

DR. FRANK NISHIO VOTE CHAIRMAN OF CENTRAL CAL

FRESNO. — Dr. Frank Nishio, Fresno optometrist and president of the local American Loyalty League chapter of the JACL in 1962, was elected chairman of the Central California JACL District Council for 1964 Sunday.

Dr. Nishio served as a counter-intelligence corps officer during WW2 in occupied Japan and recalled to active duty in the Korean war.

K. Patrick Okura, National JACL president who attended this two-day convention, was scheduled to conduct the installation ceremony, but had to rush home to Omaha, Neb., to attend another conference and left early Sunday evening.

Past national president, Frank F. Chuman of Los Angeles took his place as installing officer.

Parlier JACL was named the Central California "chapter of the year" for its program and activities during 1963.

Award for Dr. Miyake

The National JACL sapphire pin award was presented to Dr. George Miyake of Fowler who is chairman of the National JACL endowment fund.

Silver pin awards to Bill Yebisu from Tulare County chapter and to Dr. Henry Kazato from Fresno ALL JACL were also presented for outstanding service to these chapters.

A moment of silence was observed at the banquet in memory of Fresno's Mayor Arthur Selland who was killed in an auto crash on the outskirts of Fresno while en route home from a meeting in Los Angeles Thursday night.

The 57-year-old mayor had been scheduled to address the banquet gathering, having cancelled an important San Francisco engagement in order to attend.

It was recalled that Mayor Selland was in Sacramento during National JACL convention there in 1960 and spoke at one of the sessions as a booster delegate from Fresno.

Other new district officers installed were:
Ed Nagatani, Delano, 1st v.p.;
Bob Okamura, Parlier, 2nd v.p.;
Ken Hirose, Fowler, treas.; Mrs.

Four Chicagoans earn Silver Pins

CHICAGO. — The 19th annual Chicago JACL Inaugural Banquet and Ball was held on Nov. 30 in the Gold Room of the Belden Stratford Hotel.

Lincoln Shimidzu, new Board Chairman, was installed by MDC Chairman, Dr. James Takao. Others installed at the same time were Chiye Tomihiro, 1st v.c. (program); Tak Tomiya, 2nd v.c. (membership); Fuki Odanaka, 3rd v.c. (public relations); Harry Mizuno, 4th v.c. (budget & finance); Marion Fujii, cor. sec.; Dorothy Wada, rec. sec.; and George Tanaka, treas.

The JACL Awards Presentation was handled by Dr. Thomas T. Yabate, the first National JACL President.

Silver Pins Awarded

Those honored with the Silver Pin for at least ten years of outstanding and exceptional services were Hiro Mayeda, Mrs. Masako Inouye, Mrs. Maudie Noma and Mrs. Sumi Miyaki.

The special JACL "Creed Award" given for faithful services less than ten years was presented to Henry Tanabe.

Certificate of Recognition given for volunteer services to the Youth Commission were presented to Shig Murao, Sam Zaiman, Ciry Ramirez, George Hidaka, Tom Hayashi, Tak Itami, Jim Kawamura, Shigeru Oki, and Hiro Uchida.

At the close of the banquet, the JACL Hymn was beautifully sung by Helen M. Saiki, accompanied by Susan Torioque, and the Colors were retired by five members of Nisei Explorer Post 2515.

Selma president

SELMA. — Sus Kimoto was installed as Selma JACL president last Sunday at the Fresno Hacienda during the CCDC convention banquet at a mass ceremony for all new officers from the entire district.

New York president

NEW YORK. — Jack Ozawa was elected chairman of the New York JACL, it was announced this week. He formerly lived in Philadelphia, where he was extremely active in the chapter there, having served as its charter president in 1947.

NEW REALTY GROUP BACKS RUMFORD ACT, URGES REAL ESTATE ASSN TO RECONSIDER ITS OPPOSITION

LOS ANGELES. — The California Realtors for Fair Housing, organized during this past week, has announced at its first statewide meeting that it would fight an initiative which would repeal California's new fair housing law.

The organization has two sections: the Northern California Real Estate Association, which is vigorously pursuing its drive to at least 500,000 signatures of registered voters to qualify the initiative on the November, 1964, ballot.

CREA President L.H. (Spike) Wilson of Fresno asserted that his group will "drive harder than ever" to repeal the Rumford Act. He regarded the CRFH as a "rump movement", consisting of dissidents "who place their political affiliations above their allegiance to a professional association of 40,000 members which voted overwhelmingly to qualify this initiative."

The CRFH considers itself as the "loyal opposition". "All Californians should have the right to participate in free elections on any subject as important as forced housing," Wilson said.

At a press conference at the Ambassador, the CRFH said it is concerned that an initiative sponsored by CREA would not only destroy healthy community relations but also be unconstitutional. It also said its members would resist proposals to levy a $10 assessment against all members of the CREA to finance the initiative.

The Rumford Act bars discrimination in 70 per cent of California's housing and became effective Sept. 20. Shortly afterwards the 40,000-member CREA announced it would fight the law and seek to obtain nearly 500,000 signatures to force a vote on a constitutional amendment, next November.

Hallmark charged that H. Jackson Pontius, secretary of CREA, "threatened us with a lawsuit if we used the term realtor in our organization."

He said Pontius told him the term was copyrighted, but Hallmark said his organization would continue to use the word despite the possibility of a lawsuit.

Urges Education

He said the assessment of CREA members would be a "gross misuse of funds," and suggested it could be better used to educate the public and realtors about the Rumford Act.

"California and the real estate industry in particular are on trial. We have been held up as a model. The whole nation is watching California. I shudder to think what will happen if the initiative carries."

