It's not enough merely to exist. It's not enough to say, "I'm earning enough to live and to support my family. I do my work well. I'm a good father. I'm a good husband.

I'm a good church-goer." That's all very well. But you must do something more. Seek always to do some good somewhere. Every man has to seek in his own way to make his own self and to realize his own true worth.

Although JACL does not speak for all the JAs, its expanding resources, its annua budget of over a quarter of a million dollars, among other things, does repreesnt some influence and power, probably more so than many people think, but not as much as most of us would like.

Whatever differences of philosophy, beliefs, policy and what have you we JAs may have, as a whole, we have been fortunate to have a national organization which has been able to act as a clearinghouse umbrella, intercom as well as a scapegoat for a fairly substantial number of people of Japanese ancestry. The cohesiveness we have been able to foster through JACL has had many advantages other minority groups have commented about because they have experienced the utter frustration and divisiveness fragmentation and internecine conflict can bring about. Collective and unified ac-

ON MEETING COMMUNITY NEEDS-One of the most enlightening and stimulating experiences at the recent JACL Planning Commission was the lively discussion on involvement with the elderly and other Asian American groups.

The upshot of the discussion was that JACL's involvement was too limited. Many cited the special concerns session on elderly Asians at the recently held White House Conference on Aging as a good organizational beginning. On the grass roots level, however, young adults seem to be much more receptive to developing community-action type programs.

To a great extent it appears that local chapters, as a whole, are generally not as involved in such programs as one might suspect. It is of interest to note also that young adults represent a small portion of the membership of most local chapters.

The implications are clear. The Commission felt that if JACL is to serve the interest of the young ter (Apr. 21, PC) sounds very adults, it must provide greater opportunities for community-based activities and programs involving the former representative of the elderly and other Asian Americans.

Sacramento's Issei Health Day is worth noting. Let the Foreign Minister Speak

The editorial comment below appeared April 19 in connection with the Bay Area Community JACL protest (Apr. 21 PC) to the JACL Convention Board invitation to the Foreign Minister of Japan to address the congressional banquet.

By HOWARD M. IMAZEKI Editor, English Section

Although we are sympatheter, we are of the opinion that the majority of the people of this country are now matured enough to distinguish the political thinking of the Japanese Americans and that of the people in Japan. Fresno Should foreign minister of Japan be the main speaker at the congressional banquet at I confronted one of the conthe national convention?

Protests against this choice are now being made by Dave Miura, Chairman of the JACL Ethnic Concerns Committee, and the Bay Area Chapter. Generally the main reason for the protest seems to be that Japanese foreign policy is controlled by the United States whose present imperialistic foreign policy is contrary to the best interests of were: world society.

Yuji Ichioka, member of the lations Committee, said in we do not reject all of America; and in criticizing Japan, for the team. we do not repudiate all Japanese people. To others, identity with American society and American problems (and this does not mean rejection of our Japanese ancestry or heritage) is of equal importance, because it is in American society that our children and their children will have to live and make their way. -Fresno JACL Newsletter
