NC-WN District Youth Searching for Queen

SAN FRANCISCO. — Yoko Murakita, commercial art major at San Francisco City College and a dance student of Rokushige Fujima, was selected Miss San Francisco JACL.

The daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Nichinan Murakita will compete in the NC-WN Youth Council queen contest being scheduled at Hillel House at Berkeley, April 25.

Beverly Nakano of Sacramento, DYC queen chairman, and the U.C. Nisei Students Club are in charge of the coronation ball.

Candidates are also expected to be named by the Berkeley, Contra Costa, Monterey Peninsula, Sacramento and Sequoia Jr. JACL chapters.

Mary Kawahara, June Takeuchi and Peggy Sakita were candidates vying for Miss Sacramento Jr. JACL.

The bowling tournament for DYC and Cal Nisei Student Club members will be held April 25, 9 a.m., at the ASUC Bowling Alley in the Student Union. Tournament is open to DYC and NSC members only. Trophies will be awarded at the coronation ball.

Team rosters must be submitted to Nancie Nehira, 1127 Addison St., or Gary Utsumi, 1777 Euclid Ave., both of Berkeley, not later than April 11. The $1.80 fee will be due upon registration.

PSW Hi-Co Conference

LOS ANGELES.—As part of a television documentary on Japanese American youth to be aired in Japan, a business session of the PSWDC Hi-Co preparing for the forthcoming Apple Valley conference April 18-19 was videotaped last week by Eichi Kimura, chief Washington correspondent for Nippon Hoso Kyokai.

An impromptu hootenanny with Randy Senzaki and Ron Hirose, members of a folksinging quartet at L.A. State, is included. Meeting took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Izuno.

Kimura was delighted to see the Sansei generation advance to a position of exerting positive contributions to the United States by overcoming stereotypes that Americans have of the Japanese. The conference is designed to develop college consciousness by exposing youth to student leaders and college life. The 1964 theme is centered on Individualism and the Youth's Quest for Identity.

An pre-conference rally will be held at the Centenary Methodist Church, W. 35th and S. Normandie, tomorrow from 8 p.m. with Sukeo Yamagata, USC freshman, in charge.

JACL health plan enrollment reaches half-way mark

LOS ANGELES. — Enrollment in the PSWDC-JACL Group major medical health plan this week has reached the half-way mark, according to Paul Chinn, general agent, Capitol Life Insurance Co., the underwriters of the JACL health plan.

Brochures outlining the complete coverage of the JACL health plan will be available next week to members who are interested in joining the new group, Chinn added.

It was requested that company agents be called. (A list of currently authorized agents appears in the health plan advertisement in this week's issue.)

At the same time, Capitol Life announced the appointment of Tom Kadomoto, 5432 W. Glendale, Glendale, Ariz., as the agent in Arizona and Jimmy S. Gozawa for San Fernando Valley. Both are active in the community; Kadomoto is a past Arizona JACL president.

Moses Lake elects Eng to city council post

MOSES LAKE, Wash.—Local restaurateur Jack Eng unseated veteran councilman Fred Krueger, 1,120 to 427, in the Mar. 10 elections for Seat No. 4 in the city council here.

Eng is the first person of Chinese descent to take a council position here. He will be sworn into office April 6 and will serve a term of five years and nine months, due to a change in the state law. Councilmen normally are elected for four-year terms.

Two Nisei jurists unopposed on ballot

SAN JOSE. — Municipal Judge Wayne M. Kanemoto of the San Jose-Alviso District is unopposed in the June 2 elections. Appointed to the bench by Governor Brown in late 1961, the Nisei jurist will serve his first six-year term.

(Superior Court Judge John F. Aiso of Los Angeles is also unopposed in the June election.) (Municipal Judge Mamoru Sakuma of Sacramento is one of four candidates seeking the seat vacated by Judge Shreck of the Sacramento Superior Court.)

New Seattle mayor seeks solution to city's race problem

SEATTLE.—Mayor-elect J.D. Braman is giving high priority to seeking solutions for the city's race problems. He is assuming his office on April 6.

After his election Mar. 10 and before he left on a two-week vacation, Braman made efforts to communicate his feelings to Negro leaders and Caucasian supporters of human rights causes.

The new mayor's intentions seem to present a hope for positive action in race relations, which have been deteriorating since the defeat of the open housing ordinance at the polls.

In a letter to the city Human Rights Commission, Braman said he wanted to assure its members of his "deepest interest in a continued effort toward finding solutions to the whole problem of human rights as they exist in the City of Seattle."

Although antagonisms have built up between Braman and militant civil rights leaders, most of them agree that unemployment is the main problem in the Negro community and the real race issue in Seattle.

Braman had urged Kenneth Colman, chairman of the Citizens' Committee for Open Housing to keep his committee active and work "actively" toward equality for the Negro in the life of Seattle. Braman believes the most meaningful way to help is "to improve job opportunities and training" for them.

NIHONGO COURSE ON SEATTLE TV UNDERWAY

SEATTLE.—The Univ. of Washington is sponsoring a 20-lesson non-credit course on television (Ch. 9) on Monday and Wednesday evenings at 8:30 with Miss Tamako Niwa, assistant professor in the Far Eastern and Slavic Dept., as instructor.

Viewers are being taught enough Japanese so that visitors to Japan will be able to get around, ask directions, order food and answer questions, Miss Niwa explained.

MAUI DEMOCRAT SEEKS SEAT IN U.S. SENATE

State. Sen. Yoshinaga Served with 442nd; In Politics Since 1955

HONOLULU.—Sen. Nadoo Yoshinaga of Maui, the Democratic Party's most articulate maverick, announced last week he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination as U.S. senator this year. He said, "I am the best man for the office."

If he still feels that way at primary time, the 44-year-old attorney will probably have to buck Democratic Congressman Thomas P. Gill for the chance to oppose incumbent Republican Sen. Hiram L. Fong for the job.

(Sen. Inouye commented the candidacy of Nadoo Yoshinaga for the U.S. Senate as "very interesting" but wouldn't comment when asked whom he would support. "I don't get involved in the primaries," he told reporters at the airport upon his arrival home from Washington last week.)

Yoshinaga said: "Believing that I am the best man for the office, I wish to announce my candidacy for the U.S. Senate."

Platform & Aims

"In a little while I will announce my platform and aims. In the meantime, let me only say that they will be fully in line with the needs and wishes of the people of Hawaii."

