A MILE-HI

Into the crisp clear air of Colorado we went last weekend (Nov. 25-26) to visit the good JACLers of the Mountain-Plains District Council. Nisei of the Biennium, now Director of the Denver Human Relations Commission, Min Yasui, was on hand to greet Mas Satow and me. Although a small chapter, there is nothing small about the spirit of the Ft. Lupton JACL. It has been one of the staunchest strongholds in the Mt. Plains area. In that spirit, a very warm welcome was given us by President Sam Koshio, and his members, at a potluck dinner. After some wonderful Nihon meshi, a brief program was held with Okura greeting the group, and Japan Tour.

Welcome, 1968 Members

The Pacific Citizen welcomes the new 1968 JACL member with this week's issue. These are the new members who have joined the JACL, signing up for 1968 in recent weeks.

In the past, members for the new year started their PC subscriptions with the Holiday Issue.

The slight change in policy was sought by the National JACL Membership Committee, which has been urging campaigns to begin as early as October of each year. The PC subscription will continue for 12 months.

U.S. CIVIL RIGHTS COMMISSION REPORT

Washington The latest report of the United States Commission on Civil Rights, based on the testimony of numerous residents of the big cities, seeks to destroy three cliches about Negroes that have gained much currency and done much damage:

• That Negroes are only another in the long series munnty since his arrival 14 El Centro born George Ota of minority groups—the Irish, the Italians, the Jews, years ago and formerly served was named asst. v.p. at Bank even the Japanese Americans—that have migrated two terms on the Board of of America Gardena branch. editor of the New York Hoku- ball teams. • That if Negroes would only try as hard as other minority groups did, they, too, could move out Mrs. Toshi Yamamoto, East down, hosted the Japanese ago. Inouye came to New York ing Day, defeating Garfield ing to chief librarian Willard

The first of these cliches is the hardest to deal with, especially with other racial and nationality minorities. Not only is it standard doctrine that Negroes are like other human beings but only with black skin, but to assert that Negroes are somehow different from Poles, Italians, and Orientals is to invite charges of racism.

Nevertheless, the Civil Rights Commission points relocation camp . . . Don out, the analogy to other minority groups is both Monaco, one of four Demo-"misleading and dangerous." She is head yell leader ghetto or the exceptional ghetto pupil result in a Albert Taira, son of the Tom with a 3.8 grade average, human being capable of playing a useful role in a technological society, he may find advantageous employment available only in non-ghetto communities | where discriminatory practices effectively prevent his migration.

This practical imprisonment of the Negro in the ghetto, this lingering and subtle racial segregation, is at the root of the riots in the opinion of the Commission, just as it is the plain meaning of the evidence so far collected by the President's Commission on Civil Disorders.

A San Francisco Negro is quoted as saying: "Now, what black nationalist groups are telling them (the Negroes) is that 'Look, baby, nobody is going to help you but yourself, and what you had better do, you had better realize that with all the liberals in the world that you still have these conditions that you had when you met these liberals, and until you can do something about it yourself, they will be here'."

That is why the Civil Rights Commission concludes that the most damaging and short-sighted cliche of all is that violence must not be rewarded. Actually, what the Commission seeks is not "rewarding" but "preventing" violence.

"When things blow up in the city," one Negro told the Commission, "people sit back and want to know why, and all the time we're telling you why." These destructive, fruitless, hopeless uprisings themselves are telling us that the Negro is determined to tear down the conditions that surround and imprison him. the walls that contain him, and, as one black militant testified, ". . . if the democratic processes fail, then we will have to do whatever is necessary to make these changes."

To attack these conditions from the outside, to make that attack the nation's first priority, as the Civil Rights Commission recommends, is not rewarding violence. It is preventing violence, and nothing else will do it.

To our mind, this latest Civil Rights Commission report is most perceptive and meaningful.

It is not only destroys the three cliches about Negroes which too many of us may have accepted, but, in the simple eloquence of the Negro himself, it answers many questions which many of us may have asked about the reasons for the riots and the tragic plight of the Negroes.

Entitled "A Time To Listen . . . A Time To Act", the report itself relates "Voices from the ghettos of the Nation's cities" and summarizes the testimonies taken at hearings held in four metropolitan areas, includes San Francisco-Oakland.

