When 52 Senators voted for cloture and 41 against on Monday, Sept. 19, it marked the end of the civil rights legislative trail for this session of the Congress. As between the two key votes, there was no change except in the alignments of the absentees.

On the Democratic side, Washington's Warren installed as pastor of Sturge Magnuson, who was absent on both occasions, and Oklahoma's Fred Harris, who was absent on Monday, were announced as paired for cloture, with Arizona's ailing Carl Hayden against. Wyoming's Gale McGee, who was absent and was paired with Senator Magnuson on Wednesday, was present, as was Alaska's E. L. Bartlett, who was also absent for the first vote. Both voted for cloture.

On the Republican side, Senators Gordon Allott, who was away, and Peter Dominick, both of Colorado, were paired for cloture, with Kentucky's John Sherman Cooper against.

The landmark 1964 and 1965 bills were passed after cloture was invoked by whopping majorities of 71 to 29 and 70 to 30.

Of interest may be that the 42 Democratic Senators who voted for cloture on Sept. 19 was one more than the previous high, 41 in 1964. On the other hand, only ten Republicans voted for cloture on Sept. 19, compared to 12 five days earlier and 25 on the 1964 bill. There are 33 Republicans in the Senate at the present time.

The "strange implications" referred to above arise from the fact that the U.S.S.R. is alleged to be a classless society and the Soviets take a rather dim and often hostile view of capitalists and their profit

This being the case, it was more than passing strange that the TU-114 airliner that flew into Tokyo last month on a trailbreaking mission had a first class section with seats two-abreast, and a second class with seats three-abreast. Now, such an arrangement certainly is admission by the Soviet that at least in flight there are first and second class citizens, with those able to pay for the privilege being entitled to at least a bit more leg and fanny room. NATIONAL JACL'S JOB A CONTINUING ONE

The Japanese American Citizens League has three stated purposes:

The first of these is to promote and protect the welfare of persons of Japanese ancestry in the United States consistent with our democracy. This includes working to eliminate all discriminations, legal, social and economic, which in any way prevent Americans of Japanese ancestry from realizing their fullest capacities and making their particular contributions to the life of this country.

Secondly, JACL is concerned that Americans of Japanese ancestry fulfill their citizenship obligations to this country and in their respective communities. JACL serves to train its members for leadership and participation in the affairs of the larger community in cooperation with their fellow Americans, and to open up channels whereby such active participation is made possible.

Finally, JACL strives to carry on a continuous program of public relations in behalf of Americans of Japanese ancestry in order that an increasing number of our fellow Americans will be aware of our rightful place in American life.

THAT 72 PER CENT

About three-fourths (72 pct.) of the voters in California believe that an owner has the right to discriminate in the sale or rental of his property, according to The State Poll Survey taken in mid-September.

Don Muchmore, who conducts the State Poll, is a savings and loan executive, a skilled political analyst PRESS COMMENTS: respected by Republicans and Democrats alike.

The copyrighted L.A. Times poll showed an unusually low 6 pt. "don't know" factor, which illustrates the deep-rooted nature of the response. In most measurements of public opinion concerning issues, the "don't know" response is considerable.

As an outgrowth of this belief. California's Rumford Fair Housing Act is opposed by 43 pct. of the electorate (58 pct. Republican; 32 pct. Democratic), and favored by 33 pct. (R-20 pct.; D-43 pct.). The "don't know" factor was 24 pct., indicating many lack knowledge of the Act itself.

In brief, the Fair Housing Act provides:

1-Person who believes he has been unlawfully discriminated in a purchase or rental may seek assistance through the FEPC or file a lawsuit under the Unruh Act.

2-FEPC will investigate complaints, seek an ad- nancially solvent. On the other age. And finally, upon the complaining party and not upon the housing their looks are such as to operator to prove his innocence.

