Title II Repeal

Hopefully, as this Newsletter is read, legislation repealing Title II of the Internal Security Act of 1950 will have been passed by the House of Representatives. As this Newsletter is being written (Friday, June 4), honor graduate Robert Maeda, it is known that the House Rules Committee has of- son of the George Maedas of ficially scheduled Title II legislation on its agenda for Tuesday, June 8. Two bills are to be considered by the Committee that morning. One is HR 234, which would repeal the emergency detention-concentration camp authorization Title II. The other is HR 820, which would in fact revive and reactivate Title II by amending certain provisions of that 21-year-old statute.

HR 234 is sponsored by JACL. It was introduced by Congressman Spark Matsunaga of Hawaii, Chet Schools student beautification before completing his studies seven years, he went to Tu- fore World War II, he wired Holifield of California, Robert Kastenmeier of Wisconsin, and Abner Mikva of Illinois, and is co-sponsored by more than 150 Democrats and Republicans in the HR 820 is opposed by JACL. It was introduced by Chairman Richard Ichord of the House Internal Security Committee and his senior Republican colleague John Ashbrook. As far as is known, no other Congressman has endorsed the bill by co-sponsoring it.

The 38-member House Judiciary Committee unani- tem.) mously reported HR 234, while the nine-member House Internal Security Committee reported HR 820 by only a five to three margin.

Hopefully, the Rules Committee, after hearing from witnesses for and against both bills, will clear HR 234 for floor consideration and vote under an open rule the afternoon of June 8. Hopefully too, the House leadership will schedule HR 234 for later in the week and on June 9, 10 or 11 the House will overwhelmingly approve the Matsunaga repeal measure. If all of the bana International chapter at farmer, he came to the U.S. from Andy, sis Kazue Mori and one above take place, then by the time of this reading Detroit. Title II repeal will be an accomplished fact insofar as the House of Representatives is concerned and the legislative effort will be shifted to the Senate, where a repeal bill introduced by Senator Daniel Inouye of Hawaii and co-sponsored by more than 25 Democrats York before the war at Union 78, distinguished Protestant ed with firebombing the Sanand Republicans is currently pending in its Judiciary Committee.

We are haunted by the events of the past two months in Washington regarding the war in Southeast Asia, for to some and perhaps many the concept of preventive detention may not be unconstitutional, un-American, and a gross violation of accepted judicial safeguards of individual rights.

The fact that Title II could not have been invoked to handle the Washington demonstrations, disruptions, and even violence could be overlooked. Perhaps because there are deplorably few movies these days for general audiences, a large number of families were at the "Tora!" showing we attended. A quick, informal look at the audience indicated no more than 10 per cent was old enough to recall Pearl Harbor Day from personal experience. For the rest, violates the Supreme Court's (birthdate between Jan. 1, 1960 this like Hitler was something that happened in ancient times, and the poignancy of this sad occasion was largest lost on them. It was tragic, for example, to find the younger viewers regarding the attack scenes as just another cowboys-and-Indians action epic. The critics have been less than kind to this movie, and perhaps one reason is that many of them are younger to handle it is drawn by lot people who, lacking the personal experience, are unable to identify with the tragedy that "Tora!" portrays so graphically. Certainly the portrayal of Admiral Yamamoto and his awful premonitions, filmed by a Japanese crew, was superb.

One angle that was ignored was the reaction of the people of Hawaii to the attack on that peaceful Sunday morning. Perhaps it would have only confused audiences to show Japanese exulting in their planes over Hawaii, and others with Japanese faces on the ground fighting back, or rushing to the aid of wounded American servicemen, or lining up to offer their blood, judge has denied several mo- Olympics program, but will all of which happened. WITH ongoing concern regarding the tragic acts perpetrated against the Japanese American people, Dillon Myer, former Director of the WRA, offers his straightforward account of the activities of the Authority under his leadership. Myer reflects on the crucial decision to establish the centers, on policy formation when there were no precedents and no guidelines, on pressures and rumors of the times, in a personal look at what went on during organizational and operational stages of the camps. This inside view of the administrative and policy-making process, of what actually happened in the relocation centers contributes much to the understanding of events of the war years.

APARTHEID POLICY

It's really not news that South Africa's apartheid policy continues to prevail-yet when it happens to a person of Japanese ancestry, in this case a Canadian Nisei minister in Lesotho (once known as Basutoland, about the size of Maryland, an independent black nation surrounded by the Republic of South Africa), it is still newsworthy. But far more important is that the 39-year-old insurance underwriter, who spent two boyhood years in World War II relocation camps, became the first Japanese, American to head a major city on the U.S. mainland.

Daniel Okimoto, a Princeand Harvard educated Nisei, would no doubt regard Mineta's victory as "tokenism." ## LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Letters to the Editor are subject to condensation. Each must be crumbling facades of soonperceives to be yellow on the signed and addressed, though withheld from print upon request

In response to Mr. Ken Hayashi's attack (PC, May 14), let me reassert my purpose in writing the Chiaroscuro column of April 30. My intent was to give JACLers across the country a glimpse into the status and goals of the St. Louis chapter. My analogies to situations elsewhere trate the points relative to Americans. this chapter and should be taken in that context.

My comments related to the "black and white" labels were a result of my experiences as a Japanese American who resided in Houston, Texas a year if you will reread my article in this light, Mr. Hayashi, you, I hope, will see that I used this analogy rationalize the attitude of Japanese Americans there toward the establishment of a JACL chapter. Have you ever been in Texas, Ken? My comments were not "off the cuff" so to speak.

Mr. Hayashi's implication that I spend my time wondering what will happen to the St. Louis chapter is as absurd as the logic that must have been used to arrive at that conclusion. I had raised questions about the difficulties in changing the direction of a chapter from social to community involvement. We, I'm sure, will pursue the shortcomings of existing textbooks with respect to the proper acknowledgment of contributions by the various ethnic groups. am rather disappointed that Mr. Hayashi's so-called critique is the only response to the April 30 article. Let me make it completely clear that I welcome criticism any article which bears my whom I am supervising.

Defense Costs

There is also talk about how the United States spends $600 million a year in Japan on military items, a false implication that we do this to defend Japan. About $200 million of this is for oil for Vietnam and many millions are for items to stock PXs in Vietnam - items the United States buys at such a rakeoff that the Japanese to some degree help subsidize the war

The Japanese are aware that their trade and investment policies have been a sore point with Americans, and they are in the process of speedy liberalizations. But one critical question is whether the anti-Japanese frenzy has been fanned so high that it will be permitted to affect Senate consideration of a treaty to return Okinawa

Ryukyu Reversion

The reversion of the Ryukyu islands (including Okinawa) is a highly emotional issue in Japan. U.S. officials decided on the merits that, 26 years after war's end, the quite get used to Orientals Ryukyus ought to be handed back.
