whether Alabama acted constitutionally in changing the boundaries of the City of Tuskegee so as to exclude most of its Negro residents, whether the Federal Judiciary should intervene in an effort to force Tennessee to redistrict its State Legislature, and whether Louisiana may compel the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to disclose its membership lists.

Of particular interest to Buddhist Americans may be the several religious cases to be considered. These include whether Maryland may require all public officeholders to declare their belief in God and whether Bible-reading in public schools is constitutional. Still another involves the so-called blue laws of several states, which restrict commercial activities on Sundays and have their origin in colonial statutes of pre-revolutionary days. Of particular interest because of the current presidential campaign is whether birth control measures and information violate the 14th Amendment.

Movie Censorship

In the light of JACL's continuing campaign to discourage the showing on television of World War II motion pictures that impugn the loyalty of Americans of Japanese ancestry, the tests regarding movie censorship are of special concern.

Also of concern are two cases involving labor unions. One has to do with whether the dues of a worker who is compelled to join under a union shop agreement may be used for political purposes over his objection. The other has to do with the legality of union, hiring halls where protection for nonunion members against discrimination is lacking.

In the estimate of the Washington JACL Office, the current October 1960-June 1961 term could be among the most significant insofar as civil and human rights are concerned since the historic 1954 decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

VACATIONERS MOVED BY SMALL TOWN'S BIG HEART

CHICAGO.-The last thing Koki and Aya Kumamoto, active JACLers here, expected to be doing on their vacation trip was visiting strangers in hospitals, but when they stopped in Miller, South Dakota, for dinner, they were so stirred by the concern of their waitress and the townspeople over an injured Japanese war bride that they visited her in the hospital.

Apparently, she and her husband were involved in an automobile accident near Miller en route home to Washington, D.C., and her husband had been forced to leave her behind until her injuries were sufficiently healed.

When the Kumamotos called on her and spoke to her in Japanese, she was beside herself with gratitude.

What impressed the Kumamotos the most, however, was the way in which the whole town had literally adopted and cared for her. They probably didn't realize that they were contributing to international relations in their small way.

The Kumamotos were on the way back from Yellowstone National Park.

Urban League set for golden jubilee

NEW YORK.—The National Urban League is observing its 50th year in November, the celebration of which will include the issuance of a new 4-cent U.S. commemorative stamp in the "Credo" Series on Nov. 19 in New York City.

The stamp, the fifth in the series, will feature the words of Abraham Lincoln: "Those who deny freedom to others deserve it not for themselves".

