I was particularly struck by Miss Merilynne Hamano's report on her experiences at the B'nai Brith Youth Convention. It occurred to me that a similar kind of conference, sponsored by the National Jr. JACL, as a project, might be timely. If such is too ambitious, perhaps a district youth council might tackle the idea.

From the Frying Pan

THAT TIME OF YEAR—Labor Day traditionally is the end of summer hereabouts. The resorts close up, and everybody goes home because the kids have to go to school. Out where we live, the public schools began sessions the Monday after Labor Day, and it was a strange sensation to have only one of the brood busily preparing for classes. The others no longer are in public schools.

And it wasn't entirely my fault, either, because I wasn't aware that the county seat had one- in way streets.

Now everyone in the family has a driver's license and come to think of it, I've accompanied each of them to the examination. This is an experience calculated to fray one's nerves: How is he doing? Is he remembering to signal properly? Does he look in the rear-view mirror before changing lanes? Japanese Garden ADDITION TO EVERGREEN CEMETERY

Evergreen Cemetery, which is especially familiar to several generations of the Japanese community, has been rejuvenated through the addition of a new section. This area contains a large and impressive U-shaped mausoleum set in the center of a beautiful, tastefully designed Japanese garden.

The mausoleum containing numerous family vaults is faced with polished black granite. The garden, designed by the distinguished Japanese artist-designer Koichi Kawana, is reminiscent of Japan's finest temple gardens. To enhance the deep spiritual atmosphere which should characterize this final resting place of so many Issei pioneers and their families, Mr. Kawana has used green pines, white sand and traditional rock arrangements. Symbolizing in a striking manner the legendary Elysian mountain a white stone dominates the patio of the mausoleum and is the focal point of the whole garden.

Mr. Kawana, who recently redesigned the entrance area of the Bel-Air Country Club, teaches landscape design as a member of the Art Department Faculty at UCLA. The garden installation was carried out by Henry Nishi of West Los Angeles. Nishi is the owner of K. Nishi & Son which specializes in bonsai and Japanese plants and garden accessories and has been serving the Japanese community for three generations.

Those interested in this section should phone Tosh Ito who is in charge of Japanese American community relations at the Evergreen Cemetery.

Creative talents of Prof. Koichi Kawana, B.S., B.A., M.A., M.F.A., expressed in his fresh new ideas, have earned for him a wide following in Southern California and in enthusiastic growing clientele throughout the Pacific Coast. His work has added beauty and distinction to the Westwood campus of the University of California. A skillful merging of functional design and visual beauty characterizes his style. It is a harmonious combination of the best of East and West, a blending of tradition and innovation. The results are pleasant to the senses.

Both the business and educational communities make heavy demand on his services. At UCLA where he is an Assistant Professor in the Art Department, he gives courses in Environmental Concepts of Landscape design and Japanese Architecture.

Originally employed to assist with the development of the UCLA Master Plan, Prof. Kawana has worked with UCLA's Department of Architect and Engineers assisting with site planning and the preparation of Illustrative materials for buildings, both exterior and interior, and related landscaping.

On the UCLA campus he has been associated in the development of the UCLA Japanese Gardens and the Sunset Canyon Recreation Center. Recent community enterprises include the landscaping for the MSL Industries Building in West Hollywood and the Bel-Air Country Club. He executed the design for Holiday Hills Estates Glendora; and he is Consultant for Gramercy Enterprises in developments throughout Southern California. (Above photo is conception by Prof. Kawana.)

POPULATION SHIFT

The highly respected Congressional Quarterly Service, in its new study of Negro problems being faced by the nation's major ciites, feels the explosive situations are likely to become more and more intense for the foreseeable future rather than diminish.

Key to this conclusion is an exhaustive analysis and projection of continuing Negro population shifts published earlier this year by the Center for Research and Marketing, Peekskill, N.Y. In brief, the center's figures show that Negroes are approaching a numerical majority in many of our largest cities.

JACL's immediate concern for civil rights, thus, is timely instituted for the majority of our chapters are situated in urban areas. The interest of several Dear Fred: chapters in promoting human relations workshops to become better acquainted with their neighbors is the write this letter. I certainly to the editor has corrected simply hands the bartender best step taken to date. Once the chapters have these human relations committees firmly established, it will not be difficult to secure additional participation from other Japanese American groups in the community for this must be the next step.

A breakdown of the center's figures shows that in 1960 only Washington, D.C., among the nation's Ye Editor's Desk in the Aug. District Council. cities of 100,000 or more, had a Negro majority. Three 12 PC. other such cities-Richmond (Va.), Jacksonville (Fla.), I am sorry that my mis- Sumner, Wash. and Birmingham (Ala.)—had a Negro percentage as calculation has embarrassed high as 40 pct.

By 1970, however, according to CRM projections, the rapidly continuing influx of Negroes into the cities vey my sincere apologies to Dear Editor: will give them majorities in Richmond, Gary (Ind.) your District Governor Hiro I am writing to you regard- there is a nice room for such other staff nursing positions available and Compton (Calif.). Ten other cities including Baltimore, St. Louis, Newark (N.J.), Detroit, New Orleans and Trenton (N.J.) will be in the 40 pct. or more Tom Shimasaki. Still another 23 cities including Cleveland, Philadelphia, Chicago and Cincinnati will have popu- case of inversion of figure or and the Sansei. These opinions will be screened in with netlations over 30 pct. Negro.

Neither the U.S. Census Bureau nor any other government agency is believed to have made any such study and the CRM figures are unique in pointing up the fact that Negro migration is accelerating more and more.

As the Congressional Quarterly declares, this continuing trend almost inevitably will further intensify many of the most vexing city problems-erosion of the local tax base, school integration, lack of new housing, flight of industry, huge welfare costs.

"The ultimate result," says the Quarterly report with typical understatement, "could well be more Negro unrest and rioting."

The analysis gives a new sense of urgency in finding solutions to problems which are growing more and more dangerous with each passing day.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICES IN CALIFORNIA

L.A. Times political editor Carl Greenberg has revealed ultra-conservative efforts to unseat at least four justices off the seven-member California Supreme Court in the November elections. The issues swirls around that court's invalidation of Prop. 14 of two years ago, which would have nullified the Rumford Act barring discrimination in the sale or rental of certain housing.

Actually, five justices are on the ballot, two for full 12-year terms and others to fill out the lesser unexpired terms of the judges whom they were appointed to succeed. They are Chief Justice Roger Traynor, Monterey Associate Justices Paul Meek, Louis H. Burke, Stanley Mosk (most recent JACL Convention Banquet speaker) and Marshall McComb.

If Traynor, Peek and Burke, who ruled against No. 14, and Mosk who disqualified himself from participating in the court's decision but is on record in favor of the Rumford Act are removed by a "no" vote in November, the ultra-conservative forces hope Ronald Reagan is elected governor. Then Reagan will be able to appoint successors and claim a controlling Alameda—Chapter bowling tourmajority of the high tribunal.

If those citizens who supported No. 14 (41/2 million) vote against the justices who are against No. 14, they would be out of office next Jan. 2, the ultra-con- Seattle-Human Relations Mtg. servatives explain. This is the year of the Fiery Horse, which comes around every 60 years. According to legend, a baby girl born during the year will grow into woman of violent temper who "devours men alive." Few couples want to take the chance of having such a daughter because Japanese males tend to shy away from marriage with Fiery Horse women. The Ministry of Health and Welfare reports that the monthly birth rate so far has been between 111,000 and 165,-000 or about 70 percent of the
