Baker is the son-in-law of the late Minority biggest annual Hospitality Leader Dirksen.

Though long considered a member of the so-called history of such celebrations at Eastern Establishment of the GOP, Scott considers himself as more of a moderate and middle-of-theroader. He said after his rather narrow election that tural displays and dancing. one-third of his support had come from the liberals, another third from the moderates, and the remaining third from the conservatives.

While ideological considerations may have played a part, Capitol Hill observers said that age, experience, and party loyalty played an even greater part. Scott backed Wendell Wilkie for the Republican presidential nomination, then Thomas Dewey, Dwight Eisenhower, and Richard Nixon. He thought that Barry Goldwater's nomination in 1964 was a disaster. Incidentally, he was the Party's National Chairman when New York's Governor Dewey unsuccessfully challenged Harry Truman for the presidency in 1948.

Although he has been a liberal in most matters, such as civil rights, labor, urban problems, economic tween 1-3 p.m. and by Doris progress, etc., he has not yet added his name as a Tsutahara between 7:30-9:30 sponsor to JACL's campaign to repeal Title II of the p.m. . . . Because Pennsylvania is an industrial state, he is considered a protectionist for such manufactures as feature was the Japanese protextiles, steel, footwear, electronics, etc., even though he has voted for general legislation to promote freer trade, such as the Trade Expansion Act of 1962.

Elected by a three-vote margin this January over Nebraska's Roman Hruska to be Minority Whip, or Assistant Leader, he is up for re-election as a Senator next year. He is not expected to have much difficulty in being returned to Washington, though.

When Senator Baker was defeated in his bid to succeed his late father-in-law as the Republican Leader, it was expected that he would become Minority Whip if he so desired.

It did not work out this way, however, as the GOP Senators elected first termer Robert Griffin of Michigan to be Minority Whip by a 23 to 20 margin. In earlier voting, Senators John Tower of Texas and James B. Pearson of Kansas were defeated for this

The 45-year-old Griffin won his fame as co-author while in the House of the Landrum-Griffin anti-labor racketeering bill. He also gained attention when he led the fight received his chemical engilast year to deny Justice Abe Fortas confirmation to neering degree at Minnesota be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Though he considers himself a moderate, his associates in the Congress classify him as a moderate- Nishioki of Sanger, three conservative, slightly to the right of his Minority Leader and considerably to the right of his Michigan colleague, Democrat Philip Hart, who is considered to be one of the leading liberals in the Upper Chamber.

Even though he comes from an industrial state, as does Scott, he has far less sensitivity to urban and minority problems thus far than did his predecessor, pro-labor McNamara.

Incidentally, also like Scott, Griffin has not yet added his name as a co-sponsor to Senator Daniel lished this fall by McGraw-Inquive's hill to abolish the Emergency Detention Law Hill. Inouye's bill to abolish the Emergency Detention Law, Title II of the Internal Security Act of 1950.

Whereas the late Senator Dirksen was an eloquent, showy, versatile, publicized Minority Leader, Scott will probably be a smooth and quiet operator, acting more as the leader of his fellow Republicans than as the uncrowned head of the Senate that his predecessor often somehow managed to suggest from time to time.

He is expected to be President Nixon's legislative lieutenant and, in this way, he may be more effective in handling the Republican Administration's congressional programs. The President should have no difficulties in establishing close working relationships with his two new senatorial lieutenants.

From the standpoint of liberal and moderate Republicans, however, the importance of the Scott-Griffin leadership may be that they now have an entree into the White House that could help keep the Administration's policies and practices on a middle-of-the-road path. A western liberal observed that both of their new leaders represent industrial states with large urban, labor, and ethnic groups "which some in the White House are inclined to write off with their Southernhased strategy".

As for JACL itself, it will mean that new and friendly contacts will have to be developed, since neither Scott nor Griffin have been particularly close to Japanese Americans in their constituencies. With mathematical chances good that the Minority Leader this year may become the Majority Leader in January 1971, since 25 Democratic seats and only nine Republican seats in the Senate are up for election in November 1970, this will be one of the major priorities of the Washington JACL Office.