"Also, I will announce at that time the names of my campaign team."

Yoshinaga was silent on his reasons for deciding to take on Gill for the nomination.

Yoshinaga's nine-year career as a Democratic territorial and state legislator has been punctuated by disputes with the leaders of his party.

In 1961, he "quit" the Democratic Party, charging House Democratic leaders with seeking personal advancement. The next year, however, he was hard at work for the Democratic slate that swept state and national offices.

First Elected in 1955

This year, he has attacked Governor Burns, also a Democrat, over what Yoshinaga feels is the Governor's failure to consult with the Senate on his appointments to State offices.

Yoshinaga has served as a Maui State legislator since 1955 and is considered one of the Valley Isle's most popular politicians.

He served in the Territorial House from 1955 to 1957 and since then has been a member of the territorial and state senates. Married and the father of five, he is a life-long resident of Maui.

He served with the 442nd Central Postal Directory during World War II and attended the Univ. of Hawaii and DePaul University College of Law.

Most of his legislative experience has been as a leader on labor legislation and in the field of government finances. He formerly was associated with Bouslog and Symonds, a law firm which represents the ILWU, but he severed that connection some years ago.

Gill to Enter

WASHINGTON.—Rep. Thomas P. Gill (D-Hawaii) expects to announce on April 30 his candidacy for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Hiram L. Fong (R-Hawaii), according to the Honolulu Advertiser.

The 41-year-old Democrat plans to make his announcement at a testimonial dinner honoring him in Honolulu on that date, the Advertiser learned.

Sacramento JACL elects Tom Sato president

SACRAMENTO.—The 1964 Sacramento JACL board, headed by Tom Sato, president, will be installed tomorrow at the Sacramento Inn. The program starts at 6:30 p.m. with a social hour followed by dinner.

Peter Knoles, dean of education relations at Sacramento City College, will be the guest speaker. Judge Mamoru Sakuma will emcee.

The Auxiliary board with Isako Fukuman as president and the Jr. JACL cabinet headed by Newell Noda will also be installed.

INTERMOUNTAIN ORATORS.—Univ. of Utah freshman Dave Ushio, of Mt. Olympus (center) will represent the Intermountain District in the National JACL oratorical finals in July at Detroit. At left is Jo Ellen Shiozawa of Pocatello, runner-up; and at right is Maureen Terashima of Salt Lake City, third place. Other contestants were Denis Ochi, Idaho Falls; and Linda Shironaka, Snake River. Judges were William Corbin, Idaho State University speech dept.; Ross Anderson, speech student, ISU; and Archie Service, Pocatello attorney.

CCDC on record to oppose initiative

FRESNO.—The Central California JACL District Council this past week went on record to oppose the realtor's constitutional amendment initiative and to uphold the Rumford Fair Housing Act.

At an emergency council meeting Mar. 25, the individual chapters pledged $10 each toward the campaign to help fulfill JACL's commitment to the California Fair Practices Committee, DC chairman Dr. Frank Nishio announced.

School Bond Placement

SACRAMENTO.—Hale Champion, director of finance, commenting on prospects that placement of the school bond issues on the November ballot would have a serious effect upon school construction, last week declared:

"The school children of California will not be hurt by a November placement of the bond issue."

There is no indication that any double sessions will result, he added.

Some legislators in Sacramento felt placement of school construction bond issues on the June ballot was necessary to meet the needs of a booming population in the state. It would also qualify the anti-Rumford Act initiative on the same ballot—a step firmly opposed by the Governor who wants the largest turnout possible to consider the measure, which would be in the general election November.

Champion pointed out: 1—The State Allocation Board, which decides on the distribution of bond funds, provided on March 24 for the approval of new construction applications at the rate of $9 million a month from April through October. This amount was predicated on funds remaining from the last bond issue, anticipated savings and other factors.

2—The board also provided for the actual apportionment of construction funds at the rate of $13 million per month from April through October. This also is predicated on existing and available funds.

It should be noted that the $13 million a month figure exceeds the actual average monthly apportionments in the last year and will be adequate in the period in question. All urgent needs will be met. Any and all emergencies will be covered.

The Allocation Board also established a priority system for approving applications to insure that the most pressing construction needs will be met first.

Advances in human relations described

(Special to the Pacific Citizen)

PHILADELPHIA. — A record crowd of 150 showed up at the Cinelli's Country House in Cherry Hill, N.J., for the Philadelphia JACL installation dinner-dance on March 14. Roy K. Kita was installed as the new chairman of the Board of Governors.

Taking their oath of office with Chairman Kita were the other members of the Board: John Hunter, George Oye, Herbert J. Horikawa, Hiroshi Ueyehara, Thomas Jacobs, Chizu Hada, sec.; Bunji Ikeda, treas.

The principal speaker for the evening was George Schermer, a consultant on human relations, and most recently executive director of the Philadelphia's Commission on Human Relations, a position he had held for ten years from 1953 to 1963. Among Schermer's clients have been the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in Housing; Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Foundation; United States Conference of Mayors; the Univ. of Wisconsin; City of St. Louis; City of Youngstown.

Schermer has had many experiences in human relations.

MAPA Observers

OAKLAND.—Molly Kitajima and Joe Morozumi were appointed chapter liaison with the local Mexican American Political Assn., to coordinate communication and general information of mutual concern.

The chapter is also considering the adoption of an orphan in Oakland's Sister City of Fukuoka, taking the cue from San Francisco JACL, which is helping a young boy in San Francisco's Sister City of Osaka.

Chapter president Tony Yokomura appointed Dr. Yukio Kawamura as chairman of the adoption project.

Selland Scholarship

FRESNO.—The Fresno JACL contributed $25 to the Arthur Selland Memorial Scholarship Fund, being established in memory of the popular Fresno mayor who was killed in an accident.

The mayor was a longtime friend of JACL here and of Dr. Thomas T. Yatabe, a JACL founder.

Education Fund

OMAHA.—The Omaha JACL is supporting the Omaha Police and Firemen's Education Fund at Omaha University by contributing $25. The fund is used by the city guardians to meet college expenses.

The chapter also voted to furnish Omaha and Nebraska universities with gift subscriptions to the Pacific Citizen.

