

HISTORY PROJECT CALLS FOR ISSEI LIST, DOCUMENTS

Renewed Efforts for Research Material
a 'Must' for History

LOS ANGELES. — Japanese History Project chairmen at the district council and chapter levels were reminded this week of the importance of securing "raw materials" for immediate research—as asked in JHP Instruction No. 2.

Akiyoshi Yoshimura, chairman of the chapter liaison committee, was disturbed by the wholly inadequate and spotty returns asking for a list showing the whereabouts of documentary material.

District and chapter chairmen for the JACL-UCLA Japanese History Project were urged to renew efforts in the search for information and documentary materials.

The project is currently gathering information on whereabouts of documentary material and is appealing to owners to save them. The procedure for collection and forwarding the material will be announced.

Instruction No. 3

While some chapters have completed or are in the process of completing this assignment, Instruction No. 3 issued last Dec. 6 calls for a complete listing of the Issei in the community by name, address and principal occupation. If the person is retired or semi-retired, the major occupation during his or her lifetime should be indicated.

Dr. T. Scott Miyakawa, project director, suggested that listings may be organized from local directories, rosters, of church, community center or Kenjinkai, etc., and then adding other names by consulting with knowledgeable Issei, ministers, insurance salesmen, etc. The list should not include recent arrivals from Japan.

The project will then select a certain number of the Issei to be "respondents" to the survey interview. Selection will be through comparison with U.S. Census tract information, which divides them into six categories of social and economic status by their location in certain tracts.

"This general survey by interviews will gather material on the Issei in general through their backgrounds and experiences," Dr. Miyakawa explained. "Since the selection of those to be interviewed will be by this proven research

San Jose votes in Henry Uyeda pres.

SAN JOSE. — The 1964 San Jose JACL cabinet and board, to be headed by Henry Uyeda, will be installed on Feb. 1, 6:30 p.m., at the Lamplighters Restaurant, 820 E. El Camino Real, Sunnyvale.

National Director Mas Satow is doubling as main speaker and installing officer.

Mrs. Dorothy Hiura, member of the local opera guild, will render several vocal numbers. Local rancher and businessman Chick Kawahara will show his films taken on a recent African safari.

Dinner reservations are being accepted until Jan. 26 by: Robert Tachibana, 293-5579; Henry Uyeda, 258-4288; Phil Matsumura, 258-4400, or Dr. Tom Taketa, 241-1880.

FRENCH CAMP.—Bob Tominaga will be installed 1964 president of the French Camp JACL at a potluck dinner Jan. 25, 6 p.m., at the newly erected Japanese Hall, Nat'l JACL 1st v.p. Jerry Enomoto will swap in the new officers. Harry Ota will be toastmaster. Entertainment will follow.

SACRAMENTO. — Miss Isako Fukumoto was elected president of the Sacramento JACL Women's Auxiliary and will preside at the first meeting of the year at Mrs. Enny Oshima's home on Feb. 1, 11:45 a.m.

MT. OLYMPUS TO HOST IDC QUARTERLY MEET

SALT LAKE CITY.—The Mt. Olympus JACL will host the first quarterly session of the Intermountain District Council for 1964 this Sunday, 10 a.m., at the Ramada Inn here.

Newly-elected IDC chairman Kiyoshi Sakata of Rexburg, Idaho, will preside.

The Intermountain District Youth Council will also meet at the same locale, but starting tomorrow afternoon at 2 and with an evening social following. It will conclude its session on Sunday. The Mt. Olympus Jr. JACL will host the youth sessions.

1964 JACL CHAPTER QUOTA

The 1964 JACL membership graph, which will appear periodically, shows an "open" line and a "dark" line for each chapter and district council.

The "open" line shows the percentage of 1963 membership renewed over 1962. The "dark" line shows the progress of the 1964 membership drive in relation to the 1963 campaign. For example: if your chapter had 500 members in 1963, which was over 110 pct. of the 1962 total, the "open" line is extended across the percentage graph with an "arrow" at the end. If your chapter currently has 250 members in 1964, the "dark" line would touch the 50 line.

Spark Matsunaga sees Sen. Inouye on Johnson Cabinet, but Dan says 'no'

WASHINGTON. — Sen. Daniel K. Inouye (D-Hawaii) last week denied there are plans for him to take a place in President Johnson's cabinet if Johnson is elected in November, the United Press International was informed.

He was both "embarrassed" and "flattered" by remarks made in Hawaii by Rep. Spark M. Matsunaga (D-Hawaii) that Senator Inouye would be a part of the Johnson cabinet in 1965.

When asked about Rep. Matsunaga's remarks—the details of which were not immediately available here—Inouye said:

"Although I am a bit embarrassed, I am deeply flattered by Congressman Matsunaga's kind remarks.

"I wish to say that a Cabinet post is perhaps the farthest thing from my mind. Although it is true that I have met with President Johnson on several occasions during the past year, matters of this magnitude have never been discussed."

Asked if this meant he was positively denying the possibility of a future Cabinet post, Inouye replied, "Absolutely."

There was no comment from the White House, and Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger would say only that he had not been told of Matsunaga's comments.

Senator Inouye is a strong supporter of Johnson and seconded his nomination for Vice President at the 1960 Democratic convention in Los Angeles.