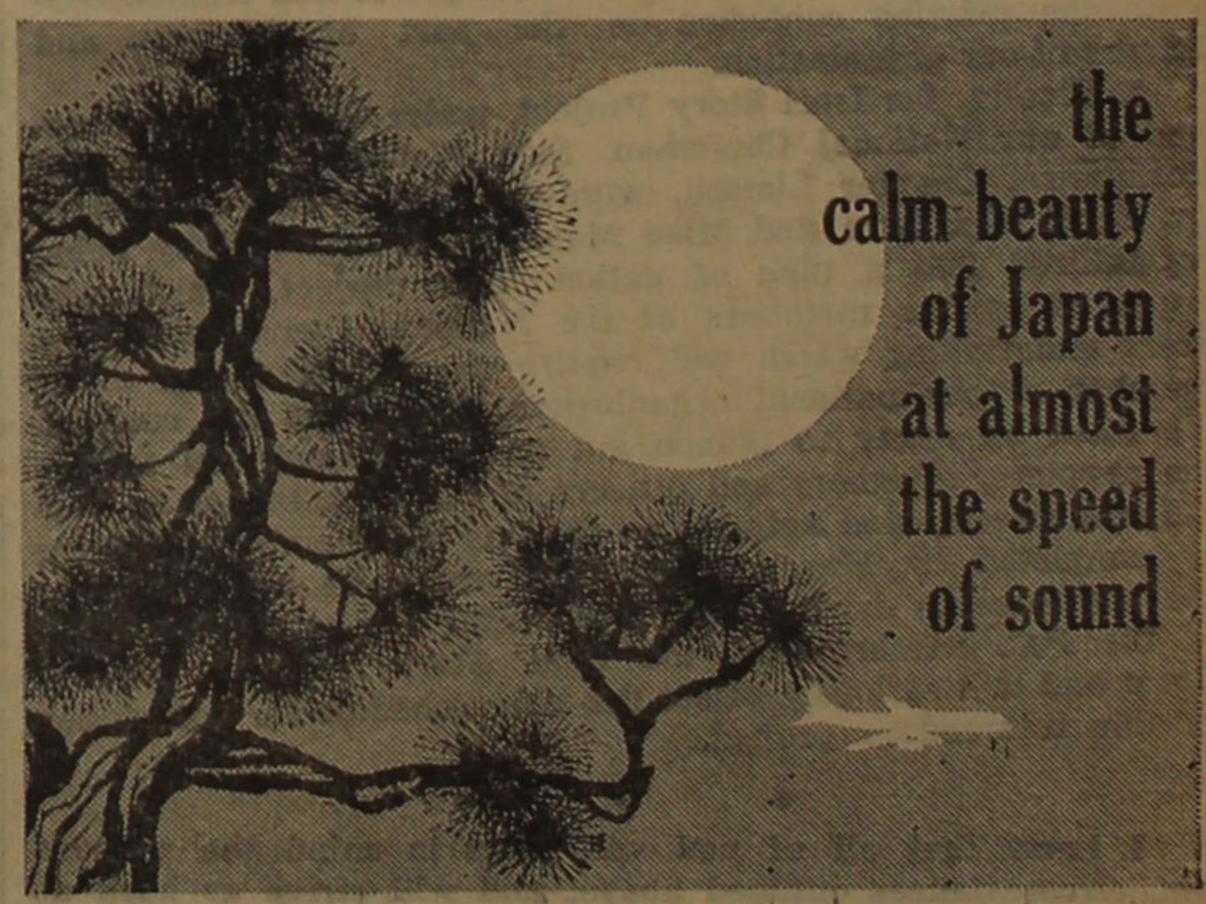

The Urban League, an interracial, educational service agency which has devoted its work to improving the living and working standards of America's urban Negro population, has close 5,000 board members and about 500 staff members.

Presidents Corner

BY FRANK CHUMAN

This is an open letter which I hope will be read by chapter members and district officers at the very earliest opportunity. The letter is being circularized at this time because there is no immediate opportunity to meet with all of the delegates at once as at a national convention.

The national organization, through its officers, is now in the process of clarifying the new budget allocations throughout the district councils. Because of the complicated formula involved and the turmoil which existed at the time the budget was approved very early in the morning of the last day of the Convention. I realize that there is still some misunderstanding with respect to the actual amount, in terms of dollars and cents, which the chapters and district councils are to assume to raise the proposed national budget for the year 1961. The National Director and the National Treasurer are now in the process of issuing a memorandum to clarify the precise amount of money to be raised under the new financial formula.

Concurrently with the new financial program, the policy regarding the Pacific Citizen is now being formulated under the able dicrection of Dr. Roy Nishikawa, Chairman, and his P.C. Board. The P.C. is to be distributed to each household within our national organization in the light of the proposed financial budget for 1961-1962 as approved at the National Convention in Sacramento. It is most important that the membership drive and the P.C. subscription to each household be completed at the same time.

I realize that in many areas, there will be special problems and conditions peculiar to each locality of weather, harvest time, and finances of members, as well as having the changeover of new officers for the year 1961, which will create great hardship on the chapter. I sincerely appreciate the interest of every one of the members and the efforts of the chapters, the district councils and the national staff and board for their concern over these local conditions, and I hope that some satisfactory solution may be forthcoming to ease the situation as much as possible.

At the same time, I am also fully aware of the larger problems involved in completing the membership drive and raising the necessary financial income and having the PC. subscription list completed by March 31, 1961 for the following reasons:

1. Unless we commence the membership drive within the period October 1, 1960 through March 31, 1961 as now decided, the organization will suffer a disastrous loss. Already, for the year 1960, we have fallen behind in our annual income by some $15,000 and by some 3,000 members because of the slowness in completing the membership drive on the part of some of the chapters throughout the nation. I do not point this out by way of criticism, but merely to emphasize to everyone that the national organization must not delay the membership drive and the P.C. beyond March 31, 1961. Otherwise, our entire financial structure will be in serious jeopardy and it may result in a severe curtailment of our activities as well as force our paid salaried staff to work without compensation.