Hallmark said "thousands" of California realtors are afraid to speak out against the powerful CREA and charged: "It is like southern governors trying to upset the Supreme Court's decisions (on segregation). This is a law. It is basic that people have the right to buy property."

Hallmark said he hopes the CREA will realize that national attention is focused on California and it will re-examine its position at a CREA meeting in January.

He and Arnold urged local realty boards to have their membership study the law.

"The value of this information for realtors is evidenced by the fact that when a State official debated with a CREA regional vice-president (Nov. 25) before the Palo Alto Real Estate Board, the members then voted 102-32 against the CREA initiative stand. Realtors for Fair Housing urges fellow realtors to get the facts," Arnold commented.

Arnold said full implementation of the law will give housing a wider market because all Californians, regardless of color or race, will be able to buy wherever they can qualify.

He said it is a myth that property values drop when a Negro family moves into a previously all-white neighborhood.

Ralph M. Lewis, president of the Building Contractors Assn. of California, and one of the principals in the new group, said the initiative "can only result in a vast but futile expenditure of effort and funds which will hurt race relations in California."

Blames 'Politicians'

Wilson blamed "certain politicians" for the "confusion" that has arisen about the position of the state's realtors on the Rumford Fair Housing Act.

He charged the unnamed politicians have sought "to wreck this petition program (to qualify the initiative for vote) by misrepresentation and threats of violence."

NAGOYA TEACHER APOLOGIZES FOR RACIAL BIAS AMONG JAPAN PEN PALS

(Special to the Pacific Citizen)

MINNEAPOLIS.—A seventh grade English teacher at Lincoln Jr. High School, who had her class respond to "pen pal" letters from Japan, was embarrassed to learn some of the Japanese pen pals did not want to write to Negroes.

"Japanese have peculiar feelings towards Negroes, Koreans and Jews as in your country," the teacher was informed in a letter from a Nagoya school teacher who now seeks advice on how to overcome this problem after urging his class to correspond with American students.

The Jewish Community Relations Council of Minnesota, through its executive director Samuel L. Scheiner, has brought the problem to the attention of the Japanese Embassy in Washington.

Not a Complaint

Writing to Ambassador Ryuzi Takeuchi, Scheiner said:

"I do hope you will understand that I am not complaining (the Nagoya teacher's) letter for I believe this letter has done much to awaken some of us to the fact that all is now well in our world with reference to brotherhood and educating our youngsters toward a proper appreciation of peoples of different colored skins, nationalities and religious beliefs."

"Foreign countries point the finger of accusation against the United States because of its racial and religious problems but it appears that other countries as well have developed prejudices and attitudes which need correcting by proper programs being developed to counteract such prejudices and misunderstandings which are as prevalent in other countries as they are in the United States."

"I am confident that the Japanese Government is as concerned about educating their future youth toward a better understanding of their world neighbors of all religions, colors and national origins as are the majority of Americans."

"Therefore, I felt duty-bound and obligated to write to Your Excellency and request your cooperation in seeing to it that some immediate program of education be instituted in your country toward people of different colored skins or religious beliefs."

"The virus of hate knows no boundaries or oceans. We have just witnessed in the past few weeks a terrible price a country pays for not trying to eliminate the virus of hate from its citizens."

Scheiner was confident that educational work in Japan would be started to improve race relations.

Fountain Valley names school for Issei pioneer

FOUNTAIN VALLEY. — Planning commissioners here last week approved a conditional use permit allowing the Fountain Valley School District to proceed with construction of Hisamatsu Tamura School at Santa Susanna St. and Warner Ave.

Tamura School was named for one of the area's pioneer settlers whose son, Stephen, is now judge in the Orange County Superior Court. Tamura came here in 1900 when the community was known as Talbert.

The school was dedicated in formal ceremonies Oct. 29.

Designed by the Los Angeles architectural firm of Carmichael & Kemp, the school features "cluster grouping," which provides both beauty and safety from fires and earthquakes, according to architect Richard Kemp.

Argo Construction Co. of Van Nuys will build the 770-student facility at an estimated cost of $728,000. The school is scheduled to be completed and ready for occupancy next May.

Judge Tamura, who was appointed to the bench by Gov. Brown in 1961, is the second son of the pioneer, who passed away 25 years ago. Noboru, the oldest brother, is still a resident of Fountain Valley, while a younger brother, Butch, is also a resident of Orange County.

JACL credit union insurance helps San Franciscans

(Special to the Pacific Citizen)

SAN FRANCISCO. — Insurance coverage on all savings and loans deposited and borrowed from the San Francisco JACL Credit Union has proven beneficial to several members.

One recent beneficiary was the Shigeo Tanaka family.

Tanaka and his wife each joined the $1,000 estate plan in 1952. In 1953, Mrs. Tanaka borrowed $150 and was paying off $10 each for her estate plan and the loan when three months later she died.

The credit union loan insurance paid off her two loans (unpaid balance of $900 on the state plan and $120 on the personal loan). Her husband received $2,000 cash because her share deposit was doubled by life savings insurance.

In the past 10 years, Tanaka completed in 1962 payments on his $1,000 estate plan, meanwhile earning dividends annually on his $1,000 deposit.

Last July, Tanaka suddenly passed away and his two surviving sons received a check for $2,000 (the $1,000 deposit on the estate plan and $1,000 life savings insurance).

Civil Rights Delay

WASHINGTON.—The high hopes of this past summer, especially following the inspired March in Washington last August 28, that meaningful and comprehensive civil rights legislation would be approved by the Congress before the end of the year, are now buried under the snows of winter.

