Fulfill These Rights

President Johnson is calling a White House Conference on Civil Rights to be held June 1-2. This conference is a result of his conscientious search for the most effective steps that will "Fulfill These Rights" promised by the 1964 Civil Rights Act. Experience has shown to pass a law is just the beginning. To make it work is yet the greatest job ahead.

We hope JACLers throughout the country have had an opportunity to participate in the many pre-White House conferences. We believe that this is a unique opportunity to be involved and contribute to PROP, 14 RULE the community at a time when a voice of consensus in support of equality is vitally important everywhere.

We believe that when people of goodwill come SEATTLE ACTION together close to home to share facts, hopes, and experiences in the light of the nation's goals, we can make a difference on the side of justice, equality and goodwill. This is especially important now when many people seem to think the job has been finished with passage of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. Apathy abounds in the face of potentially explosive situations in many communities. We dare not observe in silence lest we (Special to the Pacific Citizen) forfeit hard-won gains.

IN SUPPORT OF OUR YOUTH

Of the many quotations about youth in Bartlett's, the lines from Henry David Thoreau's Journal (July 14, 1852) seem most apropos: "The youth gets together his materials to build a bridge to the moon, or, perchance, a palace or temple on the earth, and, at length, the middle-aged man concludes to build a Human Relations: by Phil Hayasaka woodshed with them."

It takes no stretching of imagination to picture the Nisei as middle-aged today for the median age is said to be around 44. And 44 is a good middle—it being the half-way mark to 88, a jubilant occasion among those of Oriental ancestry. It would also assure lic Schools on the growth and students attended Mercer our seeing the year 2000 through and welcome a new

These three schools who urged a quick and uncona surtax to support the youth program. There are also The report states that at the represented 73 pct. of the Ja- ditional withdrawal of Ameriother forms of contributions:

One proposal calls for a separate foundation to Japanese students, representing Rainian Beach (46) and Asia. At the same time, many sustain and expand the current national JACL scholarships. Perhaps, JACLers may have those great commercial firms in which they are employed to con- 1,379 elementary students, 548 high school level attended 5 for more than a decade and tribute to the foundation.

Another proposal might be a junior version of 426 senior high school students JACL's 1000 Club to provide operational funds. We and 6 students in special have no idea of what a youth budget should be, but assuming it is $12,500, a total of 500 persons contributing $25 a year would meet this budget. Ergo, we propose a 500 Club.

That name may be changed, but the principles which evolved the 1000 Club can be applied to support a youth program.

Till a better title comes along, we'll stick with 500 Club as the name for this organization to support our youth program.

Since it took almost 10 years for the 1000 Club to attain its goal of 1,000 active Thousanders-it may take 5 years to reach the active total of 500 Quinque- were enrolled in 4 of Seattle's thorne (54); Columbia (78); centumviri (Q-Men or Q-ers). But 500 Q-ers may queue up quicker than we think because this cause hits closer to home.

Someone adept with raising funds and who is thoroughly familiar with JACL's youth program can Masaoka initiate this quest for 500 Q-ers. At the outset, chapter 1000 Club chairman (if they are not overloaded) can (Continued from Front Page) be enlisted to promote this campaign locally or a 500 University, Masaoka said. They might even charge $25 admission if guests are not Q-ers—and no JACL function has ever charged that much for a single performance to my knowledge. The youth may have other ways to express their gratitude.

Certainly, local 500 Clubbers deserve to be placed on local youth newsletter mailing lists.

There are other possibilities to make this 500 Club unique, lively and thriving. Our youth director Alan Kumamoto (who will be reading of this proposal

Even the middle-aged man would prefer a palace to a woodshed. The lesson is clear. JACL's youth program is now about to bloom. We will hold its 19th biennial seswish it would have a firm base of operation in a 500 sion in late July in San Diego.

At the same time, we do not for one moment minimize the importance of the 1000 Club, which accounts for nearly half of National JACL's operational budget. JACL is still committed to promoting the welfare of Japanese in America generally through public relations, legislation and citizenship training as motivated by JACL's slogan: for better Americans in a greater America.