The Rumford Act is not an ogre that homeowners are led to believe it is. Its 15-month record shows more than 75 pct. of all complaints concern apart. San Diego-Jr. JACL Bd Mtg, ment rentals. Only one went to formal hearing. About 2 pct. of the cases involve homeowners. Title 4 of the House-passed but killed in the Senate 1966 civil rights bill barred discrimination in the sale or rental of housing, exempting most individual home sales, owner-occupied apartments and boarding houses of four family units or less. Homeowners who sold directly or through a real estate agent under express written instructions were exempt in the House-passed bill.

It is unfortunate that these fine distinctions were not fully understood at the time the voters pressured the Senate to kill the 1966 civil rights bill. "Open" housing scares homeowners like "fire" in a theater, it seems.

Since the beginning of the 1966 gubernatorial campaign, civil rights has been a major concern. The State Poll found public opinion sharply divided. To the question, "In general, whose stand in the field of civil rights is closer to your own thinking on this subject—Brown's or Reagan's?"

The results: 36 pct. for Brown (R-11 pct.; D-54 pct.); 33 pct. (R--57 pct.: D-16 pct.); and 31 pct. "don't know" (R-32 pct.; D-30 pct.)

Since the Poll noted a correlation of its most recent finding that Reagan leads Brown by a 45-41 percentage, civil rights will be a motivating factor in the election.

It is to this issue that the Nisei Republicans and Japanese American Democrats have been keeping the political pot boiling in the Nisei vernacular press on the matter of restrictive covenants since the Sept. 11 Meet the Press appearance of the two gubernatorial candidates.