The two worked together many times in the Senate when Johnson was Vice President. Inouye has said he used to visit with Johnson at least once a week when Johnson was the Senate's presiding officer, and it is known that Inouye has talked with Johnson several times since Johnson became President in November.

Matsunaga's View

HONOLULU.—Rep. Spark Matsunaga, addressing the Palolo Lions Jan. 15, said there is a "great possibility" that if President Johnson is elected in November, he would appoint U.S. Senator Daniel Inouye to his Cabinet.

"There is speculation on Capitol Hill that if Lyndon Johnson is re-elected—and he will be, I'm confident, as you Democrats are confident and you Republicans are worried—there might be a Cabinet member from Hawaii," Matsunaga said.

"That Cabinet member is a fellow Lion. I'm sure I don't have to repeat his name, but I can tell you he's our junior senator."

"There is a great possibility of this because of the great friendship he (Johnson) holds not only for the people of Hawaii but for the people concerned."

Inouye's possible Cabinet appointment, Matsunaga said it was not an impromptu remark he was making but one that he had carefully considered since his return from Washington the previous Sunday.

Matsunaga said the appointment of Inouye would be a tremendous thing for the prestige of the Johnson administration among the Asian nations. It also could be expected to be well received among minorities in the U.S.

PRAY, Inc.

WASHINGTON.—A New Orleans group, the Paul Revere Associated Yeomans, Inc., has marked 18 senators for political defeat, Sen. Dan Inouye (D-Hawaii) disclosed last week. "I am privileged to be named to this veritable honor roll of U.S. senators," said the Nisei solon whose term runs through 1968.

He was sent a copy of a news release from PRAY, Inc., "organized to wake up Americans" which said in part: "We must therefore get rid of the pro-subversives in the Supreme Court by first retrieving control of the Senate."

Other senators marked for defeat were:

Greening (Alaska), Hayden (Ariz.), Fulbright (Ark.), Church (Idaho), Muskie (Me.), Bible, Cannon (Nev.), Anderson (N.M.), Burdick (N.D.), McGovern (S.D.), Morse, Neuberger (Ore.), Pastore, Pell (R.I.), Moss (Utah), and McGee (Wyo).

Sen. Hart to speak at Detroit inaugural

DETROIT. — Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), who will be introduced by Mike Masaoka, is the principal speaker of the 18th annual Detroit JACL installation dinner Feb. 15, 7 p.m., at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel.

The junior senator of Michigan will speak on civil rights and immigration. Roy Kaneko will be toastmaster.

Masaoka will also meet with the National JACL Convention board while here and then proceed to Chicago, where he is the main speaker at the JACL Brotherhood Dinner on Sunday.

Masaoka to address Chicago Brotherhood fete

CHICAGO. — Washington JACL Representative Mike Masaoka was announced this week as main speaker for Chicago JACL's seventh annual Brotherhood Dinner to be held Feb. 16, 5 p.m., at Olivet Community Center.

U.S. immigration policy free of racial quotas sought

(Special to the Pacific Citizen)
WASHINGTON. — Speaking out strongly again for immigration reform, Sen. Hiram L. Fong of Hawaii testified before the Senate Immigration Subcommittee on Jan. 14 in favor of major changes to wipe out racial discrimination in our country's immigration policies.

The senior Hawaii Senator gave his testimony the day after he was invited to the White House by President Johnson to launch a new push for Congressional action on pending immigration bills.

As a member of the Senate Immigration Subcommittee and the parent Judiciary Committee, Senator Fong took part in the White House meeting attended by other Senators and Representatives working on immigration matters and by representatives of various organizations, including Mike Masaoka, Washington JACL representative.

Senator Fong is a co-sponsor of the two major immigration revision bills in the Senate—one proposed by the late President Kennedy and now advocated by President Johnson. Philip A. Hart, Mich.

Discriminatory Quotas

At the White House President Johnson appealed for the elimination of discriminatory immigration quotas in the interest of "common sense, common decency and common good."

The President timed his new bid with the opening of Senate hearings last week on legislation to revise immigration laws. This is the first time since the present immigration laws were enacted in 1952 that efforts at a major overhaul have been undertaken.

Senator Fong's testimony covered 46 pages of a detailed analysis of immigration quotas and his arguments for removing defects in the law.

His testimony brought praise from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the late President's brother, who presided at the hearing.

Senator Kennedy took note of the special qualifications which enabled Senator Fong to explain and argue the problems of peoples of Oriental ancestry and from Asian and Polynesian areas.

Said Senator Kennedy: "I come from a part of New England which directs itself primarily to the discriminatory aspect of the legislation which applies to many of the Southern European peoples and I can just say that the testimony of the Senator from Hawaii in such depth certainly has provided me with much greater understanding and a deeper appreciation than before of the extraordinary discriminatory features of this bill as it applies to the Asian countries."

1920 Census as a Basis

Under the present immigration law, each year quotas are allotted on the basis of national origins of the population of the United States in 1920.

Senator Fong said this system favors immigration from northern Europe and severely limits immigration from other parts of the world, like the Asian area.