2. Through the efforts of Kumeo Yoshinari, our National Treasurer, Masao Satow, our National Director, Bill Matsumoto, Chairman of our National Membership Committee, and Frank Hartori, our National 1000 Club Chairman, the membership campaign is now under way with membership cards, membership brochures and a publicity campaign. To delay the start of the membership drive will seriously hamper the momentum of the campaign.

3. Under the proposed P.C. subscription to each household, which will result in an increased circulation up to approximately 14,000, we are already assured of some additional attractive advertisements from businessmen who state they will advertise in the P.C. starting from January 1, 1961. It is necessary for us to maintain our present advertisers as well as to obtain new advertisers who will be attracted by the greatly increased circulation starting January 1, 1961, so that the P.C. can be operated on a profitable basis. Any delay in ascertaining the P.C. subscription list might result in some of our proposed advertisers unwilling to place their ads because of the delay.

4. Since there are so many memos now being issued in the matter of the new financial formula, the P.C. policy and proposed plans for other phases of our program, a further additional memorandum stating there is to be a postponement in the cut-off date for P.C. or membership will add tremendously to the existing confusion on the part of members and officers of our organization.

5. Finally, the Issei Story Project, under the capable direction of our National Chairman, Shig Wakamatsu, and Akiji Yoshimura, Chapter Liaison, with the advice and counsel of Dr. Scott Miyakawa and Mike Masaoka, is now rapidly being crystallized into a plan of action. This project, which was approved by the members at the National Convention, is a great undertaking which will require the full efforts of every member of our national organization throughout the country. We must be ready to launch out on the project and to ask the chapters, members and officers of the organization to participate directly and actively as soon as the membership drive is completed by March 31, 1961. If there be any delay in the membership drive or some financial lag or postponement of the P.C. subscriptions, the Issei Story Project will bog down and will seriously affect the time schedule for completion of this tremendous project.

I know that all of you will keep in mind the reasons and circumstances outlined above, and will strive as hard as possible to keep within the policies and deadlines already announced for these projects. I sincerely appreciate your time and effort and your loyalty and faithfulness to the organization in seeing that these projects are made possible, so that the JACL can move on to the greater work ahead. There will be inconveniences, sacrifices, and discouragements before we complete these projects. I am confident, however, that in the highest traditions of our organization, each and everyone of you will bear with me until our program is completed.

NEW YORK .- James A. Michener, Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist, will be the principal speaker at the New York JACL Installation Dinner on Oct. 20, it was announced today.

Michener, whose "Tales of the South Pacific" won the Pulitzer Prize in 1947, is generally regarded as the outstanding interpreter of problems facing the peoples of the Pacific. ## The National Director's Report

By Masao Satow

San Francisco

JACL "PEATITUDES"-President Frank Chuman's attendance in Sacramento this week at the Governor's Conference for the Aging presented an opportunity to get together with National Membership Chairman Bill Matsumoto to discuss the 1961 membership leaflet. Among other things we felt the basic ten JACL "peatitudes", first promulgated during our initial period at National Headquarters, are as valid now as then.

JACL: PROTECTS the interests of persons of Japanese ancestry through proper representation to officials and through the courts;

PROMOTES good citizenship by emphasis upon "proving ourselves worthy of equal treatment and consideration"; PUBLICIZES the facts about Japanese Americans and thereby promotes goodwill in their behalf;

PROTESTS acts of discrimination against persons of Japanese ancestry as attacks upon the unity of America; PRESSES for remedial and corrective legislation to Insure equal treatment for all Americans;

PARTICIPATES with other groups in facing the problems of racial minorities in America;

PRIDES itself on our cultural heritage and promotes Its preservation;

PROVIDES scholarships to encourage its young people for higher education;

PERFORMS a multitude of personal services in behalf of persons of Japanese ancestry;

PUBLISHES the Pacific Citizen, which reflects the aspirations, activities and progress of Japanese Americans.