It is now rather clear that not even the House of Representatives will act upon the bill reported by its Judiciary Committee until next session, which is scheduled to convene on January 3, 1964, unless by concurrent resolution both Houses postpone that official date.

When the late President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, there may have been some anxious questions as to whether his successor, Texan Lyndon B. Johnson, long identified with the Southerners and with conservative moderates, would give more than lip service to this crucial subject.

In his first message to the Congress, in a joint session on November 27, he quickly dispelled any doubts. He gave civil rights the top priority, whereas his predecessor had given it second place in his list of legislative imperatives.

"We have talked long enough in this country about equal rights," he declared. "We have talked for a hundred years or more. It is time now to write the next chapter, and to write it in the books of law."

And, among the first Americans with whom he conferred in the White House were the leaders of the various national Negro organizations that have been spearheading the drive for civil rights.

EDC-MDC proposal launching JACL civil rights fund ok'd

CCDC approves 'in principle'

FRESNO.—The Central California District Council adopted in principle the proposal made in September for the formation of a National JACL Civil Rights Fund.

All eight district councils have now agreed to the plan proposed by the Eastern and Midwest District Councils at a joint convention in Cleveland, according to Masao Satow, National JACL executive director.

At the Central California District Council's two-day convention this past weekend at the Hacienda Motel, this civil rights issue was thoroughly discussed.

Generally, agreement was voiced on the fund formation and its use for sending league representatives to national or regional civil rights meetings and also for contributing on a project-to-project basis to civil rights causes. These were two of the five-point program suggested by the Eastern and Midwest District Councils.

However, some opposition was voiced to proposals for participation in rallies, litigations and posting of bond or bail for JACL members held on civil rights charges.

The Eastern and Midwest District Councils will now be asked to prepare more detailed plans for a National JACL civil rights fund, Satow indicated.

Okura's Message

National President K. Patrick Okura told the CCDC delegates that the gap between the promise of full civil rights and its fulfillment is narrower today than ever before. "But that gap remains," he pointed out.

He said that to "many people" the gap seems even wider and deeper than before and the demand to close it is more urgent than in the past.

Okura conceded that this may be only psychological, because "the closer we come to achievement of our ideals, the more obvious and galling is the remaining disparity."

He described his participation with about 50 other JACL members in the massive March on Washington as one of the most moving and significant experiences in his life.

Okura said he took part because the day represented a call to action not just in behalf of Negroes but to all citizens.

"We spent billions of dollars trying to convince the uncommitted nations of the world that our way of life is better than anything else and then wipe out all the good effects by not even practicing 'our way' in our own nation," he said. "This problem needs more than just money. Basically it needs the conviction of every single American in every walk of life, in every corner of America. Without the personal concern of all Americans, the problem of civil rights is well nigh insolvable in our time."

The district reminded other districts and the national office that funds also are required for unfinished projects, such as the repeal of the Washington alien land law and miscegenation laws in some states.

First ethnic survey of California state employees rates Orientals in top category

SACRAMENTO.—Governor "Pat" Brown has called for a four-point program in educational and personnel practices to eliminate any vestiges of discrimination in state hiring this past week.

This program would include:
1—A thorough study of educational practices as they pertain to both state and private employment.

2—A study of employment occupations to find out whether minorities make an effort to obtain Civil Service jobs.

3—The development of new programs by the State Personnel Board of in-service training, education and information designed to encourage minority employees to seek promotions.

4—An audit of all department recruitment, placement and promotional activities by analysts of the personnel board.

Brown made his recommendations on the basis of the first ethnic survey ever made of 100,000 state employees.

He said the survey showed minorities are making "good progress" in getting state jobs.

But he added, it also showed "there is room for improvement in some areas of state employment."

Orientals on Top

The survey, which did not include either the Univ. of California or the state colleges, gave this breakdown of ethnic employment in state government:

Caucasians, 89,904; Negroes, 5,467; Orientals, 3,190; Mexican-Americans, 2,049; other "non-whites," 720.

Of these groups, the Orientals are earning the largest median salaries—$6,400 a year.

Other groups and their median earnings are: Caucasians, $5,800; "non whites," $5,600; Mexican-Americans, $5,300; and Negroes, $4,800.

Frank Mesple, the governor's cabinet secretary who made the survey, attributed the higher pay scales of Orientals as a group to the fact that they lean toward the better paying technical jobs such as accounting, engineering, drafting, chemistry and data processing.

He attributed the lower pay scales of the other minority groups to the fact that they are concentrated in the big cities, such as Los Angeles and San Francisco, whereas 75 per cent of the state's jobs are located elsewhere.

First Ethnic Survey

In his report to the governor, Mesple noted that no employees were questioned about their race.

Instead, the survey was based on personal knowledge of supervisors and identifying surnames.

State law prohibits the listing of employee's races or religion. Brown has turned the survey over to Winslow Christian, his Health and Welfare Agency administrator, for a detailed analysis.

When that has been completed, he reported, "We will go over it with each department head for the purpose of determining how best to insure equal opportunity in every branch of state service."

State Senate group told of Nisei stand on civil rights

LOS ANGELES. — Recently appointed PSWDC civil rights committee chairman Wilbur Sato, a Gardena attorney, told the State Senate Fact-Finding Committee on Race Relations here last week that "problems of the Japanese Americans are but a part of a large setting."

The committee, chaired by State Sen. Hom Dahl (D-Oakland), heard from Negro and Mexican American leaders during the two-day hearing.

After describing JACL as a national organization and its interest in civil rights, Sato noted that during the past decade, the Nisei has enjoyed "great progress" in public accommodations, housing, job opportunities and education.