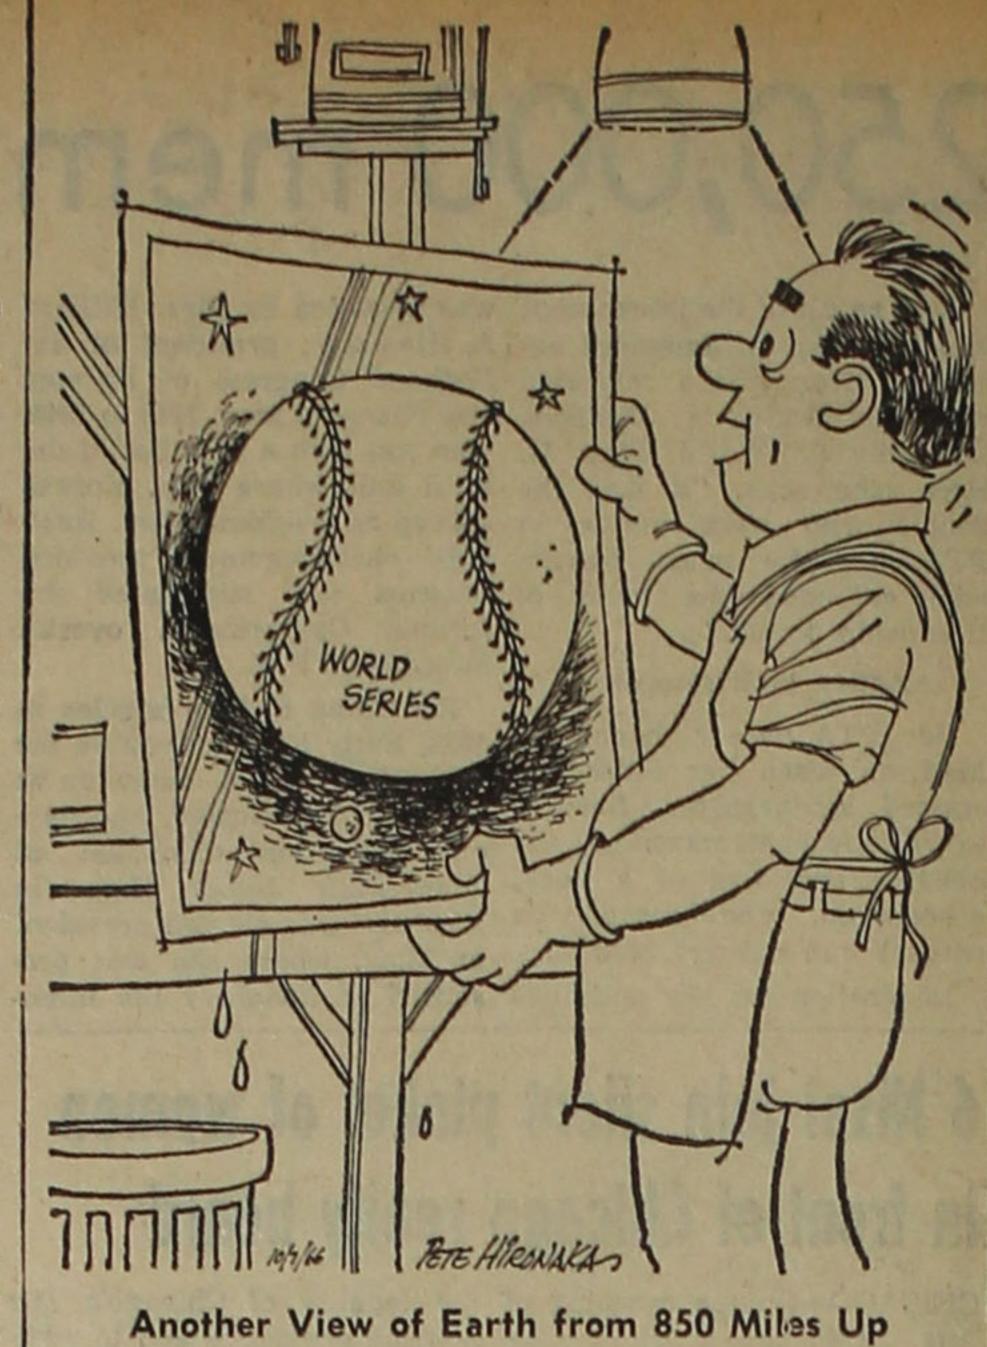

Reagan declared that while he was opposed to those provisions of the Rumford Act which invade individual rights as to disposition of his property he was also opposed all his life to restrictive covenants. The next day, the Democratic State Central Committee countered that Reagan's denunciation was not based on fact—and the issue still fumes with countercharges, explanations and further denunciations.

That Nisei are taking more active part in the campaign is laudable. They, of course, would be performing a greater public service upon their community by engaging in exchanges of other ideas their favorite candidates advocate. Nisei voters still like to hear what other Nisei have to say about their candidates on all issues.

NEXT WEDNESDAY

This being a "normal" year in the National League, nobody is certain about anything. It's quite possible the 1966 World Series slated to begin next Wednesday, Oct. 5, may not start then for it's quite possible at least two of the three leading teams (Dodgers, Pirates and Giants) may finish in a deadheat this weekend.

Only thing certain now is that the Dodgers will go on exhibition in Japan next month and it looms to be the most successful of the U.S.-Japan series to date.

Why Can I Petition for My Parents as "Immediate Relatives."

But not for My Brother? Question: I am a naturalized American citizen, 22 years old, and have filed a petition for my parents to come to the United States. I have also filed a petition for my youngest brother who is only 12 years old. The Consul has told my parents that they can come to the United States right away but that my brother is only eligible for a fifth preference, which is oversubscribed. The Consul says my brother will have to wait until my parents come to the United States and can petition for him. My parents do not want to leave him behind. We do not understand this situation. Can you explain it?

Answer: Unfortunately, the Consul's interpretation of the law is correct. Although the minor children and spouses of preference relatives have the same preference as the principal persons petitioned for, the law-probably because of an oversight by Congress-does not give this privilege to the minor children of "immediate relatives." Your parents can come to the United States as your "immediate relatives," but that privilege will not extend to their son, your brother. Your brother is not one of your "immediate relatives"-they are the spouses, parents and minor unmarried children of citizens-but! a fifth preference relative. Since fifth preference for your nationality is oversubscribed, he will have to wait until your parents come to the United States. Once they have been admitted as permanent residents, they can petition for your brother. In relation to them-that is, as a child of a resident alien-he will be a second preference relative. The second preference is open for all