While a few chapters are in process of cleaning up their current membership efforts, other chapters are making ready for their 1961 membership campaigns. The 1961 membership cards and other material will be going out soon to the following Membership Chairmen who have been designated by their respective chapters: co-chairmen Hank Obayashi, Chibi Yamamoto, San Francisco; Lily Yamasaki, Dayton; Jack Tsuhara, Ft. Lupton; Kay Mayeda, Fremont; John Fujiki, French Camp; Hawley Kato, Gresham-Troutdale; Shurei Matsumoto, Marysville: Harry Menda, Monterey: George Gokami, Portland: Tosh Tsuboi, Puyallup Valley; Sam Miyamoto, Reedley; Bill Matsumoto, Sacramento; Dr. Al Morioka, St. Louis; James Tanda, Salinas; Dr. Be Sakaguchi, San Fernando; co-chairmen James Miyano, Ed Ohki, Roy Okamoto, Sonoma County; Ted Kamibayashi, Stockton; and Joe Ichiuji, Washington D.C. Florence Anazawa has been named Membership Chairman for the Pacific Northwest District.

BUDGET AND QUOTAS-A memo clarifying the new budget and quota formula from National Treasurer Kumeo Yoshinari is being sent out to the chapters this week to asisst in setting up individual chapter quotas.

HOUSING-Members of the Bay Area Human Relations Housing Subcommittee expressed interest in the successful resolution of the housing discrimination incidents reported by Frank Chuman to our National Council, and have asked for copies. Copies will also be distributed to all our chapters in accordance with the recommendation that this helpful information be circulated.

FOR BETTER UNDERSTANDING-Initiated last week was a series of five weekly informal discussions with representatives of the various segments of San Francisco's Western Addition under the auspices of the Sutter Street YWCA. Judging from the very frank opinions expressed at the first meeting, better understanding and appreciation of the background and mores of the Negroes and Japanese should result.

ISSEI STORY PROJECT CHAIRMEN-Additional JACLers who will be assisting on the Issei Story project at the chapter level are: Frank Okimoto, Marysville; Mas Abe, Reedley; Henry Taketa, Sacramento; Charles Yamaguchi, Salinas; Dr. Clifford Uyeda, San Francisco; and Dr. Mary Watanabe for the Eastern District Council.

NOTEWORTHY EFFORT-A big hand to the Mexican Amer-Ican Community Service Organization for its intensive voter registration campaign which netted 101,507 new voters in California.

Nisei 'victims of circumstance in world of politics', says college professor and longtime JACLer at D.C. chapter meeting

BY EMILY HIGUCHI

WASHINGTON .- Dr. Tak Yoshiha shi spoke on the influence of the Nisei's Japanese heritage on his future in the U.S. at the September meeting of the Washington, D.C. JACL chapter. He is Assistant Dean of the School of International Service at American University in appearance, troubles that arise be- implement a board of directors Washington, D.C., and a JACL member since 1936.

A large part of his talk was devoted to an examination of the various attitudes the rest of the American population has toward the Nisei. He concluded from rough calculations that perhaps 4 per cent of the population, through their acquaintance with Nisei, had developed a friendly opinion of them, at most 1 per cent looked on Nisei with suspicion or active dislike, and the remainder were more or less indifferent. He speculated on how the opinions of these three groups would be affected in times of stress between America and Japan.

Dr. Yoshihashi urged the Nisei as an organization to exercise caution in international matters dealing with Japan. An individual Nisei may go as far as he likes. It is a matter strictly up to him. He added that most of us like things associated with Japan such as food, culture, and music, and be sympathetic to their cause, but as an organization, we must remember that things do not always go well, things which we have no control over such as the incidents which happened last June when President Eisenhower was invited to visit Japan. These incidents with its repercussions will shake the foundations of our good relationship built thus far.

Japanese Politics

He also gave a brief review of the more dominant political influences in Japan, such as the

An amendment in the By-Laws of the Chicago Chapter JACL constitution which deals with the Duties of Officers was voted on and passed by the membership present at the meeting. It concerned the elimination of an Issei liaison vice-president for a vicepresiden in charge of public relations.

NATIONAL JACL'S JOB A CONTINUING ONE

The Japanese American Citizens League has three stated purposes:

The first of these is to promote and protect the welfare of persons of Japanese ancestry in the United States consistent with our democracy. This includes working to eliminate all discriminations, legal, social and economic, which in any way prevent Americans of Japanese ancestry from realizing their fullest capacities and making their particular contributions to the life of this country.

Secondly, JACL is concerned that Americans of Japanese ancestry fulfill their citizenship obligations to this country and in their respective communities. JACL serves to train its members for leadership and participation in the affairs of the larger community in cooperation with their fellow Americans, and to open up channels whereby such active participation is made possible.