"Although we enjoy greater equality today than ever before, there still remains areas of discrimination faced by persons of Japanese ancestry," Sato declared, in housing, employment opportunities in promotions in the management or supervisory fields, in apprenticeship programs, and in areas of public service, appointive boards, commissions and elective offices.

"We believe it is essential that persons be considered for appointment for public service on the basis of merit," he continued.

"We also urge an evaluation and analysis of the oral examination procedure as it relates to minority group personnel promotions."

1934 author on Nisei at Stanford U. dies

MENLO PARK.—Dr. Edward K. Strong, 79, Stanford University psychologist who conducted a two-year study of the California Nisei in the 1930s, died Dec. 4 after an extended illness. Results of this study was published in a book, "The Second Generation Japanese Problem", in 1934 by the Stanford University Press and Oxford University Press.

Director's Report

BY MASAO W. SATOW

JAPANESE HISTORY PROJECT

The meeting of the JACL Executive Board of the Japanese History Project in Los Angeles last month proved to be most fruitful and our conference with Chancellor Franklin D. Murphy of UCLA most reassuring.

To keep our members and contributors posted, we have arranged for at least one report monthly in the PC by Fred Taomae, who will consult with Project Director Scott Miyakawa for informative material. To keep the lines of communication and information straight, all Project matters relating to the Chapters will henceforth channel through Project Chapter Liaison Chairman Akiji Yoshimura and National Headquarters.

Latest instructions to the chapters is the request for listings of Issei in their communities and surrounding areas served by the chapter. While this Instruction No. 3 has been made verbally at several recent District Council gatherings, this is a call to step up efforts to return such listings to National Headquarters by the end of January. These listings are important and necessary for comparison with U.S. Census tract information to select the Issei respondents for the survey interviews in order to gather general material on the Issei background and experiences. Since the selection of the Issei to be interviewed will be by this proven research basis, all Issei will have an equal chance for selection as respondents, not necessarily the more prominent.

The JACL Supplemental Fund for the Project retained by National JACL above and beyond the $100,000 turned over to UCLA needs clarification again. This fund covers expenditures to date to get the Project going, including the general comprehensive outline for the entire project prepared by Dr. Miyakawa, fees to Dr. Miyakawa for his work prior to his joining the UCLA faculty, the preparation, printing, and mailing of the Project brochures, financial campaign expenses, and provides for costs of meetings of the JACL Executive Board already held as well as those which will be convened in the future.

The Supplemental fund also includes an item to commission an author to write the one volume popular history in easily readable form, to pay for the publication of volumes promised to the donors of $100 and more and those to be given to selected libraries, and the translation and printing of the volume in Japanese for the benefit of the Issei.

MOUNTAIN PLAINS

With the election of Lily Okura, wife of President Pat Okura, as Mountain Plains District Council Chairman, for the first time we will have on our National Board a man-wife combination.

Those who attended the Mountain-Plains meeting were impressed with the youth whose registrations were subsidized by the Mile Hi Chapter. As always with youth, their viewpoints were most refreshing, their questions most searching. They were perfectly at home with U.S. Senator Peter Dominick at the pre-banquet informal hour. The Senator who is rated by Time Magazine as one of the ten most promising freshman Senators, was so impressed with excerpts from Bill Marutani's letter to his son featured in an earlier issue of PC, that he asked for a copy to give to his own son.

The recognitions to outstanding Nisei in the area highlighted the presentation portion of the Convention banquet. The records of the recipients were most impressive. We wound up our sojourn in Denver with a look-see at the 89 lane Celebrity Sports Center, which will host our 1965 National JACL Bowling Tournament, meeting with the nucleus of the 1965 National Tournament Committee, and involuntary participation in the Rocky Mountain Nisei Bowling Tournament.

CENTRAL CAL

The CCDC Convention in Fresno claimed the best attendance ever, both for the business sessions as well as the mass installation of officers banquet headlined by Judge John Aiso. President Pat Okura had to abridge his stay and forego the banquet in order to make a mental health conference in Scottsbluff, Neb., the next morning. From the pre-convention press conference through the three business sessions current civil rights was thoroughly aired. A report by Frank Chuman in his capacity as Chairman of the Los Angeles County Commission on Human Relations was especially interesting and enlightening.

As is customary, each Chapter brought along a group of important guests to the banquet from their local communities. Sorely missed was friendly Mayor Arthur Selland of Fresno whose sudden untimely passing in an auto accident two days before the Convention added a note of sadness. Mayor Selland was a long time warm and personable friend of Japanese Americans and one of our staunchest champions.

MEMBERSHIP

To San Fernando Valley Chapter goes the distinction of turning in the first batch of 1964 memberships. Nice going, Membership Chairman John Kaneko! San Francisco Membership Chairman Eddie Moriguchi has apparently vowed that San Francisco will not relinquish its Ichiban position to San Jose. Current score: San Francisco, 1,018, San Jose, 1,008.

We have credited all current 1000 Club members to the respective Chapters even though their chapters have not remitted membership cards for them. This has boosted our membership total to 17,964, largest postwar total.

SUPPORT FOR FAIR HOUSING

SAN FRANCISCO. — One of the vital civil rights issues facing all Californians today is the attempt being made to repeal the Rumford Fair Housing Act.

The California Real Estate Association is presently initiating a petition called, "the initiative petition for a constitutional amendment to retain California property rights." It will try to collect approximately 500,000 signatures needed to put an initiative on the ballot in 1964.

I feel that the proposed nullification of California's new law against discrimination in housing can do serious harm to race relations by encouraging bigotry and hatred.

