NATIONAL JACL CREDIT UNION DECLARES 5 PCT.

Free Life Insurance Protection Distributed to Four Beneficiaries

SALT LAKE CITY.—The National JACL Credit Union announced a 5 pct. per annum dividend for the first half of 1964 with member shares credited as of July 10, according to Hito Okada, treasurer.

The balance sheet as of June 30 shows total assets in the amount of $764,773. The profit and loss statement for the first half of 1964 indicates net earnings of $20,453 before adjustment.

Compared to a year ago, the National JACL Credit Union, which has been in operation since 1943, gained about $100,000 in shares while loans dropped about $9,000.

During the half year period, four members passed away with $5,-379.55 distributed to their beneficiaries as life insurance protection on shares, which credit union members receive without cost.

One member who had $2,000 on account died of cancer. His beneficiary was paid $4,000. The beneficiary of another member who had $3,251.87 on account received $5,251.878 ($2,000 being the limit of free life insurance benefits through Cuna Mutual Insurance Society). Another member had only $38.10 on account and his beneficiary received double that amount of $76.20, but he was also a borrower for $500 and the insurance on loans took care of the member's obligation so that neither his estate nor family was obligated with this additional burden.

The total benefits received to date by National JACL Credit Union members through its insurance program is $24,439.90, of which $9,612.91 represents loan protection and $14,8286.899 represents share savings protection.

SURVIVORS OF PEARL HARBOR SLATE REUNION

HONOLULU. - The Pearl Harbor Survivors Assn. anticipates its largest gathering next yearon the 25th anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor, according to Gene Lindsey, association president and assistant state treasurer for the State of Missouri. He was here this past week to make preliminary plans.

There are about 1,800 members in the group now and about 7,000 survivors have been located. Estimates place 80,000 servicemen were here during the Civil Rights Act accommodations section upheld

ATLANTA. - The constitutionality of the public accommodations section of the new Civil Rights Act was upheld in its first legal test by a three-judge federal court July 22.

The tribunal ordered the Heart of Atlanta motel and the Pickrick Restaurant here to admit Negroes within 20 days.

The public accommodations section (Title II) outlaws racial discrimination in hotels, motels, restaurants, theaters and other public places which "affect" interstate commerce. The court, headed by Chief Judge Elbert Tuttle of the Fifth Circuit Count of Appeals, made it clear that the motel and restaurant-both of federal highwayscame under the definition of public accommodations as outlined in the law, which went into effect July 2.

MAKING ROOM FOR YOUTH

The Pacific Citizen commences with this issue to reserve space in the last week of each month for Jr. JACLers. It isn't spacious but we'll make room for a new column along with special material from those concerned with JACL's youth program. It doesn't mean that all youth news will be saved for this particular issue for their activities can compete on par with other kinds of news.

Kenneth Kuroiwa of Berkeley Jr. JACL will serve as "youth editor" and his approach to the task is cradled in the initial column appearing today . . . In good time, we hope to see the by-lines of other writers who now confine their efforts in their chapter newsletters.

'FRIENDS, ROMANS AND COUNTRYMEN'

If we're permitted the liberty of misquoting Shakespeare, the Saburo Kido testimonial sponsored by the Downtown L.A. JACL on its 35th anniversary last week unreels the · opening lines of Mark Anthony's oration in "Julius Caesar":

"Friends, Romans and countrymen, lend me your ears. "I have come to praise Kido, not to bury him . . ."

(Shakespeare's lines read—to bury Caesar, not to praise him.) Had the word "encomium" been used instead of "eul-' ogy" (which leaves a funeral taste on our tongue), and had there been no references about posthumous praises, Shakespeare would have never been recalled—even though this is his 400th anniversary.

There is no dearer counsellor than Mr. Kido, who asked that I assume editorship of the PC in September, 1952.

His advice has perservered through these many years. His dream that PC be self-sustaining and the largest circulating Nisei publication has come true. His PC series on JACL history from the beginning until the emergency March 1942 conference in San Francisco on the eve of Evacuation hasn't been better stated. His journeys with JACL and penchant for PC have been lessons of inspiration and purpose.