If by accident of birth, an applicant comes from one of the less favored areas, the chances are he would be required to wait a long time before he can obtain a quota number. Meanwhile, many thousands of quota numbers are wasted because they are not wanted or needed by nationals of the countries to which they are assigned.

The national origins system now used discriminates against southern European, Oriental and Polynesian countries and the newly emerging African nations by allocating them much smaller quotas than other countries.

Under present law, Japan's waiting list stretches all the way to 1989 or beyond. Japan's present quota is a mere 185 a year.

Less Than 2 Pct.

Present laws allow only 1.53 percent of the total immigration quotas to the countries of the Asia-Pacific Triangle, an area where more than one-half of the world's population lives.

Senator Fong's testimony is a follow-up of a lengthy speech he gave in the Senate last August on the need for immigration revision. He noted, in the first paragraph of his testimony, the statement in President Johnson's State of the Union Message that, "We must also lift by legislation the bars of discrimination against those who seek entry into our country, particularly those with mixed-blood skills and those joining their families."

To underscore the racially biased basis on which present immigration policies operate, Senator Fong quoted a statement by Mike Masaoka in the 1951 Congressional hearings on immigration indicating that back in 1924, Congress approved an immigration law that discriminated sharply against peoples of Asia and the Pacific islands—a historical bias that persists till today.

Senator Fong concluded by saying that immigration is an issue of basic national policy because the racial restrictions still existing hurt our image abroad, disparage our democratic heritage, and contradict the spirit and principles of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and our traditional standards of fairness and justice.

Inouye Backs Revision

WASHINGTON. — Sen. Daniel K. Inouye released through his Washington office last week a statement supporting both the Hart and Javits immigration bills, though he preferred the one sponsored by Hart for the administration.

Inouye, who like Sen. Fong, is co-sponsor of both bills, said enactment of new immigration policies "is just as important as the adoption of meaningful civil rights legislation."

HAWAII'S SENIOR Senator, Hiram L. Fong, is greeted by President Johnson at the White House on Jan. 13 to launch a drive to enact new and fair immigration laws. Senator Fong will be guest speaker at the annual installation dinner of the Washington, D.C., Chapter of the JACL this Saturday night, Jan. 25.

INJUNCTION TO HALT FAIR HOUSING ACT INITIATIVE TO REPEAL DENIED IN COURT

SACRAMENTO. — The request for an injunction to halt an initiative campaign to nullify California's fair housing law (Rumford Act) was denied Jan. 16 by Superior Court Judge Irving H. Perluss.

Civil rights groups had joined the NAACP support of Howard Lewis, a Sacramento Negro, to stall the circulation of petitions by the California Real Estate Assn. and others to qualify their initiative for the November ballot.

The judge indicated he did not feel it proper for the court to interfere with the exercise of the legislative process by the people which, he said, "must always be jealously guarded."

The court "is not concerned in this proceeding with moral, sociological or political aspects of the proposed initiative, but only legal questions."

People's Right

"It is fundamental that in our democratic society the rights the people have reserved to themselves must always be jealously guarded."

"This basic ideal also must be coupled with the reality that the time limitations for the circulation and qualification of a proposed initiative are fixed."

"It is obvious, accordingly, that the issuance now of an injunction by this court would mean that one judge of one superior court might be sending the proposed initiative to its doom for clearly there would not be sufficient time to qualification after going through the procedures required for appellate court review."

The five-page written opinion ruled against the suit, which argued:

1—That the measure had not been given a proper ballot title by the Attorney General because it does not clearly set forth the chief purpose of the initiative.

2—That the measure encompasses more than one subject.

3—That it would revise, rather than amend, the Constitution.

4—That it is unconstitutional.

Judge Perluss said the attorney general is not required to go behind the language in the initiative in preparing a ballot title; that the Legislature has established there is a difference between the "chief purpose" and the "legal effect" of a proposed initiative; that the contention it embraces more than one subject and is a revision of the Constitution is

Director's Report

BY MASAO W. SATOW

FINANCES

Following up National Treasurer Kumeo Yoshinari's column last week giving credit to those Chapters which have met or exceeded their 1963 national quotas, the following Chapters deserve special mention for digging into their treasuries toward meeting their quotas: Berkeley, Boise Valley, Chicago, Oakland, Omaha, and Pocatello. Our thanks also to Chicago, Contra Costa, Detroit, Omaha, Placer County, and Washington, D.C., for recruiting National Supporting Members for support beyond the ordinary regular membership dues.

CPA Jack Hirose will be in this week to close our books on 1963, audit our accounts, and tell us how we came out for 1963. Several months ago we anticipated a shortage of approximately $10,000 and measured our finances accordingly. We should thus come out about even because of certain unexpended budgeted items.

OFFICIAL DELEGATES

It is not too early for Chapters to designate their official delegates to the National Council meeting at the National Convention in Detroit, July 14. Our communications problem is essentially to get material direct to the proper people. By naming their official delegates beforehand, Chapters will be assured that such delegates who will be actually representing them will receive proper briefing and background material well in advance of the Convention discussions.

SONOMA COUNTY

We attended the Sonoma County Chapter installation of Jim Miyano and his cabinet. We reported to our members (bosses) as requested on how the National Director occupies his time. Chapter member, County Supervisor Leigh Shoemaker, in response to being presented with a JACL pin, added his remarks on being duly impressed with the installation ceremony ably assisted by immediate past NC-WNDC Chairman Jim Murakami and by Mike Masaoka's Japanese American Creed.