200 Enjoy Hawaii Night

CINCINNATI.—The huge turnout of 200 at the "Night in Hawaii" program sponsored by the Hawaii Club and Cincinnati JACL on March 7 was indeed gratifying to Mrs. Sachi Kariya. Yoshi Oyakawa was emcee.

Tag Schuman's picturesque slides of Hawaii, surprise appearance of Don Siemer of United Artist TV and hula dances by Amelia King and little Jeri Anne Toki were highlighted by an Oriental buffet.

SEN. INOUE IN SENATE SPEECH FOR CIVIL RIGHTS

Discrimination Against Negroes 'Greatest Wrong Ever Perpetrated'

WASHINGTON. — Senator Dan Inouye appealed to his colleagues last week (Mar. 26) for correction of "the greatest wrong our nation has ever perpetrated" by passing a strong civil rights bill.

In a Senate floor speech, the Hawaii Democrat said "it is time for all Americans to be included in the American dream."

"This bill attempts to give by law what should have been—but has not been provided by practice—an even chance, a chance to go to school and vote and hold a job, simple things which the rest of us have enjoyed without a moment's thought," Sen. Inouye said.

Full Citizenship

"Some have said to me 'The Negroes have not earned full citizenship. They have not shown they will take the responsibility to be good citizens.'"

"I answer that it is hard enough to earn a living without education, without justice in the protection of the law, without self-respect or hope for improvement and with hate and repugnance their all too constant welcome."

"What effect would these surroundings have on any man? I do not know but I believe the Negro people have, on the whole, returned our two plus centuries of injustice with almost miraculous forgiveness and restraint."

"To change these living habits of so long a time does not come easy and we must do all within our power to see that the change is as little disruptive and as little painful as it can possibly be."

"This will require still more restraint on the part of those who have already waited so long."

"But change we must and this requires restraint on the part of those who must endure the change."

Not Directed at South

"This remark is not directed to the South, for what section of the country can say that it has held out its hand and heart to the Negroes in every area of human activity and in the way that must be done if they are ever to become truly members of the community."

"I feel, however, that this attitude is changing."

"Many factors lead me to believe so, from the inspirational march in Washington last summer to the new desire for tolerance on the part of all Americans since the death of our martyred President."

"Injustice is, after all, alien to our nature and its existence has exacted a price from the consciences of those who have allowed it to go on as well from those who have suffered under it."

Through May

HONOLULU.—Sen. Inouye, home for the Easter holidays, said he expects the debate on the civil rights bill just starting "will last through May, at least."

"We want the bill to pass just as it is written along with every comma and period. We don't have enough votes to pass it that way but I'm confident we can get them," he declared.

Dayton newsletter offers JACL story in Japanese

(Special to the Pacific Citizen)

DAYTON.—An excellent Japanese translation on JACL, its background, principles, accomplishments as a national organization and current program, was a special feature of the Dayton JACL chapter chairman Ken Sugawara reported that Maj. Ko Same-shima, a chapter member, prepared the translation.

The material was used in connection with the chapter's membership campaign and included a brief history of the Dayton JACL and its local program.

FUTURE STATUS OF PC (PART 3)

In raising some of the problems confronting the Pacific Citizen, we have tried to be "informative" about it. The details — such as how much was spent, how much was received, and other statistics associated with newspaper operation — were set aside in the previous columns on this subject. All of this, plus the 1965 budget, will be contained in reports going to the chapters this week.

However, (this being our final comment on PC finances as it affects the JACL membership) we must offer some figures here to see how the three alternatives mentioned last week look in dollars and cents.

Offer No. 1 — Retaining the 51-week schedule, provided the subscription rates are raised (25 cents a year for member, 50 cents for non-member and advertising income stays the same. Even if we used the 1962 circulation figures, 11,762 members and 600 non-members, at the increased rate and advertising netted the 1963 amount of some $27,000, PC could clear $3,000 in 1965.

Offer No. 2 — Reducing PC schedule to 45 weeks without changing subscription rates, provided advertising stays the same. This is a risky offer in that we're assuming no increase in circulation (which it should) and the advertising in 1965 meets or beats the 1963 amount (which is hard to predict) for a net profit of about $300. PC will take a $5,400 loss in subscription to be made up by $5,700 profit in advertising.

Offer No. 3 — Reducing schedule to 26 weeks if advertising drops below the present 30 pct. and subscription rates are unchanged. This would be the last stand since it involves PC giving up its tradition of being the only Nisei paper to meet the JACL budget by $2,400 each year. The loss weekly newspaper with national circulation as well as help in advertising revenue would be about one-third of the 1963 total. Some savings can be had, if PC were to continue to help the JACL budget, by publishing some four-page editions though this offer calls for six-page editions semi-monthly.

Perhaps, a part from each of the three offers may be pieced together to provide a satisfactory solution.

OFFER NO. 4

A different slant to PC finances from Berry Suzukida of Chicago, we would like to term as Offer No. 4. He doesn't want the PC to curtail its schedule at all because it is "the only national publication devoted entirely to dissemination of news about Japanese Americans and any curtailment of such services would not be in our best interest... As an instrument of public relations alone, the PC is worth every bit it costs to publish."

Suzukida suggests JACL chapters consider "sponsoring" an occasional edition of the PC by donating, say a $100. In return, the chapter would receive a half page or so for its news or its monthly newsletter, published in the PC. "While this sum of $100 may be somewhat more than what it would cost a chapter to distribute its newsletter for the month, the chapter would be helping PC maintain its self-sustaining posture," Suzukida feels.

Any other offers?

JACL Health Plan: a Gimmick?

(Following editorial appeared in the Hollywood JACL Round-Up in its March issue. The information should assist JACLers in the Pacific Southwest District Council without any hospitalization insurance to determine whether it would be of assistance. Further information can be secured by calling agents listed in the advertising appearing in the Mar. 27 PC.—Editor.)

Recently the JACL Pacific Southwest District Council endorsed a group health insurance plan. Enrollment in the plan is being held in conjunction with the 1964 JACL Membership Drive. That's the basic facts, but many of you may be wondering about the "gimmick" behind the whole thing.

From the viewpoint of the District Council it would appear that the endorsement of the plan is a way of obtaining and maintaining JACL memberships because only JACL members can enroll themselves and their families in the plan. Furthermore, participation in the plan from year to year is dependent upon such membership. (It should be emphasized that the plan is only for JACL members within the Pacific Southwest District, since some other districts have their own plans and the National JACL has not yet adopted a plan for the entire national membership.)