A REWARDING EXPERIENCE

After being engaged to this post for 16 years, my first invitation to be guest speaker at a chapter function on a Friday night was offered several weeks ago have in operation plans for and I wasn't too sure it ought to be accepted. We could giving the place perpetual Editor: have volunteered a number of reasons to pass on the care. "honors" to someone on the PC Board or even the staff to tell what it takes to get the Pacific Citizen out each week.

Friday night is a "regular" working period. A PC historical landmark. The mon- images created by any soeditor has never addressed a chapter function. The last speech we made was years ago in a speech class. ter who gave their lives in sponsibility of every human Writing speeches is not our line.

But being assured the meeting place closes by 10 p.m. so we can return to work, we finally agreed. In brief, the experience was rewarding.

Though billed as an "informal" talk, we had to Gov. Maurice Britt (winner inject our thoughts on paper, review a textbook on what it takes to organize a speech and then practically read from the text to stay within the allotted time of 30 minutes. That half-hour was to include the question period.

During the question period (the coffee pot was perking and its aroma was filling the room, I knew we were in overtime on the evening program for the speaker), a suggestion was made that PC should increase its circulation by soliciting readers back East and in areas generally not serviced by the Japanese vernaculars. He believed the PC should extend beyond the current 18,000 Japanese American households we now reach. What is the potential, he asked. We surmised about 180,000 households.

The suggestion came from a member who lived back East and felt more Nisei would welcome the PC Editor: If they became acquainted with the publication. Chapters back East might be asked to support such a campaign with National pushing. We now intend to pursue by the Ethnic Concern Comthis proposal for we believe that non-member sub- mittee against Bill Hosokawa's scribers eventually become member-subscribers.

What kind of hours do we keep, you might ask. Let's clear this mystery (as people trying to catch the editor during the day now know) by reporting that we're at our desk around 2 p.m. on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday-staying late enough to have sufficient copy ready for the typesetters the following day. All of our time is not with editing, rewriting, writing or figuring the count for headlines-for we meet the people trying to catch us in the late afternoons, consult with the office staff on administrative problems of the day, and sound out JACL matters with our colleagues across the hall. Some afternoons, especially Saturday, are spent at the shop reading proof and "locking" the type into the page forms. On Sunday night, we spend at leave five hours completing the lock-up process, and reserving Monday for the final touch so the pages can be "rolled" and the "mats" sent to the printers.

The schedule may appear unglamorous, but we love it. The printer's ink affects you that way.

JOINT JACL-JR. JACL BOARD

Relative to the discussion Don Hayashi reports in his Potshot column this week on the proposal for DYC chairmen or youth representives to sit in with "voting rights" on the National JACL Board, it's our belief that Jr. JACL should meet with the JACL board as co-equals—thereby assuring autonomy on both

I think I figured out how this can be implemented without upsetting the JACL Constitution drastically. "Nisei: the Quiet Americans" Both boards should be privileged to sit together in discussions pertaining to matters concerning the general welfare of persons of Japanese ancestry.