CALENDAR

Our immediate calendar calls for attendance at the National JACL Credit Union annual meeting in Salt Lake this coming weekend as well as the first quarterly meeting of the Intermountain District Council arranged by the Mt. Olympus Chapter. Succeeding weekends call for us to speak for our dinner at installation of the San Jose and Alameda Chapters before running up to Portland the weekend of Feb. 16 for the Pacific Northwest District meeting hosted by Gresham-Troutdale. Then follows the Northern California-WNDC meeting on Feb. 23. Besides honoring Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, we will also recognize Donald Canter of the San Francisco News-Call Bulletin whose articles regarding Federal attempts to tax evacuation claims stirred up wide public support against this injustice.

In connection with the NC-WNDC meeting on Feb. 23, we are making arrangements for volunteer bilingual interviewers for the Japanese History Project from each chapter area to gather for their first briefing session. These will be the key people to whom the History Project will be obtaining a cross sampling of the Issei experience in America.

JAPANESE HISTORY PROJECT CONTRIBUTIONS

We gratefully acknowledge recent contributions to the JACL Japanese History Project totalling $667 from the following:
$190 - Idaho Falls JACL
$100 - Seabrook JACL
$50 - Keigo Inouye, Dr. Paul Morita, Vernon Ichikawa, all of Seabrook, N.J.
$25 - Mr. & Mrs. Takeo Ohayashi, Milwaukee; Charles Nagao, Seabrook; Mr. & Mrs. Kiyomi Nakamura, Elmer, N.J.; George Sakamoto, Seabrook; H.H. Okamoto, Bridgeton, N.J.
$20 - Ted Oye, Seabrook; & David Kawai, Bridgeton
$15 - Fuji Sasaki, Seabrook; Howard Hida, Milwaukee
$10 - Mrs. Helen Davis, Woodstown, N.J.; Mike Minato, Bridgeton; Tamayoshi Imai, Hood River, Ore.

SURPRISE YOUR CHAPTER!

You can surprise your chapter by sending in your membership before they ask for it. It certainly would give them the boost they need to have a successful membership campaign.

P.C. CUT-OFF MARCH 31

The PC Staff has been working feverishly to handle the PC cut-off to non-renewing members promptly after the March 31 deadline. If your membership is not received by headquarters before that date you will not receive your PC the following week so don't put it off. Renew your membership today!

Ask a friend to join! Membership is a privilege and should be shared with friends, so get their money and send it in to your chapter.

We sincerely hope that this will be the biggest and finest year for you and your chapter. May your delegates meeting in convention in Detroit this coming July be speaking in behalf of 20,000 members!

Impressions

BY ISAAC MATSUSHIGE, PSW Regional Director

To the people of Santa Barbara JACL: As your Mayor Don MacGillivray spoke of the genuine warmth, tranquility and friendliness of your beautiful city of Santa Barbara, so did he also touch on the atmosphere within the banquet room of the Carrillo Hotel where many JACLers were gathered for the annual Chapter installation.

On this evening of Dec. 28, the Santa Barbara chapter not only hosted as guest, the youthful mayor, but also the State Sen. Alvin C. Wiengand of Santa Barbara County. He commented on the masterful presentation of the JACL concern and position to the petitions now being circulated throughout the state to revoke the Rumford Fair Housing Act as given in the introductory remarks of Tom Hirasaka, emcee for the evening dinner program.

JACLers will long remember the forthright words of Senator Wiengand as he continued to say in part "I ask that you join me in opposing with all energy... this gigantic campaign to put across a vicious amendment that would sanction race discrimination in housing under the state constitution." Topping the entertainment for the evening were the dancing exhibitions of Miye and Ken Ota, finest of award winning dancing couples in the Southland.

To George Ohashi, who was re-elected chapter president of Santa Barbara JACL... to the new and old board members, Hiro Okino, Caesar Uyesaka, Tomichi Munemoto, Richard Tokumaru, Kenji Horihisa, Tad Kanemoto, June Mori, John Suzuki, Goro Takeuchi, Florence Tsunoda, Reiko Uyesaka, Hiro Goto, Janya Uyesaka, and to the wonderful people of Santa Barbara and of course... Goleta as well, thanks so much for a most delightful evening and the honor and privilege to have had a part in the installation program.

San Fernando Valley

The evening of Jan. 11, place: Doric Mission Inn; event: San Fernando Valley JACL installation dinner-dance.

As with our Santa Barbara Chapter, this too, was an event true to the traditions of the outstanding chapters of our PSWDC. Here again, Dr. Toru Iura, Master of Ceremonies for the evening's program, did a most excellent job in presenting enjoyment, information and humor to a jam-packed house.

For enjoyment... the delightful vocal selections by talented Shigemitsu Matsumoto, for information... the very interesting and informative address by Mrs. Helen Fisher, guest speaker and Executive Secretary from the San Fernando Valley Mental Health, for humor... the remarks and comments of the emcee as well as from the laughter and frolic of the evening's fellowship.