From the viewpoint of Capitol Life Insurance Co., whose Home Office is in Denver, Colorado, it would appear that in business-like fashion they wish to increase their business. Furthermore, they are willing to risk an exceptionally low priced premium charge because they probably feel that the risk involved will be balanced by the honest and legitimate claims that are generally filed by Americans of Japanese heritage.

That, in a nutshell, is the gimmick. Otherwise, the plan compares very favorably with other group health insurance plans now available. Whether or not one wishes to participate is an individual decision; however, it seems that the plan will only become effective when the state insurance regulations are met, namely, over 50 percent participation by those eligible. Fortunately, for those who can benefit from this low-priced family health plan, those already covered under another group health insurance plan may participate in this plan, but they wouldn't be included in the figures submitted to the California state insurance department.

In short, the features of the JACL health insurance plan are: comprehensive major medical, $50 deductible, 80 percent coverage of the excess over $50, non-cancellable, guaranteed renewable, $5,000 maximum on each claim, quarterly premiums, age limit of 70. Figure monthly, the premiums range from $5 to $13.50 per month per family, depending upon the number and sex of the persons being covered.

CINCINNATI. — Lefty Kamikawa, now a resident at Rockwood, Tenn., for the past two years has been the first paid-up member of the chapter since 1963, according to Mrs. Mitsui Kato, membership chairman.

Impossible Blood Test

ST. LOUIS. — Shock, disbelief and anger were expressed over the recent report that Dr. Masashi Kawasaki, cancer research physician at Washington University, is on the verge of being kicked out of the United States. (See Mar. 20 PC.)

The St. Louis JACL expressed the hope a speedy and happy solution to the problem would be effected. Dr. Kawasaki, an active JACLer, served on the chapter board last year.

The St. Louis Post Dispatch expressed the chapter's sentiments in its Mar. 9 editorial, entitled: The Impossible Blood Test.

In his work on throat cancer at Washington University, Dr. Masashi Kawasaki has proved an exceptionally useful resident, and St. Louis must wish success for Representative Curtis's bill to allow Dr. Kawasaki to remain here and eventually to apply for citizenship. Even the Curtis bill, however, cannot rectify the injustice that created Dr. Kawasaki's problem.

The otolaryngologist was born in Canada and is a Canadian citizen. Most Canadians have no great trouble becoming American citizens, if they wish, but Dr. Kawasaki is different. The United States Immigration Act regards him, not as a Canadian, but as an Oriental. The law poses a remarkable and synthetic blood test—if a person has more than 50 percent Oriental blood, it says, he or she is an Oriental, regardless of citizenship. And the immigration quotas for Orientals are so small that Dr. Kawasaki chose to come to this country under an exchange program rather than to wait and wait for entry as an immigrant. He now faces possible expulsion.

A bill permitting Dr. Kawasaki's legal residence will give him the kind of racist stain implicit in the Immigration Act. An amendment to the act allowing residence for useful scientists would not do so either, however helpful it might also be. Racist theory was deliberately written into the immigration law and the only way to expunge it is to rewrite the law. As the law stands it is an insult to most of the people of the world.

(The same editorial was substantially quoted by the Honolulu Advertiser in its lead editorial appearing Mar. 16 with the heading of "Case of Dr. Kawasaki". The Advertiser regarded the case as "one of the strongest arguments for a new immigration law of the sort backed by Hawaii's Sen. Hiram L. Fong". It raised the question: How much longer are the people of the United States going to permit a law like this to remain in force?)

periences with people of Japanese ancestry in his work. Previous to his Philadelphia position, he was executive director of the Mayor's Interracial Committee of the City of Detroit and also worked with the housing authorities of the City of Detroit and the City of Chicago.

He recalled the early war days in Detroit when discussions occurred in the Housing Authority group as to whether Japanese should be considered as colored or white for placement into public housing.

Schermer recalled that the Detroit JACL was very kind and still cherishes an appreciation gift which they presented to him when he left Detroit in 1953.

During his speech, Schermer related the many advances in human relations which have occurred during the last 20 years. He also stated that after the demonstrations, sit-ins, marches of today, the future will find a change in the public image and the attitudes of the Negroes. He expressed interest in the fact that companies and industries are now becoming aware of necessary action in the area of human relations. He stated that he has been getting industrial firms as clients.

William Marutani, National JACL 3rd v.p., expressed the need for the JACL to work on civil rights and not to shy away. He also stated that the JACL must continue to be active and not die.

Posthumous Award

The presentation of the past president's pin reminded JACLers of the sad event of the past year when Toshio Kaname passed away during his term. George Oyeda presented a plaque, which had engraved on it appropriate words and the past president's pin attached, to Mr. and Mrs. T. K.

name, Tosh's father and mother. Each year, for the last several installations, Dr. Stanley Nagahashi has been in charge of the musical selections for the event. This year, he again, engaged a very talented artist, Yumi Nino-miya, a student from Japan who is studying at a nearby music academy, presented a violin solo. She played three numbers and on each, had the audience spellbound. Accompanying Miss Nino-miya was Kyong Sook Lee, another music student. Miss Lee was equally talented and provoked later comments from some of the audience that she should have played a separate solo.

Jack Hunter handled the toastmaster's duties very well and ran into very little difficulty with the Japanese names. He earned the right to be called Mr. Huntamoto. Kaz Horita, EDC Chairman, installed the officers. Louise Maehara, past secretary, read the JACL Creed. Dr. Nagahashi sang the JACL Hymn. Garry Oyeda led the audience in singing America, the Beautiful, Dr. and Mrs. Nagahashi were co-chairmen for the dance with Jimmy Ray and his orchestra supplying the music.

The committee working on this year's installation were: J. Hunter, H. Horikawa, Roy Kita, G. Oyeda, Marie Mizutani, James Hirokawa and Kaz Horita.

Senate Civil Rights Debate

WASHINGTON.—This past Monday (March 30), the formal Senate debate on the House-approved civil rights bill began.

Senators Hubert Humphrey and Thomas Kuchel, of Minnesota and California, Majority and Minority Whips of their respective parties and also floor managers for this legislation, opened the official consideration of the 11-point package measure with detailed analyses and summary arguments for the early enactment of the most meaningful and comprehensive civil rights bill ever to be considered by the Congress.