Finally, JACL strives to carry on a continuous program of public relations in behalf of Americans of Japanese ancestry in order that an increasing number of our fellow Americans will be aware of our rightful place in American life.

CONTROVERSY RISES IN LOTTERY FOR OLYMPIC FUND

In the problem of financing the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo, which its promoters hope will surpass the brilliance of the just concluded Games in Rome, Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda last week said he was not in favor of lotteries to meet the $10-billion budget to stage the games. The "toto calcio" idea, proposed by the Japan Olympic Committee, was strongly supported by Tokyo Governor Ryutaro Azuma . . . The plan calls for tickets selling between Y30 and Y50 (81/2 to 14 cents), with a 40-40-20 breakdown. First 40 per cent is for prizes, the next 40 for the Olympic fund and the 20 for miscellaneous expenses.

NISEI AMONG JAPAN ALL-STARS TO MEET S.F. GIANTS

Shortstop Carleton Hanta of the Nankai Hawks and veteran outfielder Wally Yonamine of the Tokyo Giants were among those elected to the Japanese all-star squad meeting the San Francisco Giants in the forthcoming goodwill series in Japan. The first game is slated for Saturday, Oct. 22, in Tokyo against the Tokyo Giants. The Giants will play 16 games throughout Japan . . . The Tokyo Giants next spring season will train with the Los Angeles Dodgers at the Vero Beach (Fla.) grounds as guests of Dodger president Walter O'Malley. The Japanese hope this method may result in some Japanese to play in AAA and Major League ball in due time.

VACAVILLE'S RON MINAMINE TABBED 'PLAYER OF WEEK'

Haliback Ron Minamide of Vacaville High, who finished the 1959 No. Calif. high school scoring race at the top with 145 points, is off and running again. In the opener against West Sacramento's James Marshall High, the Nisei speedster was held to 6 pts. But the following week against Suisun's Armijo High, he exploded, allying all 45 points-7TDs and 3 PATs. The San Francisco Examiner named him "Prep Player of the Week" of this performance. Minamide amassed 1,735 yards in 166 carries last fall to gain the rushing title among prep backs . . . Some long scoring runs were also turned in recent weeks. Scatback Jerry Nakamura of Woodland High, who only weighs 130 lbs., returned a punt for 75 yards to score as Woodland flattened Yuba City 40-20. Halfback Gene Miyahara sparked St. Francis High of Mountain View by running back the opening kickoff 73 yards to pay-dirt against North Salinas High, which took a 31-13 pasting.

UTAH'S NISEI HALFBACK SCOOTS 98-YD. KICKOFF RETURN

Stan Uyeshiro of Honolulu, a scatback at Univ. of Utah, returned an Oregon second half kickoff 98 yards to score last week-longest of its kind in major collegiate ranks this early season. It put Utah in the lead temporarily, but Oregon's fleet backfield stars staged a final push to win 20-17.

LI'L TOKIO GIANTS WIN MUNY BASEBALL CROWN

Lil Tokio Giants closed its most successful campaign with an 8-3 victory over the L.A. Colts Sunday to nail down their first city title, the Muni American flag. Organized for six years, the Giants this year won the State Nisei Baseball tournament, and produced an 18-3 record which includes a 14game winning streak. Yosh Arima, ace of the Giant pitching staff, burled scoreless ball for five innings, then was nicked for a pair in the sixth and one more in the eighth.

SO. CAL JUDOISTS DEFEAT VISITING NO. CAL ALL-STARS

It was an all-around team victory for the So. Calif. allstar judo team hosting an all-star squad from Northern California Sunday at Koyasan Hall. In point-match competition, South won 105-80. In team play, where a contestant stays in until defeated, the South won with four men remaining. But individual honors went to San Jose State's Iwasaki, voted the tournament's outstanding judoist.

One day this week a sweet voice on a telephone asked: "Do you like Mr. Kennedy for President?" Why, we answered, er, that is, er. . . . . we're a Democrat!

"But do you like Kennedy?" the voice insisted. With a come-on voice like that one can switch parties in a second. "But," we went on, "we did like the Johnson-Kennedy ticket better." "You are evading the issue, sir," the voice firmed

"Are you really a Democrat?" the dulcet voice now suspects. "Why, of course," we retorted. "We voted for Truman when everybody thought he didn't have a Chinaman's chance."

