CONTRA COSTA SLATES CIVIL RIGHTS PANEL

RICHMOND - "What's Ahead in Civil Rights" will be discussed at a Contra Costa JACL-Jr. JACL panel on Feb. 17, at the Youth Memorial Center, 3230 MacDonald Ave., according to Mrs. Chizu Iiyabe from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. To be asked are such questions as: "What's happening n civil rights in terms of school integration, open housing, and employment. What are the chances of a riot in Richmond? What's being done to avert riots? What is the response of the white community?". Panelists include: Mrs. Lucretia Edwards, chair-man, Richmond; Mrs. Savannah Bello, civic leader; Ben Takeshita, state employment department worker; and Irene Takahashi and Leonard Kam, Jr. JACL.

NEW YORK - For punishing a Harlem school pupil by hav-! ing the 6-year-old boy sit most of the morning in a wastepaper basket, the teacher was transferred to another district.

According to the Jan. 27 account by New York Times writer Leonard Buder, a number of parents learned of the incident and complained and among them was a Sansei, Mrs. Suki Ports, who was quoted as saying the teacher should be fired rather than be transferred.

Mrs. Port, a former member of the local school board of District 4 in which the school is situated, revealed another 6-year-old child had been punished by the same teacher by having to wear a sign reading, "I am a baby."

She treats you as an honored guest in a Japanese home.

All airline fares between the U.S. and Japan are the same. But JAL gives you extra value with an added vacation stopover in Honolulu at no extra fare. You can include it on any one of JAL's 13 weekly flights leaving from San Francisco to Tokyo. From Honolulu continue on JAL, which offers you more flights than any other airline from Hawaii to Tokyo. Eastbound from San Francisco, fly Japan Air Lines to London via New York on a "Happi Flight," and relax in a JAL Happi Coat all the way across the Atlantic. Either way, continue on Japan Air Lines around the world.

Fly JAL ... now one of the elite few airlines that flies across the United States and completely around the world. See your travel agent.

We know of a friend that carries no life insurance but does have a lot of fire insurance because he knows where he is going. Except for the fortunate few like my friend, we suspect that most of us wake up some mornings and wonder why in the world are we doing what we are doing.

Of course, we are always lost. We must be the only ones who parked directly in front of Independence Hall in Philadelphia and asked a policeman where it was. It should be realized that the great shock in finding a parking place in any great city is a mitigating factor. Looking at a map of the Philadelphia Chapter's installation dinner-dance which is replete with mention of pikes and turnpikes, we know we could never find 1968 OFFICERS—Heading the San Luis the site. And shades of F. Scott Fitzgerald, the combo Valley JACL as officers for this year that will be there is one that plays for "the main line are (from left): front-George Kunugi, crowd." We wish them great success.

Having heard many speakers and the words of the newly elected officers of various JACL chapters in recent weeks, we are struck by the fact that most people in JACL accept equanimity with active participation in civil rights. This is some progress when only a few repeated at San Luis Valley inaugural years ago, it couldn't even be mentioned. It might well be that the membership is ahead of the JACL officers in their thinking. Of course, leadership has a great drag, the weight of responsibility. To paraphrase Mr. Churchill, they don't intend to preside at affairs that will tear the organization apart. They shouldn't worry, good people produce great leaders.

Alan Kumamoto Accent on Youth

If we were to pull out our crystal balls, place them on a table and look into them, we may find among us many differing images of the JACL Youth Program-Jr. JACL: Its Direction and Future.

Sounding Board

There appears to be quite a number of married people who feel an almost religious obligation to see your name on a de-bachelored decree, namely a marriage license. And although they don't receive any pay or commission for pushing the product, they still do a fantastic job. The last overzealous, volunteer marriage salesman I met told me that with a wife in your life, "every day becomes a new inspiration to be alive and you can't wait for the sun to rise to start the new day." Before making this poetic assessment of "wedded bliss", he took two aspirins and a tranquilizer to get rid of one of his migraine headaches.

Back in Hawaii some seven years ago, I was at a stag party when this middle-aged guy started confiding his personal secret for "married bliss". His secret was to train the wife right: "Good or bad, you gotta hit 'em like a gong once a week." He was very convincing until he glanced at his watch and saw it was past midnight. He had to verify the time with three different watches and the house clock before he hurriedly left with a look of cold fear. Someone explained his sudden departure to me by simply stating, "His wife's the boss."

If you ask a "non-salesman" about marriage, his answer will probably be short and vague, at least that was my experience. One guy said, "It's all right as long as you don't get too involved." Another just told me, "It could be worse."

Well, in any event, there's no way you can foresee how your marriage will turn out except to simply jump in and find out. Guess that's why so many people are still getting married. Thinking about this a bit further, there's quite a bit to be said for the old Japanese custom of arranged marriages (baishakunin). At least you'd know who to blame.

DINNERS THIS PAST WEEK

Community organizations stage their annual dinners about this time of the year and two this past week were unique experiences for this reporter. What one might expect to hear at a JACL dinner, we heard at the Chamber of Commerce affair installing Ken Nakaoka, Gardena city councilman, as its 1968 president. And what seem most germane to a chamber of commerce group, we heard at the Downtown L.A. JACL dinner installing Alfred Hatate, Merit Saving & Loan vice-president, as the chapter president.

Ken Nakaoka, pointing to some of the objectives the chamber as a community organization should consider, suggests "political awareness" be No. 1 this year (and it shouldn't be difficult in a presidential election year) and stressed voter registration. Ken also read a portion of Judge Sakuma's speech reported in the Pacific Citizen he had received earlier in the day for those who might balk at voter registration because jurors are selected from the roll of voters. The California poll appears at this juncture to show that just as 60 and 30 years ago, as historians have shown, so now the racial image of an ethnic group is closely identified with the image of the nation of their derivation. Now, perhaps, the Japanese American image in California is reflected in the image of