Immigration Policy and JACL

WASHINGTON. — With President Johnson reviving national interest in liberalized immigration legislation with his comments in his State of the Union message and with his follow-up White House conference, the time has come for JACL to again clarify its basic views concerning immigration policy.

Of the more than 50 national organizations invited to that White House conference, probably only the JACL had urged the enactment of the Immigration and Nationality (Walter-McCarran) Act of 1952 over the veto of then President Truman.

JACL's Position in 1952

Briefly put, JACL's position on the Walter-McCarran Act was, very simply, that when all the "good" features in the legislation were weighed against the "bad," JACL determined that the "good" outweighed the "bad," particularly insofar as the so-called Asian provisions, which JACL sponsored, were concerned.

These would extend naturalization rights to legally admitted Japanese aliens, and to other qualified aliens without regard to race, and would repeal the Oriental Exclusion Laws, including the Japanese Exclusion Act of 1924, by authorizing token immigration quotas to all nations of earth.

In the case of the former, among the benefits of equality in naturalization, some 500 state and local laws based on "racial ineligibility to citizenship" became null and void.

In the case of the latter, even token immigration was to be preferred to total exclusion, especially since the racial prohibitions against all immigration was one of the major factors in causing the outbreak of World War II in the Pacific.

A Forward Step

In other words, JACL judged that the Walter-McCarran Act was a forward step. And, the record seems to vindicate that judgment, for more immigrants have entered the United States since that Act was passed than under the older 1924 Immigration Law.

JACL did not then, and does not now, contend that the Walter-McCarran Act is the final answer to America's immigration problems; JACL then, and now, believes that the Walter-McCarran Act needs and requires amendments and revisions, if not a complete overhaul in terms of the basic philosophy inherent in that and previous laws relating to national immigration policy.

Objectives Since 1952

Since the Walter-McCarran Act was enacted in 1952, JACL has been committed to the following:

1. Elimination of the double racial discrimination in the Asia-Pacific Triangle formula for restricting immigration of those of Asian ancestry;
2. Repeal of the racist National Origins System for determining the annual immigration quotas for every country of earth;
3. Liberalization of immigration opportunities, especially for members of separated families;

4. Humanization of exclusion and deportation provisions and procedures; and
5. Removal of distinctions and discriminations between native-born and naturalized citizens of the United States.

Bills in Senate

In the First Session of this 88th Congress, three major immigration bills were introduced, two by Democratic Senator Philip Hart of Michigan and one by Republican Senator Jacob Javits of New York, among others, in the Senate, with identical bills introduced by a number of Congressmen in the House.

The original Hart Bill introduced on Feb. 7, 1963, was co-sponsored by 35 Senators from 23 States. The second Hart Bill, introduced on July 23, 1963, was the bill submitted by the Administration of the late President Kennedy. It was co-sponsored by 27 Senators from 19 States.

Both Hart Bills are primarily immigration bills. Both provide for permanent authority to admit refugees. Both would replace the Asia-Pacific Triangle and the National Origins System. The first bill would do this by substituting a new method for quota allocation, while the second would accomplish this by gradually reducing annual immigration quotas over a five year period.

President Johnson, by the way, has endorsed the Kennedy Administration-Hart Bill.

The Javits Bill does not eliminate the National Origins System, though it does the Asia-Pacific Triangle. This bill would substitute the 1960 Census for the 1920 Census in determining annual quota immigration and would pool the unused quotas of nations for the use of oversubscribed countries. It also establishes a Board of Visa Appeals and authorizes judicial review of citizenship and questions of both exclusion and deportation; sets a ten-year statute of limitations on deportation; eliminates discrimination between native-born and naturalized citizens; and grants nonquota status to alien brothers, sisters, sons, and daughters of American citizens.

JACL Views Under Study

As a matter of legislative activity, JACL would prefer to combine immigration matters with those relating to deportation and discrimination between types of citizens in a single measure. If a major overhaul is contemplated, then the whole Walter-McCarran Act should be reviewed and amendments or revisions made accordingly, rather than on a piecemeal basis for immigration only.

At the moment, the National JACL Legislative-Legal Committee, the National JACL Legal Counsel, and the Washington JACL Office, among others, are studying all of the major pending immigration bills.

At an appropriate opportunity, JACL views will be presented to the Congress of the United States.

In this, as in other matters, JACL believes in progress toward a better country and world. The Walter-McCarran Act was an important first step. The time has come when another step or two may be possible. JACL will do its utmost to secure such amendments and revisions that its objectives in the field of immigration will be achieved.

Johnson's Message

Since we do not believe that the complete text of the President's statement to the White House conference on immigration has been printed by the press, we are reproducing it below:

We have met for the purpose of pointing out the fact that we have very serious problems in trying to get a fair immigration law. There is now before the Congress a bill that I hope, can be supported by a majority of the members of the Congress. This bill applies new tests and new standards which we believe are reasonable and fair and right. I refer specifically to: What is the training and the qualification of the immigrant who seeks admission? What kind of a citizen would he make if he were admitted? What is his relationship to persons in the United States? And what is the time of his application? These are rules that are full of common sense, common decency, which operate for the common good. That is why in my State of the Union message last Wednesday I said I hoped that, in establishing preferences, a nation that was really built by immigrants, immigrants from all lands, that we could ask those who seek to immigrate now: What can you do for our country? But we ought never to ask "In what country were you born?"