The Rumford Act passed by the 1963 Legislature established the right of anyone encountering apparent discrimination in the rental or sale of housing to appeal to the Fair Employment Practices Commission for assistance. Although this is only one section of the law, I believe it is the most significant. Since this act has been in effect only three months, it is obvious to me that it has not been given an opportunity to show whether it is workable or not. Therefore, I would like to urge all JACLERS in California, particularly the members of the NC-WN District Council of which I have been recently given the honor to serve as its chairman, to refrain from signing this petition. We need the Rumford Law if we are to give equal rights to all Americans.

Housing —

"Am I anti-Negro?" he asked the 265 persons attending. "By God, I am not. I am their champion."

Sell to Anyone

Wilson, said realtors stand firm behind their pledge to rent or sell to "anyone, anywhere and anytime." But, he said, realtors reserve the right for owners to decide who their buyers will be.

Wilson, repeatedly referring to the Rumford Act as "forced housing," said the issue simply is "shall you have the right to vote on the initiative—not integration or segregation, not forced housing

Visiting Puyallup Valley

TACOMA. — Driving through the streets of downtown Tacoma enroute to the Puyallup Valley Chapter installation, one becomes fully aware that the Christmas season is very much with us. The city light street decorations are both ornate and superb.

A stranger has to look hard to find which are the traffic lights, and warily seek out the one way street signs.

Tacomans claim to have the world's tallest Christmas tree too, right in the middle of the central business district. It is a distinction sometimes claimed by other Northwest communities, Seattle included, but it appears that Tacoma gets the honor in 1963.

The installation dinner was to be held in the Capri Room of the new Doric Motel on the heights of St. Helens Avenue. The daylight view very likely is something extra to write home about.

The latitude which individual JACL chapters enjoy in making up a slate officers is apparent in the Puyallup Valley cabinet structure. The three vice presidents are elected, one from each of the three principal community areas of the Puyallup Valley. To be installed last week were President Joe Kosai, and vicepres Hiroshi Fujita, Yosh Dogen, and Maynard Nomura from Tacoma, Fife and the Valley areas respectively. Treasurer is John Fujita; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Amy Shimoto; recording secretary, Dick Hayashi; 1000 Club chairman Dr. Vic Moriyasu, and board delegate Tom Takemura who was also toastmaster of the event.

Judge Aiso's Address

Speaking at the convention's concluding banquet Sunday, Superior Judge John F. Aiso of Los Angeles said that it is in criminal actions that fundamental rights cease to be abstract principles and become realities.

"Criminal justice in a democratic society is not simple, it is not cheap," he said.

"To balance properly the scales of justice when equally precious but competing social interests and values are at stake takes no less than an insight into man's true nature and worth, coupled with a subtle deftness of a master craftsman that can translate principles into practice."

"With less, our legal and social order becomes destructive and not promotive of the forward progress of mankind. In his day, Daniel Webster said, 'Justice is the great interest of man on earth, it should be no less to every citizen in the United States today.'"

Ted Wills, mayor pro-tem, extended greetings on behalf of Fresno. The Rev. Akira Hata of the Fresno Buddhist Church gave the invocation. Sierra VFW Post 8499 commander Shunkichi Ego led in the pledge of allegiance. Fred Hirasuna was toastmaster.

Kenji Osaki, accompanied by Janice Kumagai, entertained with a vocal solo.

Resolutions of sympathy to Mrs. John F. Kennedy and to Mrs. Arthur Selland were dispatched after moments of silent prayer were observed during the banquet.

The 1964 chapter presidents are: Joe Ono, Bakersfield; Tokuo Yamamoto, Clovis; Tom Watanabe, Delano; Ken Hirose, Fowler; Dr. Chester Oji, Fresno; Bob Okamura, Parlier; Henry Kuroki, Reedley; Hugo Ogawa, Sanger; George Tokuzawa, Selma; and George Sakaguchi, Tulare County.

Ben Nakamura presented the past president pins to the 1963 chapter officers of the district council: Bob Hirasuna, Clovis; Mas Takaki, Delano; Hideo Kikuta, Fowler; Hiroshi Kuroki, Fresno; James Kozaki, Parlier; Bill Yamada, Reedley; Kazuo Komoto, Sanger; Sus Komoto, Selma; Bill Yoshida, Tulare County; and Shiz Kimoto, Parlier Auxiliary.

The CREA president questioned the motives of the state administration in opposing the initiative. "Is Gov. Brown afraid of his own voters?" he asked. "Why should he fear their vote? Is it wrong to ask for a mandate from the people?"

Wilson said the CREA is against the Rumford Act because it is "class legislation favoring special groups while violating the rights of others."

Talk on Japan

Mayor Tollefson's talk was devoted entirely to a colorful and intimate description of his recent visit to Japan as a member of the Japanese-American Mayor's Conference. The Mayor was impressed by the frenzied pace at which the host nation is preparing for the 1964 Olympic games, and the impressive technological progress of modern Nippon. Several cities were visited by the 10 member mayor's party, and Mayor Tollefson claimed to be the only one who did not have his wife along.

The superb hospitality and enthusiastic greetings were described in detail, and at one point he described his impressions upon visiting a Japanese inn, being supplied kimono and receiving service in the regal manner.

Our interest in the story perked up a little more when he told how a hotel maid announced to the tall man in a short kimono, that it was time for his bath and led him down the hall to the typical "furoya" type facility. When they got to the end of the hall, the maid pointed to a door, said "There it is" and left, Mayor Tollefson said.