Of the many rare moments in Mr. Kido's life, none staggers us more than the brutal attack by eight men at Poston Relocation Center early Sunday morning of Jan. 31, 1943.

As national JACL president, Kido had called for reopening of Selective Service to the Nisei and formation of an all-Nisei combat team at the 1942 Thanksgiving conference at Salt Lake City. It was attended by delegates from all of the relocation centers as well as JACL chapters in the free zone. So unpopular was this proposal among evacuees detained in the centers that Kido was advised not to return to -Poston.

But "I refused because I did not want to be accused of having run out under fire or that I let others face the the brunt of the attack," Kido recalled after mending for three weeks in the Poston General Hospital from severe bruises about the head, shoulders and arms.

The assault was methodically planned as doors of nearby barrack apartments on Block 215 were jammed by members of the gang so that neighbors couldn't interfere. Two members of the gang tried to unhinge the doors but the noise aroused the Kido family. Then the gang forced the "door and burst into the room. Mrs. Kido and the children were not harmed.

Efficient work of Unit 2 police quickly resulted in apprehension of the gang, who ranged in ages from 18 to 37. The Poston Judicial Commission met in emergency session at 4:15 a.m. and the eight who had confessed were found guilty of assault and battery with intent to commit bodily harm. They were subsequently tried by the superior court in Yuma and sentenced—three of them for three years.

Immediate results of this case had the Kibei, who were being used as tools of Issei agitators in camps, realize their status was different in that the Kibei were citizens. Whereas the Issei could be turned over to the FBI and be sent to another concentration camp for the duration, the citizen evacuees were liable to terms in a state prison. Residents in Poston were made aware that state laws still applied.

This event led to the Kidos relocating to Salt Lake City where Sab was able to assume personal command of JACL at National Headquarters. What he stated in a 1943 column in the PC after being attacked is apropos today with race relations on edge.

"... the whole thing resolves down to a situation where the Nisei who believed in law and order were not organized and the vociferous minority were thus able to intimidate all law-abiding residents . . . Every center seems to be destined to have some blow-off before it settles down to a more sane outlook.

"In many respects until a real crisis arises, the residents do not realize that violence does not accomplish the ends they desire. Thus the irretrievable harm has been done."

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

The Civil Rights Act (of 1964) is a challenge to all of us to go to work in our communities and our states, in our homes and in our hearts, to eliminate the last vestiges of injustice in our beloved country . . . We have come now to a time of testing. We must not fail. - Lyndon B. Johnson

The Youth Session set the pace by finishing ahead of schedule. Reports were on hand so that details did not have to be repeated and the delegates had all the information, thus avoiding needless waste of time as in previous conventions. "Lunch on your own" made it possible to give the delegates a chance to relax and also an opportunity to meet with their friends and not have to attend a perfunctory luncheon with heavy program. These things all lead to good timing and a well paced program.

The Oratorical Contest, led by the youth from the Pacific Northwest inspired the overflowing crowd at the opening session with a great feeling of pride and well being, knowing that the future of JACL will be in good hands if these young people are to be the leaders of tomorrow. Each of the six spoke well in English which was accent free and the depth of the material showed research for their substance. Truly it was ining session. The answer to "What, is the need of JACL?" was right here. Who but JACL can sponsor such a contest as this for the youth everywhere, and the few hundred young people in the audience were challenged to try the next time at another National Con-

The presence of the leaders whose names frequent the headlines of our daily papers was truly the cream topping of the program. Never before has thre been such an array of people brought together at our National Convention. people who stood up for us during the time when many avoided any association with things Japanese. After two decades each one stood and recounted in detail some of their experiences. Those JACLens who missed this convention missed a great opportunity to see the passing of these leaders.

There are many Nisei who question, "What good is the JACL?" These American leaders gave us the answer by saying that without the leadership of JACL, the mass of Nisei would not have found the great opportunities in which they find themselves today.

To a newcomer on the Board, the behind the scenes workers of the convention and the members of the National Board were truly inspirational. Here the leaders of the JACL volunteered to take on committee leadership which means hours and days of sacrifice of their own work and home and pleasures.