President Roosevelt and President Truman and President Eisenhower and President Kennedy have all asked for a revision in the present statute. The present statute has overtones of discrimination. President Truman said that the idea behind this discrimination was to put it boldly, that English or Irish names were better and better citizens than Americans with Italian or Greek or Polish names. And such a concept is utterly unworthy of our traditions and our ideals.

Now each of us and all of us are descended from immigrants. I hope we would ask ourselves this question: How would we feel, if we were put in the other fellow's place? Maybe by doing this and engaging in a little introspection for a time we would find it a good feeling to apply the Golden Rule and do unto others as we would have them do unto us.

Great Britain has a quota of 65,000. It uses less than half of that quota. Germany has a quota of 25,000, which it never fills. Italy has a quota of 5,645 but it has a current backlog of almost 100,000. Greece has a quota of only 398, but it has a current backlog of over 100,000. So I think that the immigration statutes require very special examination.

I would hope that we do nothing hasty and makeshift, but I hope that we would apply the tests that I have outlined and the standards that I have suggested. These objective standards, I believe, would serve the national interest and I hope that the Congress at this session would find a majority of its members could follow this path.

I want to thank each of you for coming here this morning. I want to ask each of you to dedicate some time and effort and your talents as it may be possible to helping us reason together and achieve the standards that history will record as being fair and just and that we, ourselves, can be proud that we played a part in helping to achieve. I particularly thank the members of Congress who have come here this morning and who hear many conflicting viewpoints, but who I believe all were elected on a platform of doing what they believed to be right and who, I am confident, when the chips are down will see that fair play and just legislation is written, that if they use it to apply to themselves they would feel they had at least a fair shake.

From the Frying Pan

OUR TAILED COUSINS — For good and sufficient reasons which are not important here, I have often suspected the relationship between man and monkeys is much closer than many of us care to admit. In fact some monkeys I have met are more human than some people of my acquaintance. Now, since Brotherhood Week is due shortly, and we seem to be losing friends abroad faster than we can pipe Foreign Aid to their countries, I am advocating that every effort be made to cultivate them. We must try to understand them. We must let them know we want to be friends even though the National Aeronautics and Space boys were guilty of a somewhat unporting thing when they sent a chimpanzee named Enos up in a capsule to try out our rockets and monkey suits prior to risking an Astronaut.

Before long, the way the surgeons at the University of Colorado Medical School are going, some of my best friends may be dependent for life on baboon kidneys. At this writing five baboons, which frankly didn't have much choice in the matter, donated their kidneys to human patients whose own organs were hopelessly diseased. These baboon kidneys were implanted surgically into the bodies of the humans and at last report both humans and borrowed kidneys were doing just fine.

MONKEY TALK—In this matter of promoting friendship with the primates, the Japanese are well ahead of us. The experts at the Japan Monkey Center and Japanese Primate Research, according to a recent report, have learned to understand a bit of monkey talk without benefit of an United Nations interpreter. Densaburo Miyadi, zoology professor at Kyoto University, told a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Cleveland recently about his linguistic ad-

His subjects were troops of wild Japanese monkeys. Miyadi discovered that when the leader of the band cried "Kuan," it was a signal that danger was approaching. All the monkeys but one quickly disappeared, and the ape who was "it" scampered to the top of a tree where he kept a beady eye on the enemy.

The monkeys knew something about battle tactics, too. When they cried "Ga ga ga," or "Go go go," they attacked. However, when they were trembling in fright, they said "Gyaa gyaa."

A POSSIBILITY OF MISUNDERSTANDING—Professor Miyadi also reported that monkeys greet each other with certain words as they come and go, and have still other words to express various emotions. But either their conversation stops at that point, which might be considered a blessing, or the good professor's understanding of monkey talk is still inadequate, for he failed to go into further detail.

Equipped with this much knowledge of ape chatter, it might be an interesting Sunday project to visit the zoo and engage the inmates in conversation as a gesture of brotherhood and goodwill.

On second thought, however, it might be well to ponder the possibility that Japanese monkeys have a somewhat different language, or at least a different accent, from those in America. Gross harm could result from misunderstandings due to language difficulties. Suppose, for example, you meant to say, "How do you do, hairy cousin," and it came out sounding like, "Brother, can you spare a kidney?" Such a faux pas could set the cause of monkey-man friendship back a couple of centuries or more, and it might even be dangerous to provoke an ape who's a friend of Gargantua.

Nisei grocer loses in back pay appeal

FRESNO.—Two former employees of Reedley grocer Edward Otani finally received their back pay, plus interest, totaling $30,825 on work performed about 10 years ago at a meeting of the Retail Clerks Union Local 1288 last week.

Checks were presented to Sakaye Matsumoto, now a magazine salesman, for $14,940.67, and to Anton Kovacevich, now a San Jose supermarket clerk, for $7,532.70. Court costs and counsel fees were deducted from the total.

It marked the end of a legal battle that began nearly 10 years ago when they filed wage claims against Otani with the State Labor Commissioner's office. Action was then filed in the superior court in the union's name when the collections were not forthcoming.