From the Frying Pan

Taipei, Taiwan

A MIXED UP PLACE—The reference books tell us that Portuguese sailors sighted a green, mountainous island in the East China Sea in 1590 and named it Ilha Formosa, or Beautiful Island. Its earlier and preferred name is Taiwan, or Terraced Bay, and the island is still beautiful at this time of year in a moist, misty way.

These same books say the aborigines are a brownskinned people, but centuries ago fishermen and farmers from the south China mainland began to settle on the island's fertile western shores. The Dutch built a fort on Taiwan in 1624, but were driven out 38 years later by Koxinga, a pirate-patriot whose father was Chinese and whose mother was Japanese. In 1683 the Manchus added Taiwan to the Chinese empire and Japan took it as part of the spoils after the Sino-Japanese war in 1895. Nationalist China won it back after World War II, and more than a million of them fled to the island after the Communists took over the mainland in 1949.

So much for history. Taiwan's spotted political past has led to some interesting present situations. Take Eddy Hsia, a Shanghai-born Chinese who is on the staff of the Government Information Office. Eddy's father was a Nationalist Army officer. When Ed- Unintentional discrimination dy learned the Communists had killed his father, Eddy figured it was time to get out before Red troops took over the whole country. Around here there are concrete trucks rolling along the roads with their slogans: "Get a load of this" or "Find a need and fill it." There is the diaper service whose trucks exclaim, "what pills", and the girl's college whose students sport bumper stickers proclaiming "practice makes pregnant."

Catchy slogans may mean popularity but there is some question as to what good they do. An immaculate house may mean the owner takes great pride in showing off his possessions, but then again it may mean that there are no kids in the house.

Looking at the various programs in the JACL chapters, it would seem that the most vigorous and enjoyable ones are those that have an active youth program. While the youths may do things that make one wonder if they are going to topple the carefully built house of cards that are the plans of some chapters, the natural vitality of the youths always breathes a bit of life into faltering programs.

Being by nature, anti-establishment, although a part of it, it makes me feel good to see that through some helter-skelter way, the youth program of the JACL is becoming vigorous for, somehow, the great majority of people do things that result in the common good. If you want to take some credit for the Junior JACL you could say, literally, that if it hadn't been for your foresight, they wouldn't have come in- ssei emphasis on education to existence, or did you know long ago, "it's in the bag."

Appropriate therefore for the JACLer is a "A Guide for a Married Man Interested in Youth", which also goes for the female gender as well. And come to think of it for single people too. It was written by Pacific Southwest District Youth Commissioner Kats visor and Mrs. Cassidy; Mr. and Arimoto.

A GUIDE FOR A MARRIED MAN INTERESTED IN YOUTH

There comes a time in a JACLer's life—an opportunity to MAMPITSU: Ken Kuroiwa serve youth. You should take that opportunity. Don't refuse -capitalize on it. Say, "I'll be glad to." You may not know where to begin or how. All you need is the positive attitude -I like youth! Remember you were young once. Recall how you felt in those days. Then put yourself in their shoes in today's happenings. Learn their language, their music, their morals. You will find that they are vastly exciting people with tremendous potentialities, capabilities, and emotions.

For young and old alike as the new terms of office a crazy angle; and to the 9th century; an earthapproaches, let's reminisce back quite a few years to other side the corroded, brok- quake in the fourteenth; an our childhood. Most of you will recall the story of en hulk of a small Japanese Allied bombardment of the the little "Chu Chu" engine that pulled cars filled ship aground on the reef. with animals. CHUMAN'S $2,500,000 ANTE

Poker-loving Frank Chuman has stacked his chips of ideas worth $2,500,000 on the "What Now-JACL?" table. And the call can be met by 25,000 JACLers at $100 a piece. As he beckoned his audience attending the opening session of the Intermountain District Council convention on the Thanksgiving weekend at Salt Lake City, the $100 per member proposal is moderate in the light of the entire picture.

"If some person we loved lay dying, bleeding and wounded and in order to cure or even save his life we were asked to give $100 to help, every one in this Editor: room would gladly give this sum," the past National JACL president surmised. The entire picture is that urgent need to launch twice - once in our Chicago JACL upon a program of action that renders each JACLer and then in the Pamember-participant being a part of a dynamic organi- cific Citizen, Harold Gordon's zation, willing to take a stand publicly that we are reply and Ross Harano's comconcerned with the great domestic problem of Race ments. Relations and as a member of a visible minority we willingly contribute our own time, talent and treasures to help the disadvantaged because "Nisei power" JACL's YJA group, I feel that can deliver them.