By the time this legislation comes to a final vote, a month or more is expected to pass, with the South engaging in a last-ditch dilatory filibuster which they describe as "educational debate."

Two Votes in Senate

After more than two and a half weeks, most of which was spent by the Dixiecrat opposition in explaining its objections to the measure, on Thursday, March 26, the Senate voted on two procedural matters that upheld the requests of the bill's floor managers.

The Senate first voted 67 to 17 to call up the bill and to make it the pending business of the Senate, and then voted 50 to 34 against a motion to send the measure to the Judiciary Committee for ten days of hearings.

Neither of these two votes should be taken as an indication of the final vote on civil rights, however.

Though the 67 who voted to take up the bill could comprise the two-thirds majority necessary to invoke cloture to shut off a filibuster and to force a vote, a substantial number of them are not committed to the House bill, or even to effective civil rights as such. They voted simply to make the House-passed bill the business of the Senate. They did not vote on the merits of the legislation.

The 17 who voted against the motion, plus Arkansas Democrat William Fulbright and Texas Republican John Towers, both of whom were absent but who announced their objection to the motion, probably represent the hard-core opposition, for all are from the "Deep South" and are dedicated to the defeat or emasculatation of the civil rights bill.

The second vote was not as close as anticipated. It defeated a move by Democratic Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon to send the legislation to the Judiciary Committee for ten days of hearings. On this vote, 34 Democrats and 16 Republicans joined in tabling the motion.

Morse Motion

Had the Morse motion, won, after the Judiciary Committee reported back the bill ten days later, procedurally it would be in exactly the same parliamentary position as when Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana first triggered the Southern talkathon on February 26 by moving to take up the civil rights package and making it the business of the Senate.

But because it represented the normal "orderly procedures" of the Senate, a number of civil rights advocates either voted for the Morse motion or announced that they would have had they been present. Its author, Senator Morse, is one of the traditional leaders in the civil rights fight.

For the Morse motion were such Senators as Democrats Howard Cannon of Nevada, Ernest Gruening of Alaska, Carl Hayden of Arizona, and Frank Lausche of Ohio, and such Republicans as John Cooper and Thurston Morton of Kentucky, Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Peter Dominick of Colorado, Barry Goldwater of Arizona, and Edwin Mechem of New Mexico.

After the two votes were taken, Democratic Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, acknowledged leader of the Southern bloc, served notice of the long fight ahead.

"Unfortunately we have lost a skirmish and a battle. We shall now begin to fight the war... we will renew the contest next week in the good fight for constitutional government."

Both Sides Well Organized

For the first time in any civil rights debate, the proponents are as well organized as the opponents. But, as stressed before, the mathematics of a filibuster favor the determined minority. Only one or two of them need be present or on immediate call at all times.

while 51 of the proponents, a quorum, must always be ready to answer roll call to prevent adjournment. A recess overnight, or over a weekend or holiday, retains the bill in the same parliamentary status as when the recess was ordered, while an adjournment means that another legislative day begins when the Senate reconvenes, and a new filibuster may be launched from a parliamentary scratch.

What transpired before adjournment does not matter in terms of the numbers of time a Senator has spoken, etc.

JACL Calls on Senators

JACL is calling on every United States Senator from every State in which there are JACL members, to remain near his offices at all times in order to answer any quorum call that may be ordered and thus frustrate the hope of the opposition that a compromise may be worked out watering down a meaningful section or more of the bill.

It would be helpful if individual JACL Chapters and members also wrote their respective Senators, urging them not only to be available at all times for quorum calls but also to vote against any amendment to "water down" or "weaken" the civil rights bill.

Pamphlet Offered

Last week, the Washington JACL Office sent to every Chapter President or Board Chairman, as well as to all National Board and staff members, an excellent 24-page printed pamphlet providing "Some by the National Leadership Committee," which was prepared questions and answers on the civil rights bill, of which JACL is an active and charter member.

The pamphlet not only explains specifically the details in every title of the bill but also the reasons for each particular section and the answers to some of the questions asked concerning each proposal.

Members should ask their respective local Chapter President or Board Chairman to see the pamphlet, or write to National JACL Headquarters for a copy. One will be sent as long as the supply lasts.

Teenagers to Mix at Vet's Reunion

SEATTLE.—One of the most encouraging signs which indicate a highly successful Nisei Vets reunion for five days starting July 31 comes from the enthusiastic way the teenagers here are planning a complete program for visitors in their own age group.

The hundreds of reservations, a big majority of them from families, caused the host group to plan seriously for family and teenage entertainment. Potential factor in the program is that some 80 high school youngsters have organized under the wings of the NVC and the Auxiliary to host a series of special events for visitors in their own age group.

The youngsters are promoting their own finances for a budget which closely approaches the three figure classification. Like good parents, the NVC and WAC kicked off the fund raising activities with a couple of token donations.

Last weekend at three stations, the young folks washed 200 cars. This activity followed a skating party and other endeavors. In the meantime they are meeting evenings to manufacture "local color" souvenirs for the visitors.

Some events, such as the outing and salmon barbecue, are by their nature family affairs, but throughout the entire reunion period, the young folks will never feel neglected in the festivities. Hospitality planning centers around three groups in a convention of this kind—the vets themselves, the women's auxiliary and the young folks, and the latter group is important because as we remember it from this corner, the returned vets were busy on family planning during '46, '47 and '48 and thereafter.

10 Years Since V-E Day

As these reunions are held about once every five years, this is the first for which we can say there is a sizeable group in the socially conscious teen-age category.

So what are some of the things they are going to do? The young ladies and gentlemen will be at the airport to meet the incoming planes, and one informant tells us that they will be in identifying uniforms. The first night is labeled hospitality and get-acquainted—there will be a hootenanny and social (is there a difference?). A formal teen-age dinner and special movie is planned. Somewhere a puppet show comes in on the activities. Somehow it is a little difficult to coordinate our bloodshot eyes on the place and time of all activities, but a teenage dance is scheduled for the Olympic Bowl Ballroom of the Olympic Hotel with a hot teen-age orchestra and we surmise that this even will go on while the old folks are having their big ball in the grand ballroom. For those who do not care much about the dancing, there will be a splash party at a close-by downtown pool.

Tuesday, the 5th night a Chinatown chow event is planned for the teen-agers, followed by a final "Sayonara" social at the NVC hall.