The court ordered arbitration and confirmed the findings of the arbitrator, Atty. Charles E. Sells. It twice was carried by Otani to the state supreme court, the last appeal being rejected last Oct. 17.

DOLLAR MAGAZINE SKETCHES J. YOSHINO

ELM GROVE, Wis.—Country Beautiful, an elegant $1 per copy national magazine, in its December issue features a sketch of John Y. Yoshino of Washington, D.C., a "man of value."

Yoshino is deputy director of field services for the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity.

The story, authored by Jerry Cahill, tells of Yoshino's personal background and experiences during the Evacuation, how the Nisei emerged from this into the mainstream of American life, of the Nisei war record and of Yoshino's current aspiration to chip away discrimination.

adopted by the Christ Episcopal Church at its annual meeting here Jan. 12. It urged that the law be given a "fair trial without any manner of hindrance whatsoever."

First Public Hearing LOS ANGELES.—The California Fair Employment Practices Commission held its first public hearing of alleged racial discrimination under provisions of the Rumford Fair Housing Act yesterday at the New Hall of Records.

Case involves the resident manager and owners of a six-unit apartment house at 302 Harding St., San Fernando, who refused to rent to Mr. and Mrs. David E. Wells, because they are Negro. Investigation of the complaint resulted in a determination of a probable cause to believe the allegations of discrimination. Attempts to resolve the matter through conciliation have been unsuccessful.

COMMITTEEMEN of the 1964 National Reunion of Nisei Vets to be held in Seattle play host to Mrs. Pence, widow of the late commander of the 442nd RCT, and Mrs. Kay Messenger. The two ladies chaperone the juvenile cast of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "Sound of Music," which is playing in Seattle. From left are Joe Nakatsu, Albert "Lefty" Ichihara, Mrs. Cal Hayashida, president of the Women's Auxiliary, Shiro Kashino, and NVC commander John Matsumoto.

Northwest Picture: by Elmer Ogawa Vets Reunion During Seafair Week

SEATTLE.—Biggest scheduled event of the year in JACL circles is the National Convention in Detroit next summer. Here in Seattle we have our own super attraction scheduled for July 31 to August 4 during Seafair Week, the National Reunion of Nisei Veterans.

Such reunions occur about every five years, the last was held in Los Angeles in 1958, and others were held in Hawaii in '53 and '48. Each host city sets out to outdo the others in warmth and lavish display of hospitality. A reunion is a reunion, and the ponderous problems of administration and matters of state are kept to a minimum. Entertainment seems to keynote the event, and everyone is out for a good time.

For over a year now, the Nisei Vets of Seattle have been preparing for the great event, first of the kind to be held in this city. To date they have staged all sorts of fund raising affairs such as a luau, entertainments, dances, movie shows, and a smoker.

Each visitor to town these days serves the double purpose to renew friendship of past years and whoop up the old college spirit in a sort of pre-convention rally.

Not so long ago we enjoyed the visit of Col. Virgil Miller, former executive officer of the 442nd Regimental Combat Team. The late General Pence had been a Seattle visitor on more than one occasion, but this past week Mrs. Pence was a Seattle visitor, and the occasion sparked off a dinner party that was well attended by the Vets and wives. Mrs. Pence also took an evening off to attend a class in Oriental cookery in the spacious and well-equipped Vets kitchen.

'Sounds of Music' Primary reason for Mrs. Pence's visit to Seattle at this time, however, is in connection with her nephew's appearance in the cast of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "The Sound of Music," which is playing to capacity audiences at the Civic Center Opera House. She is a sort of traveling companion chaperone to the young nephew who is receiving favorable reviews from the drama editors.

"Sound of Music", the last collaboration between Rodgers and Hammerstein, is about the seven children of the Von Trapp family of singers, which in their native Austria, became world famous in the 1930s.

The Nisei Vets and wives played host also to another "mother," Mrs. Kay Messenger, of the show, whose son John plays songs and plays the part of Kurt of the Von Trapp family. Mrs. Pence's nephew, Vincent Alexander, is cast as Friedrich.

White River Valley Altogether, the weekend has been crammed solid with informal calogie loaded dinner parties. The White River Valley installation at Auburn, besides a well presented talk by C. of C. president Waldo Carlson, featured a real country dinner with all its gustatory goodness—hot fried chicken came in a continuous parade from the kitchen and the mashed potatoes and hot biscuits smothered by thick gravy were strictly not the usual restaurant fare. The buxom waitresses which always seem to grace these "rural" installation dinners did their duty well, even to single out the cameraman for a double ice cream.

Another congenial eating event which was for the ladies only (175 of them) at the Bush Garden Saturday, was in honor of Mrs. (Senator) Henry M. Jackson, and all we can say is that here is a gracious guest who well deserves the raves bestowed by the press since the recent marriage to the onetime bachelor senator.

Cortez JACL's almond orchard bountiful

(This chapter report arrived too late to be included in the Holiday Issue, but we are happy to publish it at this time.—Editor.)

TURLOCK.—Weather plays an important factor in the chapter activities of Cortez JACL as it does no other chapter for it has an almond orchard, which produced well this past year.