(Not used here as a discriminatory expression).

"Why then do you hedge on the question?" the apparent campaigner from the other side of the darling line tosses back. "But, dear miss, we mean miss er. . . we just gave more thought on Johnson about the time Kennedy pulled his over 700 electoral votes at the Los Angeles National Democratic Convention. (We were there, we felt like telling the young lady. She must have been young with that kind of a voice.)

"Now sir," she comes back rather seriously. We didn't care for this, of course. We wanted to be coosed a little bit. "You are a Democrat?" "Yes!" Then, Mr. Kennedy is a nominee for the highest office in the land, yes? "Yes!"

"Then, why?" Well, once we saw Johnson on television being interviewed by a news commentator. The place was at Johnson's great, outdoor ranch in Texas. He said something like: I'm a free man first, a senator second and a Democrat third.

"We hope we've quoted him right, dear, I mean miss, er . . . 'It became rather apparent that the once soothing, teenager's voice (it couldn't be an old woman speaking) was now getting little rocky.

"What are you sir?" she sounded demanding. "We're in the newspaper business. That's why you called here, didn't you?" "No, what I mean is are you a strong Democrat or a weak one? Do you have some fainting leanings toward the Republicans?"

That was indeed a low blow. "Where are you calling from?" we got back. "Let's say, sir, that I am drumming up votes for Mr. Kennedy whom we think is a very capable leader and good for the nation." We agreed. (and Johnson as vicepresident, too).

"Now, it takes money to campaign for a good leader," the voice sings, somewhat returning to its former soothing tone. "Will you give generously to see that Mr. Kennedy wins the election as the next President of the United States?"

"Why, yes, of course-if it means that Johnson will be going to Washington, too." Anyway, we're for Kennedy!

Bill "Mo" Marumoto of La Habra is an active Republican. He took a leave of absence two weeks ago as director of alumni relations at Whittier College to devote his full time as coordinator of the Japanese Americans Nixon for President headquarters in Li'l Tokio.

As a reporter who must see equal of both political parties without a jaundiced eye we visited Marumoto's headquarters to survey the lay of the land. It's only a stone's throw from the So. Calif. JACL regional office on Weller St.

There on the table were stacks of Nixon stickers, buttons, and badges. It wasn't long before we had a handful of all the items. "They're for the kids," we coyly told Marumoto.

Back at the Mori Mansion, No. 1 heir apparent to the Mori Millions had a different slant on the matter: How come dad brings home Nixon badges? I thought he liked Kennedy! So, where's Kennedy headquarters?

a proposal to change the name of JACL's official weekly publication from the "Pacific Citizen" to some other, such as "The JACL News" or "The Japanese American Citizen".

This suggestion is currently being studied because what has come to be known as the "PC" in many quarters will be reorganized from its role as a general weekly report on the activities of the Japanese American minority in the United States to that of a membership journal in accordance with the mandate of the last National Convention.

Frankly, we are opposed to any change in the name "Pacific Citizen".

Through the years, it has earned a reputation as one of the leading newspapers for an American minority. It has come to be recognized as the spokesman for Americans of Japanese ancestry in particular but for all American minorities in general.

During the war years, when Larry Tajiri, now of the "Denver Post", was its honored editor, it became the instrument by which other Americans learned of the tragedy and the needs of Japanese Americans. The writer recalls that Elmer Davis, then head of the Office of War Information, described the "PC" as one of America's outstanding newspapers, while others high in public and private life but with a concern for civil and human rights looked to the "PC" as the voice of America's conscience at a time when practically all other publications were concerned with only the military aspects of victory.

The "PC" is one of JACL's greatest and most valuable assets.

To change its name, for any reason whatsoever, would tend to confuse its reading public which numbers many times the total of subscribers, would bring discredit to its present staff by suggesting that they are not capable of sustaining the lofty editorial policies of the past, and would reduce the effectiveness of the JACL itself as an organization with a role to play in the larger non-Japanese community.

Just as we opposed changing the name of JACL itself, we

Mrs. Hayden, a retired school teacher, apparently died of heart; attack on Sept. 14. Her husband. Harry, was on his way to the family ranch in Colorado at the time of her passing.