During Seafair Week

All these events happen during Seafair Week, Seattle's annual maritime extravaganza of pageantry and high jinks. While our Vet visitors are landing at the airport, Seafair pirates, following their own program will be establishing a beachhead somewhere on the Seattle waterfront, to take over the city till Sunday, August 9, the day of the finals for the Seafair unlimited hydroplane speedboat event. Seafair itself provides many day after day events, including parades of Tournament of Roses calibre.

The most popular complaint of the 1962 JACL convention was, "How can we attend the convention, Seafair, and the World's Fair all at the same time?" Well, the only answer is come early and stay late, and pay later if your credit is good. We were going to end this piece here, but must add a postscript to the effect that there will be opportunities to visit Mt. Rainier, the Northwest's Fujiyama, and sporty salmon fishing at Westport where at last there is a Nisei-owned charter boat which is sweeping the field on limited catches.

From the Frying Pan

By Bill Hosokawa

Denver, Colo.

NISEI IN THE YANKEE CAMP — Probably the most traveled Nisei, and this column's most faithful correspondent, is Toge Fujihira, the New York cinematographer. A one-time sports editor of his school paper at Roosevelt High in Seattle, Fujihira was in his glory a few weeks ago when he was sent to Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Who's at Fort Lauderdale? The New York Yankees, of course, going through the rites of spring in preparation for yet another American League title defense. His assignment was to film the Yankees at work and play and Fujihira, no sophisticate, admits he lived every American boy's dream as he rubbed shoulders with the Yankee greats.

(That snicker you heard was from supporters of the Los Angeles Dodgers asking what's so great about the Yankees.)

At any rate, Fujihira wrote primarily to report he had run into Fibber Hiramama, the Fresno Nisei who has become something of a legend in Japanese professional baseball circles. Hiramama, Fujihira says, has played with the Hiroshima Carp for nine years. This is his third season as player-coach, and he was sent by his management to observe the Yankees during spring training to learn something about the Yankee system.

Hiramama, Fujihira writes, has had many conferences with Yogi Berra, demonstrations of infield play by Boyer, Kuebel, Richardson and Pepitone, the inside dope from Frank Crosetti and Joe DiMaggio and a host of other big names.

Hiramama told Fujihira that he hoped to play at least 16 games this year to reach the 1,000 mark. No foreigner has played that many in Japan. Hiramama likes Japan, but hopes to return to the States and coach high school baseball when his professional days are over.

End of report.

Fujihira didn't say where he's headed for next, but it could be almost anywhere in the world. There are few places he hasn't been; matter of fact, sometimes when he's headed somewhere he runs into himself coming back.

SMALL PERSONAL NOTE — The bank, which owns more of my home than I do, notified me this month that payments I make toward reducing the principal now exceed the amount I pay toward interest. This is a major fiscal triumph. It's all downhill after this. In another 15 years or so just about the time I'll be eligible to collect Social Security, the mortgage will be paid up.

Nice bit of timing.