Much care and attention are paid by members throughout the year and even though it is the busiest time of the year for most of the farmers to harvest the crop in the fall, it is a project that draws consistent support over the years. Co-chairmen this past year of the orchard project were Kazumi Kajioke and Shizuma Kubo.

(The Pacific Citizen is grateful to the chapter for the copious supply of toasted buttered almonds for the office received through our circulation manager, Mrs. Yuki Kamayatsu.)

The 1963 term began with Kaoru Masuda handing his president's gavel to Saburo Okamura at an installation dinner in Modesto in January. Jerry Enomoto, nat'l 1st v.p., installed the officers and Merced County Superior Court Judge Donald Fretz was the main speaker.

Glenna Morimoto of Livingston, local oratorical contest winner, delivered her speech "Conformity" at the February general meeting. Mrs. George Yuge was in charge of the meeting.

The Cortez JACL perpetual trophy was awarded to Turlock Troop 25 at the local court of honor. The chapter's Troop 32, as its good turn for the community, gathered litter along the roadsides in the area with pick-ups provided by many Cortez JACLers.

The weatherman cooperated May 7 when there were 300 gathered at Hagamen Park for the community picnic. Harry Kajioke was chairman of this event, which is reminiscent of a grand family reunion.

Jim Yamaguchi and Tautomu Sugita were in charge of the annual graduates outing in June at Sea Cliff State Park near Watsonville. The event marks the start of summer vacation for school children. Barry Masuda and Ronald Yoshida were awarded the chapter scholarships.

In September, the chapter contributed chicken teriyaki to the menu of the international benefit dinner, sponsored by the American Field Service Committee, to raise funds to send a local student to a foreign country.

Frank Yoshida and Kiyoshi Yamamoto, co-chairmen of the annual fishing derby at Frank's Tract, were very pleased with the turnout on Nov. 10. Proceeds of the derby will benefit many local organizations.

Bad weather hampered the unusually late and long harvest season this past year, delaying preparations on some of the year-end chapter activities which included an election of 1964 officers and a Christmas party for youngsters.

Crude though this may sound, the fact remains that a substantial portion of every day is spent in filling the stomach. Whether we eat to live or live to eat, this filling-the-stomach process is more enjoyable if the food is well-prepared.

It would seem that convention delegates must eat especially well to be adequately energized. That you may be properly nourished during your stay in Detroit, we venture a few suggestions for "dining out." We concede that food preferences are personal, and we have been advised that any recommendation we may make will, in all probability, be subject to criticism. Forewarned, we continue boldly.

If you prefer, you can stay right at the Sheraton-Cadillac. The Motor Bar, with its English pub setting, offers well-aged beef, tastefully prepared. There's much masculine appeal here.

Not too far from convention headquarters, you will find:

London Chop House. Gourmets attest to its excellent cuisine, consider it Detroit's best restaurant. Headwaiter may suggest perch or duckling, but any selection on the menu would be a tasty treat.

Top of the Fline in the new Michigan Consolidated Gas Company building (a Minoru Yamasaki design). A table by the window offers a spectacular view of the area surrounding the riverfront. Oriental decor provides an appropriate background for the exotic entrees featured on the menu.

Schweizer's, a good German restaurant. Some claim their cheese-cake is unsurpassed.

Sheik Cafe, an unpretentious Arabian restaurant in a house that's a century old. Why not top off the meal with Turkish coffee and baklava?

Mario's, considered by many to serve the best Italian food in the city.

Mexican Gardens, where classic and exotic Mexican dishes are offered.

The Clam Shop, located in an ancient building in an old section of Detroit. Lobster served here is superbly prepared.

New restaurants in new Chinatown. Chefs make the difference in the subtle flavor treats offered at Chung's, Forbidden City, Golden Dragon, New Chinatown Gardens. Slightly separated from Chinatown, there are: Victor Lim's, Hoe Hoe Inn, China Doll.

A half hour drive will take you to many other restaurants.

Have a hankering for Kosher food? You'll find mouth-watering corned beef and cabbage at Boesky's.

Is it elegance you seek? Try the Roostertail or Topinka's Country House.

Do you want something extra? Sneak in the puppet show at the Impresario.

You're bringing the family? We invite you to try Hedge's Wigwam or the Old Colony Pancake House.

This is but a sampling of the many fine establishments in Detroit proper. If you're especially food-conscious, I understand there's a super-special place. It's Satir Land, where you can dine sumptuously on toasted caterpillars, whole monkey, broiled rattlesnake, or buffalo burgers. Sounds like a real dining experience, don't you agree?

Go Detroit in '64!

'63 Christmas Cheer falls short of goal

LOS ANGELES.—The 1963 Christmas Cheer closed its books last week with $2,253 received in cash contributions, and $525 worth of canned goods, staples, toys and gifts, it was announced by Jim Higashi, Cheer chairman.

There were 275 recipients of Japanese ancestry. Although the original $3,000 goal was not met, Higashi said none of the individuals or family groups on the list were left out.

Total expenses came to slightly over 5 pct. of the total donations. The Christmas Cheer account with Sumitomo Bank of California has $96.97 to be applied towards the 1964 campaign.

The campaign is sponsored by the L.A. JACL Coordinating Council with the So. Calif. JACL regional Office assisting. It is the oldest of its kind in the Southland.