Everywhere immense crowds turned out to greet the majority group of 100, and at times he said, there must have been 10,000 policemen to line the route of the motorcade. Describing the street scene of the various sister cities that the mayors visited, he described how the streets were jammed with people riding bicycles; thousands more rode motor scooters, and those not on wheels were playing baseball in every available space, and outside of these three diversions it seemed that all the rest were busy taking pictures.

At the meeting it was disclosed that there was quite a close contest with Portland at the PNWDC convention over the Chapter of the Biennium award which went to Portland. Puyallup is a lively chapter with small margin for improvement.

Membershipwise, they'll have to halt the Reaper, and recruit the youngsters as they become of age, or else come up to Seattle and recruit some of the thousands of unaffiliated.

Personally, it is always a pleasure to spend an evening with the neighboring chapter to the south.

Masaoka—

That the Rules Committee enjoys such power in the House today is rather ironic, for it was granted this authority to break the "tyranny" of the Speaker more than half a century ago.

In 1910, the House revolted against the "dictatorship" of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, then Speaker of the House. Speaker Cannon doubled as the Chairman of the Rules Committee, as well as the chairman of the committee that decided the membership of all committees. The House members voted to remove the Speaker from the chairmanship of the Rules Committee, as well as from the committee on committees.

Then, as now, the Rules Committee retains the responsibility for clearing all bills reported by the standing legislative committees for House debate and vote, determining when and under what circumstances any controversial legislation will be considered. Thus, it has often been likened to a "traffic director" of House legislation.

But, Chairman Smith declares that his constituents did not vote for him to be just a "traffic cop", but rather to vote on the merits of legislation. Accordingly, under Chairman Smith, and many of his predecessors, the Rules Committee has held hearings on the substantive issues involved in any controversial measure, rather than merely listening to other House members attempt to justify the timing and the conditions for any debate on any bill. These pro-and-con hearings simply duplicate the work of the legislative committees.

Moreover, when a standing committee has reported a bill which the Chairman considered "not in the best interests of his constituents", he more often than not merely refused to hold committee meetings, thereby effectively piggybacking such legislation.

The Rules Committee is now often the Frankenstein monster created by the House membership that frustrates the will of its majority, for it has taken over the function of determining what bills, if any, the House itself may consider, and under what conditions, that is to say how much time may be allocated for a bill's consideration, whether amendments may be offered, etc.

While there are two parliamentary methods to take away a bill from the Rules Committee, the discharge petition and "Calendar Wednesday", both are so cumbersome and restricted that they are seldom resorted to, and then more often than not unsuccessfully.

Under certain conditions too, a majority of the members of the Committee may compel the chairman to call a meeting when he has refused to call a meeting for quite some time. Here again, however, this is seldom resorted to, and then more often than not unsuccessfully.

Under certain conditions too, a majority of the members of the Committee may compel the chairman to call a meeting when he has refused to call a meeting for quite some time. Here again, however, this is seldom resorted to because of congressional courtesy and possible repercussions and reprisals.

In a real sense, then, the Chairman of this Committee can become a "dictator", deciding what bills the House may consider and under what conditions, etc.

And the last time that a Chief Executive has intervened before President Johnson in endorsing the discharge petition route was Pres-

Makeup of Committee

Two of the 15 members of the House Rules Committee are from California, one Democrat (B.F. Sisk of Fresno) and one Republican (H. Allen Smith of Glendale). The full membership of this almost all-powerful committee, in order of seniority, are: (Democrats) Howard W. Smith of Virginia (chairman), William M. Colmer of Mississippi, Ray J. Madden of Indiana, James J. Delaney of New York, James W. Trimble of Arkansas, Homer Thornberry of Texas, Richard Bolling of Missouri, Thomas P. O'Neil of Massachusetts, Carl Elliott of Alabama, and B.F. Sisk of California, and (Republicans) Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, Katherine S. George of New York, H. Allen Smith of California, Elmer J. Hoffman of Illinois, and William H. Avery of Kansas.

This membership lineup reveals the importance of the five Republican members, especially on such matters as civil rights on which all Congressmen from the Deep South are united in opposition.

From the Frying Pan

Denver, Colo.

AGE OF THE ELECTRONIC MONSTERS — If humans ever teach electronic computers to translate from one language to another, Susumu Kuno is likely to have a large role in this feat. Kuno is a member of a Harvard University team that has been working with an IBM 7090 computer. Speaking before a conference of the American Federation of Information Processing Societies in Las Vegas recently, Kuno reported encouraging progress but warned that "some degree of human intervention will be necessary for many years to come in automatic language translation, information retrieval and command and control problems."

Kuno and his associates provided their computer with a vocabulary of 20,000 word forms and 3,000 rules of grammar. The machine was able to parse and interpret many sentences in plain English, but there are so many exceptions to rules that some sentences relatively simple to the human mind baffled the machine. Take the sentence "Time flies like an arrow."

"Time" of course is the subject, "flies" is the verb, and it is modified by the phrase, "like an arrow." The machine analyzed it perfectly in this manner. But the machine also came out with variations of parsing as though the sentence meant: 1—"Determine the speed of flies as quickly as you can." 2—"A species of fly, called the time flies, enjoys an arrow."

And imagine what the machine would do to a sentence like: "Fruit flies like bananas."