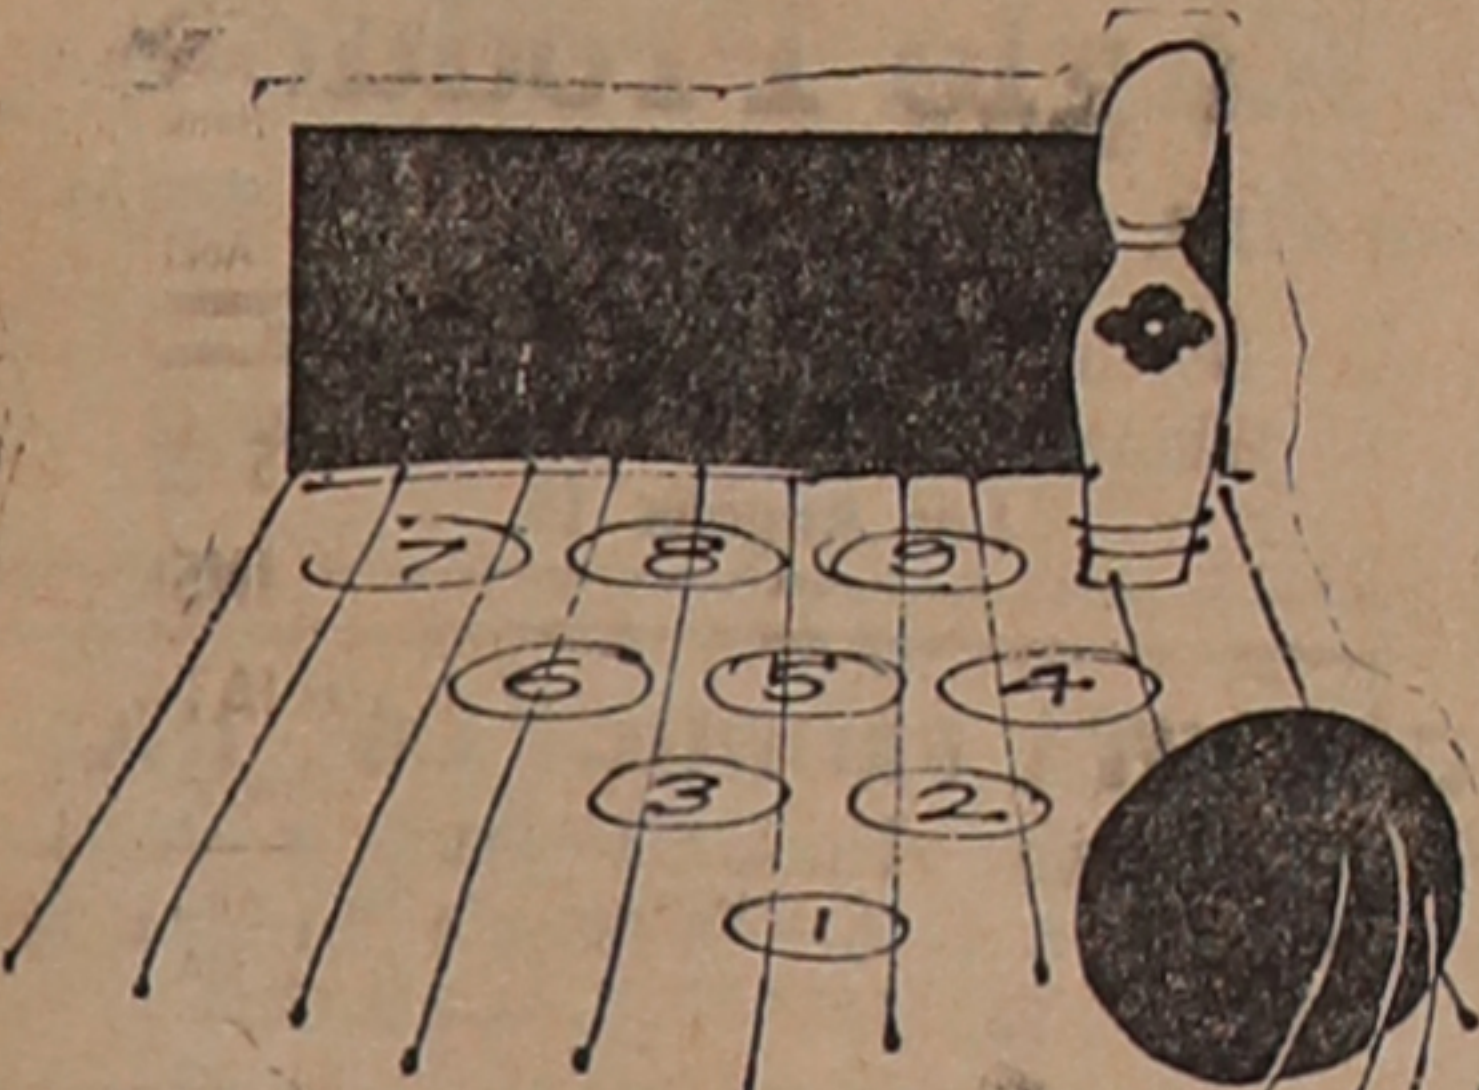

HISTORICAL REMINDER — I never thought it would come to pass, but I talked to a group of Sansei not long ago about the Great Evacuation. Most of them didn't know the first thing about the social, political and economic pressures that brought it about, or about what life was like behind barbed wire, or the War Relocation Authority's role in the fact that they are residents of Denver rather than Los Angeles or Seattle.

They listened quietly, with serious faces, as well-behaved children should. But it was hard to tell whether I was getting through to them, whether they had any idea what I was talking about. The Evacuation was, of course, completely alien to their experience. They had been told in school about democracy and the Bill of Rights and the privileges as well as responsibilities of citizenship. But no one had told them about the ghastly error of the Evacuation order, and somehow, what I said must have sounded unbelievable.

Well, it's true that all that seems like some distant nightmare now, and some would just as soon forget. Of course there's no need to let the experience prey on our minds. But it must be remembered so we won't make the same mistake twice. That's what I tried to tell the children, but I'm afraid they didn't understand.

May expand U.S. - Japan health survey

HONOLULU. — The American-Japanese health survey now underway in Hawaii, California and Japan may be expanded, according to Dr. Richard K.C. Lee, director of public health and medical activities at the Univ. of Hawaii, local project director.

The survey was undertaken last year to determine whether changes in environment, occupation, diet and habits affect the health of men and women of Japanese descent.

Tokoku University, Sendai, is conducting the survey's Japan phase, which is now two years old. The Hawaii study currently involves about 2,000 on Oahu and Hawaii and is expected to run at least three more years. Survey participants are selected at random by the Census Bureau and then interviewed by members of the U.H. public health department staff.

Results of the local interviews will be compared with those in Japan and California to help determine if and why disease risks shift with changes in living conditions and customs, Dr. Lee said.

Japanese architect, Nisei to help design JFK library

BOSTON.—Kenzo Tange, one of Japan's leading architects, has been named to the Advisory Committee which will develop the general architectural program for the John F. Kennedy Library to be erected here.

Committee members were announced Mar. 4 by Mrs. Kennedy at Washington, comprised of eight Americans and six foreign architects. Also selected to the committee as interior designers was Dr. Hideo Sasaki of Watertown, Mass., chairman of Harvard's department of landscape architecture.

Results of the local interviews will be compared with those in Japan and California to help determine if and why disease risks shift with changes in living conditions and customs, Dr. Lee said.

Seattle JACL sponsors handicap bowling meet

SEATTLE. — The Seattle JACL handicap bowling tournament at Imperial Lanes this past weekend was reported a success, though more participation would have been welcome.

The JACL gratefully acknowledges help from co-chairman Tom Namba and Massie Kobayashi and their committee and the cooperation of those of Imperial Lanes, president Terrance Toda said, in running a smooth tournament which was enjoyed by those taking part.

Jackson Street Service won the men's team title with 3160, with Terry's Auto Service runner-up. Members of the team were Mits Tokunaga, Ken Sugahara, Hank Osawa, Gene Lam and Hiro Suzuki.

Noji Greenhouse, composed of women bowlers of the Sunday Mikado League, won for the women with 2948. Takano Studio was runner-up with 2898. The winners had Sally Yamada, Helen Ohashi, May Yoshinaka, Margaret Yamaguchi and Fumi Noji.

Corley Yip's 664 won the men's singles and Tad Katayama and Ron Yuen of Vancouver, runner up with 657. Kazie Sasaki and Lil Kiuchi shared the women's singles title with 623.

Sadie Ogohara 555-Yosh Tsue 582 with 179 handicap had a 1316 to run away with the mixed doubles crown.

The two-day tourney was concluded with an awards dance at Carpenters' Hall.

Nisei cuts LP record

LOS ANGELES.—Drummer Paul Togawa's trio is featured on a new Musifone LP "Japanese and American Favorites", which includes six melodic Japanese tunes and six American and Latin pieces. The number titled "Tragedy 1963" was inspired by President Kennedy's untimely death.

Japanese prints

SAN FRANCISCO.—An exhibition of original prints by Japanese children opens today at the International Child Art Center on the mezzanine of H. Liebes at Grant and Geary. After its local showing ending April 30, the collection of 35 prints will be circulated throughout U.S. and Canada. Prints were done under direction of a student of Isaku Nakagawa, well-known print maker and now guest professor at the Schaeffer School of Design here.

San Jose JACL wins

BERKELEY. — The San Jose JACL cagers, led by the 13 points tallied by Allan Taira and Dennis Yoshida, edged the Oakland JACL, 55-46 to capture the championship of the 7th annual Berkeley JACL. The sportsmanship trophy went to Mar. 20-22 at Garfield High.