The coincidence of history matured in the so-called Chuman $2½-million ante for it was 25 years ago that the Evacuation took place, JACL headquarters were for us. moved to Salk Lake City, and the Intermountain District Council single-handedly pledged and sustained JACL during that great moment of crisis.

It was at Salt Lake City that same Thanksgiving who don't always realize how weekend 25 years ago that the momentous decision to request volunteers to enlist in the Army from relocation centers in the midst of turmoil wrought by Evacuation was wagered. The response resulted in the formation of the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, which wrote a glorious history during World War II, YJA-types, let's start the object for religious reasons. and the pursuit of Nisei in combat intelligence in the Pacific theater.

"We are living . . . beyond our dreams of 25 years ago. Our children are going to the best schools in the country. We and our children are attaining jobs beyond our dreams. In Los Angeles, police are experimenting with 20-ton armored personnel carriers that carry 20 men equipped with machine guns and tear gas launchers. In Cleveland, there is a demand for helicopters. The speculation about guerrilla warfare in the United States even this winter in some cities is considered so serious that measures are now being made to prepare for this possibility.

"JACLers, therefore, must look upon the time in this paper, not once have I ways look a person in the eye which we live as if we too are involved in the war "The network of discrimination against the disadvantaged eating at the very core of our American principles is like a cancerous growth upon the very fabric of our national ideals and national life.

Prejudice, discrimination, indifference, fear, hate, riot, oppression, inequality lies like an ugly gaping wound filled with the strench of hate.

. . . In midst of this, can we as Americans say there is nothing for us or JACL to do?"

Tenor of the times, Nisei capability and the blessings and boon implicit in calling Chuman's $21/2-million ante is the big game for JACL today. Adult-Youth Relationship

San Francisco Hope your Thanksgiving holiday was very enjoyable. Mine was, well, it's a long story. I spent my weekend (Nov. 24-26) in Salt Lake City attending the IDC-IDYC Biennial Convention. The thoroughly enjoyable Ind. Engineer, Midwest. weekend was marred by an unfortunate accident which involved the Sakota family. We heard from Bartender, west Dan Sakota (brother of Lorraine Sakota - IDYC Chairman) that everyone injured was in satisfactory condition and recovering. God speed their recovery.

What relationship should there be between the Jr. and adult chapters of JACL? This is surely a Gen. ofc. Girl, trad. co. (free). 350 puzzling question to answer. However, due to various Hostess, office. (free)... comments offered by both the youth and adults, an opinion should be stated.

Do we have an employer-employee relationship, in which the superior (JACL) tells the subordinate (Jr. JACL) exactly what to do? Or do we have the adultyouth relationship in which things are discussed and aired on an equal level? I would hope that the latter is the answer.

I think that such things as program, purpose and objectives should be left to the discretion of each group.

I would think that the JACL would refrain from imposing its values, goals and purposes upon the Junior group. In all fairness, the youth should listen to and understand the values, goals and purposes of the JACL when forming their ideals. Also in evaluating their program, etc. I would hope the adults would take a look at the youth and perhaps learn something.

In the final analysis, it is the youth who should decide which course they will set sail upon. There should be a constant evaluation process going on in each ties scissored, members who group in order to see that all programs are keeping brought new cars, a new up with the times. I feel the youth should have a house, or specially honored free hand in running their group. The advisers, I'm were similarly fined . . . and sure will see that both sides (adult and youth) are whatever amusing incidents discussed before programs are instituted.

The juniors are young and for the most part inexperienced in the organization and operations area, but they should be given the chance to decide and perform on their own two feet. Sure, we make mistakes, but when we do, it helps us to gain experience and learn. I'm sure there is no person in this world today who is exempt from making mistakes. From my own area and the other District Councils that I have visited, it would seem the youth work well in organizing and operating on their own, if given the chance.

As far as joint activities are concerned, I would hope that the adult group does not use the Juniors for labor only. I have heard this complaint many times and othing is more irritating to the youth than to be contrary. The problem of used just as a source of brawn power. The youth do draft resistance, for example, not mind helping out in times in which manpower is exists primarily because so needed but if this is the only time that the adult organization invites the youth to join in, the youth feel like they are being used. Also, when manpower is being drawn from the youth organization for joint activities, the youth should have a say in this function, and they should be given due regard and recognition