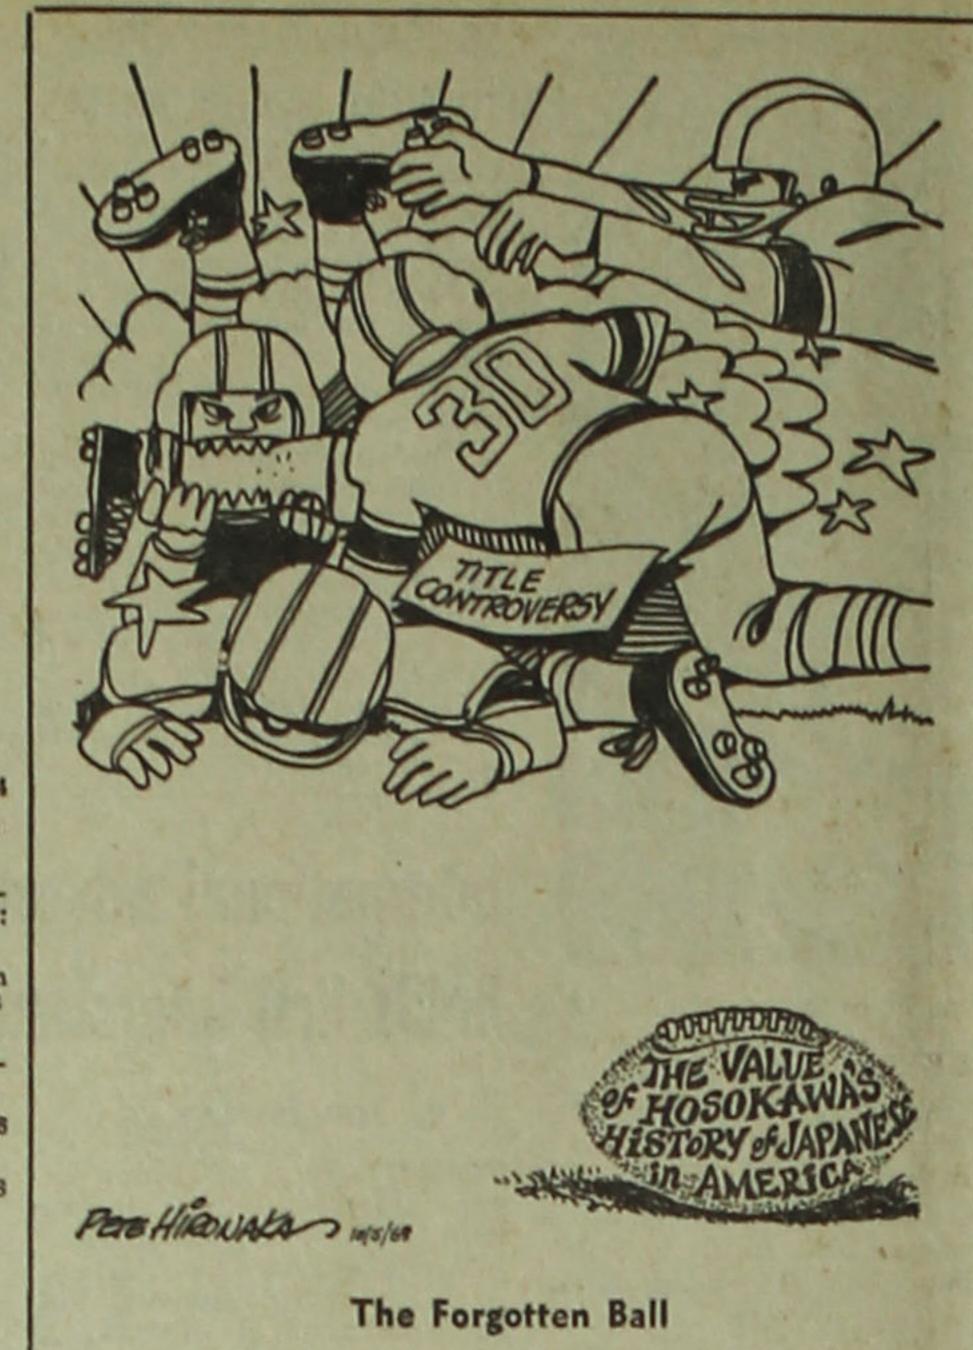

The voting, however, would be conducted separately so that each board retains its identity (a matter the youth would not want to forfeit). There would be a different, apathetic, uncaring, D.C. area are blessed with a vote of the youth board and a vote of the adult boards. Combined, but separately tallied and announced, it would spell the directions JACL and Jr. JACL together are committed. It would preserve the integrity with a bit more equanimity. of both boards in rendering decisions. If there is a generation-value gap on a given issue or proposal, it would show up in a most realistic manner.

Where the youth would not be polled would be in matters of internal JACL policy—though they claim Editor: they have potential interest in the organization. By the same token, adults would not interfere with the youth board in matters strictly internal Jr. JACLthough adults can rightly claim they have fiduciary interests in Jr. JACL. Someone from the national board (perhaps, the president-elect) should be "invited" and be given voting rights on the junior board. What are some of the internal areas where youth would not vote on adult JACL policy and vice-versa? be presently, the majority present in the youths. This may require joint action of the National JACL Council and National Youth Assembly at a national convention to assert. But we would suggest such areas as budget (except for joint programs), membership ous, education-oriented, low strengthening JACL program tort the contributions of mi- sion.