Immigration Legislation

Judiciary Subcommittee on Immi- 23, 1963, said: gration and Naturalization continues to hold public hearings on pending immigration legislation, of planticular interest to persons of Japanese ancestry and to JACLers is the testimony of Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the Administration's bill to eliminate both the 1924 National Origins System formula for computing annual quotas and the Asia-Pacific Triangle formula in the 1952 Immigration and Nationality (Walter-McCarran) Act which restricts immigration from the Asia-Pacific area.

Pertinent portions of his testimony are reprinted for the information of our readers.

Rusk Testimony

'. . . Under the national origins system, the primary objective was to maintain the ethnic balance among the American population as it existed in 1920. This system preserves preferences based on race and place of birth in the admission of quota immigrants to the United States. This results in discrimination in our hospitality to different nationalities in a world situation which is quite different from that which existed at the time the national origins system was originally adopted. "Since the end of World War II, the United States has been placed in the role of critical leadership in a troubled and constantly changing world. We are concerned to see that our immigration laws reflect our real character and objectives.

NOTES ON DETROIT

The tremendously successful 18th Biennial National Convention hosted by the Detroit Chapter takes us back to June of 1946. At that time our specific assignment as Eastern-Midwest JACL representative from National Headquarters was to organize JACL chapters in the Midwest and East. Resentment was just about completed, but the atmosphere was not the most favorable to JACL as a result of misinformation and misunderstanding. To put it bluntly, JACL was a dirty word around the relocation camps and the scapegoat for all the misfortunes that befell our people.

In order that no individual Nisei in Detroit would be on the spot as being identified with JACL, we sent out invitations to the first meeting from the Detroit Nisei Council mailing list over our name, chaired the meeting, was the speaker. At the close of that meeting the 51 people present each put down a dollar to indicate their desire of forming a chapter and of supporting the JACL postwar national legislative program. This has been the spirit of the Detroit chapter throughout. Thus, as a catalyst for the formation of the Chapter, it is of no small personal satisfaction to see this group 18 years later host our 18th Biennial, certainly one of the better National Conventions of the sixteen we have attended.

Detroit JACLers literally knocked themselves out to accomplish this. There must have been times during this biennium when some of them wondered why they had ever bid for the National Convention.

The National Council reflected a general maturity and leadership, and in addition, delegates had briefed themselves well on the major issues of decision - all contributing to the relatively smooth-running business session. Timely injections of humor throughout the meeting kept discussions from becoming too serious or dull.

Typical of the fine spirit of the delegates was the work of the Resolutions Committee. Notified of their appointment only 24 hours before they were to report, Chairman Raymond Uno of Salt Lake, assisted by Grayce Uyehara (Philadelphia) and Tets Iwasaki (Pasadena), put together a very comprehensive Committee report.

For us at National Headquarters the Convention is still far from ended as we work on the Official Minutes of the National Council proceedings, reliving the discussions via tape, trying to decipher our notes from the two National Board meetings, and following up on the many Convention decisions via correspondence. We assure Dr. Al Morioka tion. of St. Louis that we are making overtime use of the tape recorder he generously donated to National JACL several years back.

National Convention Travel Pool checks are being sent out to the participating chapters this week. Seventy-seven chapters participated in the pool this biennium, although seven chapters paid only the 1963 portion. The 26 chapters represented by proxy or absent and normally entitled to receive more than they paid in are being returned the amount they actually paid in, leaving an additional $341.95 which are being distributed among chapters which sent delegates.

NATIONAL SCHOLARSHIP PARTICIPANTS

Thirty-three copies of Allan Eaton's "Beauty Behind Barbed Wire" have been sent to those who participated in the 1964 National JACL Scholarship program and were not recipients of one of the scholarships.

For many years, the Executive Secretary of the American Friends Service Committee, Clarence Pickett personified the humane and constructive work by the Quakers alleviating human suffering throughout the world and helping people attain personal dignity.

During their dark days of wartime, Japanese Americans became the special beneficiary of his personal and organizational concern. Frequent visits to the Relocation Camps by the Friends made real the concern of Americans of goodwill for their plight. The Friends also encouraged and expedited their resettlement by establishing hostels in key cities in the Midwest and East.