She was recently honored by the Orange Coast College and Huntington Beach American Legion Post 55 for her tireless efforts with Americanization classes she held at her home.

She was born in Peabody, Kansas, and moved to California 33 City since 1934. She was active with the Orange County JACL, tion, the Whittier Daughters of the American Revolution and the Order of the Eastern Star.

An elementary school in Westminister is scheduled to be named after all, the Santana Wind, Orange County JACL Newsletter, reported.

Comments on the Times

Washington, D.C.

UNITED NATIONS AND NISEI: Although interest in our presidential and congresisonal campaigns is picking up as the candidates enter into their final month of electioneering, from the coverage given by newspapers and radio and television there is far more concern over what is happening in the General Assembly of the United Nations in New York.

In this, the 15th year of "mankind's last, best hope", some 15 new nations have been admitted into membership, making a total of almost a hundred. For the first time since its establishment, representatives of the so-called Afro-Asian bloc, almost all of which are post-World War II or newly independent nations, number almost as many as the combined factions of the West and the East. Also, for the first time, these so-called uncommitted and possibly neutral countries are assuming the leadership in trying to bring the two leaders of the two contending forces together in an effort to avoid a showdown that may destroy the United Nations as we know it and ignite the flames of World War III that may well mean the end of civilization as well as of mankind.

Now, without doubt, the overwhelming majority of the 97 nations that comprise the United Nations are non-white. Most of them too are new to independence and self-government. Almost without exception, they are described as "under-developed" countries.

In this kind of circumstance, the responsibilities of the non-whites in the United States become increasingly more important to an understanding between these new uncommitted and neutral nations and our country, for the attacks upon American leadership have been on the basis of our treatment of the non-white races in our land, our lack of appreciation for the sensitivities of non-white peoples, our support of "colomialism" and what it denotes to these long-downtrodden areas.

Americans of Japanese ancestry, as we have contended for many years, have a unique contribution to make in this regard, for we can show ourselves as examples of what American democracy can and has done for one national minority of a non-white race. Other American nationalities and minorities can, and must, share in this common purpose, for whatever the faults and the shortcomings of the American way no other system of government continues to make such real progress toward equality and opportunity and no other land offers such nich promise for the future.

This, it seems to me, is what Issei and Nisei Americans and other "minority" Americans, especially those of the nonwhite races, owe to the country that has given us so much, and to which we have given so little.

It may appear a bit ironical that the racial, religious, and national minorities which have been struggling over the years to create a more meaningful democracy in these United States are now in a position to make democracy more meaningful to all the newly independent peoples of earth. And yet, this is the new challenge to Americans of all races, colors, creeds, and national origins.

Lest mankind be forever doomed, may we live up to our faith and our trust.

VISIT OF JAPAN'S CROWN PRINCE: If the reception accorded to Japan's Crown Prince and Princess in the nation's capital last week is an indication of their reception elsewhere in the land, there is no need to fear a breakdown in friendly relations between Japan and the United States.

As the future rulers of Japan, they demonstrated the kind of understanding of American history and culture, aspirations and objectives, language and society that endeared them to the public at large and bodes well for the future in relations between the land of our citizenship and that of our ancestry. The Commoner who became the Crown Princess of the oldest consecutive ruling family in world history especially charmed Americans and suggested in her person that democracy has really taken root in the New Japan.

JAPANESE ELECTIONS: Japan, as is the United States, is in the midst of crucial national election campaigns.

Campaigning to strengthen their majority as the Government Party is the Liberal-Democratic Party of Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda.

A Hiroshima-born career government service man, he has many personal friends in the United States, where he is recognized as an able, honest, and visionary statesman who will keep Japan aligned with this country and the Free World.

Successor to Kishi as Prime Minister, Ikeda's pro-American Party is campaigning to vindicate the Treaty of Mutual Cooperation and Security with this nation against the left-wing Socialists and others who were successful in forcing the withdrawal of the invitation to President Eisenhower to visit Japan this summer.

At stake is not only fate of the pro-United States orienta - ton, Ohio. Wright-Patterson is gaintion of postWorld War II Japan but also of democracy in that land where only recently mob and minority rule replaced representative, majority government.

We hope that the Japanese people will return Prime Minister Ikeda and his Party to Parliament in such overwhelming fashion that no one will again substitute the rule of violence for the rule of law.