The Oakland quintets had to settle for second place as the San Joseans proved too much for the rest of the field consisting of teams from Contra Costa, Sacramento, Stockton, San Mateo and San Francisco.

Last year's champions the host Berkeley five came in third place with a 58-53 victory over San Francisco JACL.

Wynn Tamura of the winning team shot in 18 field goals and the sportsmanship trophy went one free throw for 37 points.

Voted the five outstanding players of the tournament and named to the all-star team were: Wynn Tamura, Berkeley; Richard Takei, Oakland; Dennis Taku, San Jose; Roger Kariya, San Mateo; and Warren Fujimoto, San Francisco.

Tournament summaries:
First Round: Berkeley 69, San Mateo 64; San Jose 64, Contra Costa 31; San Francisco 48, Stockton 30; Oakland 56, Sacramento 41.

Semi-Finals: Oakland 61, San Francisco 40; San Jose 52, Berkeley 42.
Championship: San Jose 55, Oakland 46.

Consolation: Sacramento 49, Stockton 34; San Mateo 69, Contra Costa 35; (winners) San Mateo 47, Sacramento 36. Third Place: Berkeley 58, San Francisco 53.

FOR Tournament

WILMINGTON. — The Nisei Trading Lords dominated the sixth annual FOR basketball tournament this past weekend at Harbor Jr. College, battling down the Sacramento Counts 78-49 in the finale. The So. Calif. "AA" Nisei champions were paced by Tetsu Tanimoto, awarded the "most inspirational" trophy of the tournament, Kaz Shinz

NAT'L JACL SCHOLARSHIPS

Since a number of inquiries have already been received regarding JACL National Scholarships, this is to advise that the 1964 National JACL Scholarship program will be announced the latter part of April through publicity in the vernacular newspapers and memos to the Chapters.

HOUSING INITIATIVE

All our California Chapters are now on record in support of the campaign to defeat the housing initiative and have backed up their support financially to the California Committee on Fair Practices, which is coordinating the efforts to uphold fair housing. Chapters will be receiving information and instructions direct from the Fair Practices Committee.

MEMBERSHIPS

End of March check on membership shows we are slightly ahead of last year at this time with 13,056 reported. San Jose has "ichiban" honors with an all-time high of 1,049. Other Chapters which have done mightily well with all-time high are Mid-Columbia, Mount Olympus, Portland, Puyallup Valley, Salinas and Watsonville.

Chapters which have done better than last year are Arizona, Arkansas Valley, Cortez, Delano, Imperial Valley, Oakland, Philadelphia, and Sacramento. Fremont, San Benito, and San Luis Obispo are even with last year. Seven chapters are unreported.

DC MEETINGS

Our April calendar calls for attendance on successive weekends at the MDC meeting in Chicago on April 11 and EDC and the New York Chapter 20th Anniversary on April 18 and 19. This recalls our first year on the National staff when we were shuttling between Chicago and New York as Eastern and Midwest Representative. In those days travel was by train. Now, thanks to faster transportation, we can make two separate trips and still not lose a single working day at Headquarters.

NATIONAL CONVENTION

Various requests for material and information from the Detroit Convention Board remind us that in three months we will be assembling for our 18th Biennial July 1-4. Again we request Chapters to submit the names of their official delegates so that necessary material can be sent to them direct. From our next column we hope to start listing the official delegates who will be representing their chapters.

1000 Clubbers are alerted that all those whose memberships are current as of May 1 will be included in the National Convention Souvenir Booklet listing.

HEARTWARMING

We are deeply grateful for the continuing generous support of 1000 Clubbers and their words of encouragement. "As each year appears, I am reminded to be thankful for the JACL and the dedicated men and women who staff the local chapters and the National cabinet." "Just a note to let you know that I am a proud recipient of the handsome JACL 1000 Club ten year pin. It was a most pleasant surprise. It is little what we have done especially in comparison to the wonderful leadership given to us from those who work for JACL."

Financial success of convention booklet important, Nat'l President Okura says

OMAHA.—The tremendous task of organizing and clearing the final details of the 18th Biennial National JACL Convention being hosted by Detroit JACL July 1-4 drew the attention of K. Patrick Okura, National JACL President, this week.

"This will be the first time in the history of JACL and possibly for many years to come that a convention will be hosted this far east," Okura said. "It will be another step toward making JACL a truly national organization."

One of the more important phases of the work involved preparing for a successful convention is the souvenir booklet, Okura noted. The committee, headed by Min Togasaki, is working hard to publishing an outstanding publication worthy of a souvenir which will be appreciated and referred to in years to come.

"If the convention is to be a financial success," Okura continued, "The booklet must show a profit to help offset the expenses of other non-income producing functions."

Greater Support Needed
"There is in Detroit, unlike other cities on the West Coast, a lack of business firms owned and operated by JACLers and other Japanese from whom ads can be solicited."

"So it is of utmost importance that the chapters, district councils and members support the booklet to a greater degree than in previous years."

Okura was fully aware that many chapters are not financially sound and would need all their resources to send delegates and officers. "Yet, on the other hand, by supporting the host chapter, you are also supporting your own convention," he added.

Ads solicited by chapters earn a 20 pct. commission. Deadline is April 15.

Full Page Rate
Chapters planning to solicit sufficient advertising to dress up a full page of their own are expected to turn in a net of $150, according to Togasaki.

If the chapter sold eight 15-size ads and reserved a ($80) half page for the chapter, the gross would total $200 from which $150 is to be submitted. The difference of $50 is actually a 42 pct. commission on $120 worth of ads sold.

All inquiries concerning the Convention Booklet should be forwarded to Min Togasaki, JACL Convention, P.O. Box 5725, Detroit, Mich. 48239.

To Address New Yorkers
NEW YORK.—National President K. Patrick Okura will be the featured speaker at the New York JACL's 20th anniversary and installation dinner-dance April 18 at the Nippon Club.

EDC Chairman Kaz Horita will install the new officers, led by Jack Ozawa. National Director Mas Satow and Washington representative Mike Masaoka will be special guests.

Because of the limited space, reservations must be made in advance, according to Min Endo and Fujio Tsutsumi, dinner co-chairmen. Tickets are available from board members and may be purchased at Oriental Food Shop. Tickets are $8 each ($5 for students) for both the dinner and dance.

The Eastern District Council will meet the following day at Japan Society, 112 E. 64th St.