The opening piece, Yuzo Toyama's Divertimento for Orchestra, intrigues us since its melodies and rhythms are based on Japanese folksongs-and Toyama is reputed as the only composer who can recreate the traditional tones of Japanese music through a symphony orchestra. Toyama, who just turned 35 and a conductor with NHK Symphony, is among a rare breed of musicians—the composer-conductor.

The orchestra, founded in 1926, is the oldest and best known in Japan. Distinguished conductors and soloists from the world over have performed with this group.

PREVIEW—A very hasty (27 hours) business trip to San Diego last week provided little more than a glimpse of the city that will host the upcoming 19th Biennial National JACL Convention, but it was a delightful glimpse. San Diego is probably the only major American city in which the inbound airline passenger, just before touching down at the airport, can peek into the window of a skyscraper restaurant and get an idea as to what's on the menu. It's hairy flying, but convenient to be able to land so close to town. Wish we were going back soon.

The Rev. Nicholas Iyoya of Christ United Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Lloyd Wake of Pine Methodist Church and Yori Wada, Buchanan St. YMCA executive director, endorsed the proposed ordinance in their testimony before Supervisor Leo T. McCarthy and Supervisor Kevin O'Shea.

Wada who represented not only his center, but also the San Francisco JACL, local Nisei Democrats and a Nihonmachi area organization reviewed the history of discrimination against the Japanese, especially prior to World War II.

"We know from our own experience the 'run-around' minority workers encounter in seeking jobs and we feel that this proposed ordinance is necessary to cure this situation," Wada said.

Accent on Youth

HAVE YOU EXPERIENCED A SCOTCH MIST?

During the last weekend, I was anticipating a journey to Northern California. In fact, I was eyeing my Playboy key, hoping to have a view of the newly erected San Francisco Playboy Club, and to have a taste of Scotch Mist. Instead I was greeted in San Francisco late Friday evening, and early Saturday morning by a "mist" the liquid sunshine kind, for which San Francisco is noted.

Upon my arrival before I could say, "Holly Rabbit," I was whisked away in a Datsun sportscar from the airport to NC-WNDYC Chairman Russell Obana's house greeted by his mother and brothers, had a few quips, from David Hara, a money-conscious Interim Youth Council Representative, and finally found myself in the quarters of Mr. and Mrs. George Okada, San Francisco Jr. JACL adviser.

Once thoroughly surrounded by San Franciscans, elative sidelights of your Na- easy course to shoot in the asking pertinent questions about the National Convention and what to discuss Sunday at the NC-WND-YC meeting in Sacramento, we were able to settle a few ideas on what the National Convention would be like as well as discern what the DYC's situation is.

STEERING PNWDYC STYLE

Saturday morning's liquid sunshine didn't daunt my return to the airport nor did it distress the pilot of my aircraft as I flew on to Portland for the PNWDC-DYC meeting, hosted respectively by the Gresham- prices and reservation blanks pants must be registered for Troutdale JACL Chapter, and Portland Jr. JACL in with the list of other facili- the convention ($2 registration cooperation with the PNWDYC.

Once I arrived in Portland, I was hurried over to the home of Harold Iwamoto, the current Portland Jr. JACL president, who was subbing for DYC treasurer Curtis Onchi, in managing the DYC queen contest. All these events were in pre- less the dam breaks, fairly lowing day at the outing at paration for San Diego.

That night, and this is the part where the "steer- and being laid on the old San with water holes, and small ing comes in," we, that is Paul and Pam Tamura and myself, attended the youth banquet and dance at the Portland Memorial Coliseum to hear guest speaker Fiesta en San Diego: Connie Yamaguchi Joe Grant Masaoka, whom you may recall was my traveling companion during last summer's MDC-EDC chapter visitations, explaining the history project and youth program of JACL and to find out who was the PNWDYC queen, bowling winner and talent winner. For there before us was the Memorial Coliseum and the rodeo.

A rodeo was being held in the Memorial Coliseum -the same location as the DYC banquet and dance. And to say the least, we had to steer ourselves around to get into the parking lot, and since the main arena floor and the banquet were on the same level, I no- chapters in the PSWDYC at little money in your budget been winners.