NAME-DROPPING — T. John Fujii, Toyko magazine editor, attended ceremonies on the founding of the new nation, Malaysia, at Kuala Lumpur a few weeks ago, then hurried off on a business trip to New York . . . Toge Fujihira has been touring the world with Chrysler's experimental turbine-drive automobile making movies of it delighting the natives in all manners of exotic settings . . . Pat Suzuki Shaw completed an engagement at the Savoy Fields Hotel in Houston, was booked at the Shoreham in Washington, D.C., and is scheduled at the Fairmont in San Francisco through Christmas. The delightful, informal photographs of President and Mrs. Kennedy relaxing at the beach, which appeared in a recent memorial issue of Life magazine, were taken by Pat's husband, Mark Shaw . . . Senator Peter H. Dominick, Colorado Republican, who spoke at the JACL Mountain-Plains District Council meeting in Denver late last month surprised many Nisei, first by accepting the invitation to speak, and second when he said he'd be proud to have a little Japanese blood in his veins. Dominick said he was of Scotch, Irish, French and a variety of other origins. After noting that the Japanese in the U.S. had a reputation for frugality, enterprise and many another desirable trait, he made his remark about the desirability of Japanese blood to round out his personal heritage . . .

BEHIND THE SCENES — Not long ago some Denver Nisei discovered an elementary textbook called "Reading With Phonics," used in the Denver public schools, contained the word "Jap." It was not employed in the derogatory manner that is offensive to many Nisei. The word appeared in an exercise on possessive forms—Jap, Jap's. The fact that the word was capitalized made it plain, however, that it was being used as a proper noun.

This situation was quietly called to the attention of school officials. They quickly agreed the appearance of the word was deplorable, confessed they had not seen it before, and promised to instruct teachers to look for other words to use as examples. And so an unfortunate situation was corrected without undue or embarrassing publicity.

KAWAKITA NOW MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

Neither U.S. nor Japan Able to Give Him a Passport

SEATTLE. — The scent of freedom that a Japanese American has been savoring after 16 years of federal imprisonment is turning into an illusion.

John P. Boyd, district director of immigration, said here last week (Dec. 4) that Tomoyasu Kawakita, 42, lost his U.S. citizenship in 1948, when he was convicted of treasonable brutality against U.S. servicemen in a Japanese prisoner-of-war camp in World War II. Kawakita was an interpreter at the camp.

That makes a man-without-a-country of Kawakita, who once enjoyed dual citizenship by virtue of his birth in this country of parents who were Japanese citizens.

It also shatters his hope of being released from McNeil Island Federal Penitentiary. He was scheduled for release on condition that he go immediately to Japan and never return to this country. Without a passport he can't leave. He can't get a U.S. passport, in view of Boyd's announcement.

This past week in Tokyo the Japanese Foreign Ministry said that Kawakita renounced his Japanese citizenship in 1946 and that Japanese passports may be issued only to Japanese citizens.

Upon his conviction Kawakita was sentenced to death. The sentence was commuted to life imprisonment 10 years ago by former President Eisenhower. Kawakita's conditional release was authorized by the late President Kennedy as one of his last official acts.

Noboru Takasugi, the Japanese consul-general here, said that at his request his government is studying Kawakita's unusual predicament very carefully.

and attitudes in Japan.

The pen pal letter campaigns have been promoted through the Youth Council for International Contact in Tokyo.

The seventh grade class at Lincoln Jr. High is comprised of 45 students, about 10 of whom who wrote were Negro and about the same number of the Jewish faith.

Fred P. Roessel, principal, in bringing this problem to light hopes "another situation like this would be prevented."

The Nagoya teacher Shozo Asai said he was surprised by the many letters he had received in reply for pen pals, but was "sorry" to find the school included Negroes.

Of the Japanese students' attitude, the teacher noted it was not the proper attitude and that "we are under an obligation to educate students not to have such a racialism."

"But at present it has not come into successful effect," he continued. He also apologized for the students.

The pen pal exchange is continuing, he added, but his students do not know their American friends may be Negro. "I will explain about it some day," he concluded. "Would you advise me if you have a good idea on the above subject?"

4 UCLA Nisei alumni contribute $1,000 as 'founders' to UNI-MAC campaign

LOS ANGELES.—The UCLA Memorial Activities Center fund drive among Japanese Americans got underway this week with four Founder Gifts (of $1,000 each), which will be acknowledged by having the donor's name inscribed on a plaque fronting the proposed center.

Shigeji Takeda, CPA, in Lodi, Calif., became Founder No. 1, followed by Robert Kawashima of the Miyako Sukiyaki in Pasadena, Seichi Nobe, prominent importer, and John Ty Saito of the Saito Realty Co.

Several more have signified their intentions to contribute before the drive concludes on Dec. 31. All gifts made by the end of the year will be duplicated by Regent Edward W. Pauley up to a million dollars.

UCLA, with a present enrollment of over a 1000 Nisei and Samsel student out of a total of over 21,000, is making her first request from her 120,000 alumni of which over 2,000 are Japanese Americans. The committee, headed by Drs. Tom and Robert Watanabe and John Ty Saito are hastily making preparations to send over a 1000 letters to alumni all over the United States.

Alumni seeking information are asked to call the following telephone numbers: Dr. Tom Watanabe, MA 4-5398, Dr. Robert Watanabe, GR 2-8362, John Ty Saito RE 1-2121, Akira Komai MA 9-2231, Hiro Hishiki MA 8-4686, Frances Kitagawa EX 8-1929, Marjorie Shinno MA 8-7273, Helen Mizuhara RE 2-2832, Ichiro Nakajima MA 8-7060.

Pledges may be paid in cash or distributed over 5 years for tax purposes.

DETROIT'S WINTER WONDERLAND

BY CATHY ISHIOKA

DETROIT—November in Michigan was surprisingly mild. Some enthusiasts were still fishing on the lakes, while the biggest hunting army in years took to fields and woods for pheasant and deer. The St. Lawrence Seaway, scheduled to close Nov. 30, remained open.

Thanksgiving was an almost balmy day, and a record crowd of 300,000 young-at-hearts lined Woodward Ave. for the 37th Santa parade of the J.L. Hudson Co. However, mild the day might have been and whatever date the calendar might have indicated, Detroiters knew that Thanksgiving Day would herald the arrival of winter. And so it did.

Today, just days later, the temperature skidded below freezing, snow fell, and the winter fun crowd hastened to inspect skis, skates, sleds and toboggans. Mothers, even more hurriedly, dug out boots, leggings and scarves.

The tempo of the city changes. The panorama of Detroit's Winter Wonderland begins to unfold. Christmas seems nearer. Children remind adults that Mrs. Santa Claus will be at the civic-sponsored Christmas Carnival at Cobb Hall from Dec. 6. Others prefer to be taken to the annual Christmas Exposition at Greenfield Village and Ford Museum any day between Dec. 7 and Jan. 5.

As winter bears in, dads will be transporting family and gear to one recreation area or another. Detroit has ten artificial ice rinks, which permit outdoor ice skating even on very mild days. Toboggan and sled runs are numerous. Interest in skiing seems to be rising as a family-type activity. Weekend skiers from the Detroit area can use facilities at nearby Pine Knob, Alpine Valley, Teepie Hill, or any one of dozens of slopes. Dryden Ski Resort is already open with 8-10 inches of snow (manufactured variety) on the ground. For the less active, there's another sport—ice fishing. Lake St. Clair will soon become a village of ice shanties.

Entertainment of the indoor variety is liberal, ranging from sports events at Olympia and Cobo Arena to stage shows at the newly refurbished Fisher Theater and musical presentations at Ford Auditorium and Masonic Temple.

The Four Seasons

The distinctiveness of our seasons is part of the beauty of Detroit.

Six months will bring many changes. The winter ice fishermen will give up their ice shanties for their summertime boating and swimming pleasures. Our ski areas will be your camp and picnic sites. It'll be baseball and golf instead of hockey and basketball. Summer theaters will flourish. The Detroit River—peaceful, almost contemplative today—will bustle again with ship traffic.

The city will be the same; her garb will be different. Go Detroit in '64!

Hospital visit

SAN FRANCISCO—San Francisco JACL Auxiliary members visited eight Issei residents of Laguna Honda hospital Nov. 24, bringing such items as sushi, mochi, gashi, Japanese magazines and cigarettes. The Auxiliary visits the Issei twice a year as one of its service projects.

Accompany the group were Peter Shimizu and Miss Ito Abe, faithful visitors to the hospital for many years. Auxiliary members making the visit were Velma Yemoto, Misa Sumida and Emi Yokogawa.

LOS ANGELES.—Annual visitation of Issei residents in various Southern rest homes is underway this week by members of the Fujinkai and Japanese Chamber of Commerce of Southern California.

A survey shows 14 are at Rancho Los Amigos, 20 at Olive View Sanitarium and 20 at three private homes for the aged.

Cincinnati Nisei GI

killed in 'copter crash

CINCINNATI.—Specialist Four Neil Y. Takahashi, 33, was one of three soldiers killed when an Army helicopter crashed and burned Dec. 2 in what apparently was an emergency landing on a Georgia highway, near Columbus.

The former Central California Nisei was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Takahashi, 1972 Horton St., both active JACLers here. He leaves three brothers, Airman Second Class Wesley, now with the Air Corps in Japan; Marvin, a member of the Naval Reserve, and Elmer, Cincinnati, recently discharged from the Marine Corps, and two sisters, Lois and Judy, both at home.

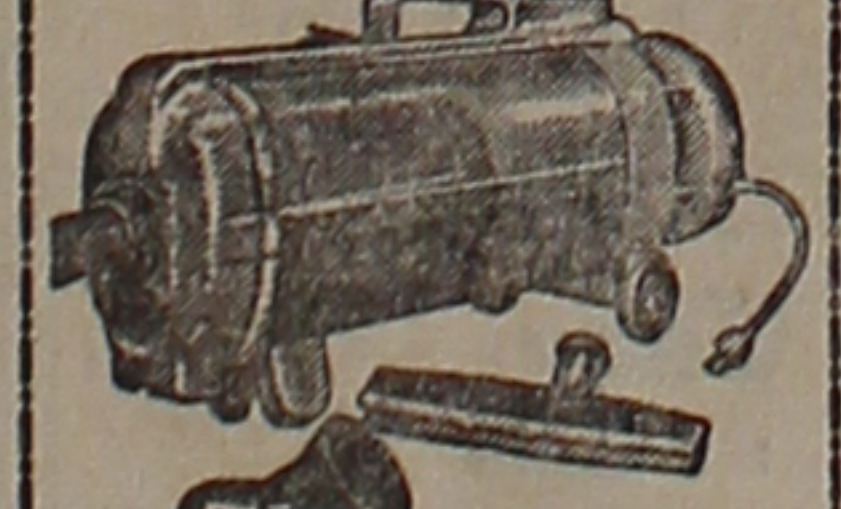

He entered the Army from the National Guard 15 years ago, served two years in Korea and has served also in Germany. He was to have returned home for a furlough at Christmas.

Shigeru Hirose: Imperial Valley JACLer, of heart attack, Nov. 24. Survived by wife, two children, his mother, Mrs. Ono Hirose of Los Angeles; two brothers, Henry of Granada, Colo., Sunao of Los Angeles; and sister, Mrs. Kiyo Matsuyama of Los Angeles.
