WHERE THE ACTION IS' (Part III)

It was inevitable that heat generated by the National Board appointment for executive director would foment a lot of smoke and that blurred and prolonged the National Council debate when the new budget came up for adoption. For the first time, the delegates wound up with a deficit budget, perhaps too weary from lack of sleep (par for convention delegates) to try and settle for a balanced financial picture.

The path for David Ushio shall be arduous at best as he assumes command of the administrative helm Editor: next year under this fiscal exigency. When we have to pinch and press under a $100,000 PC operating budget, Dave's will be three times critical under the near $360,000 budget. By explaining what's in this budget to the general membership, it may hopefully ease his burden.

Perhaps it is unfair to dub the $359,687 program a "deficit" budget because only a 50-cent increase in dues was approved along with changing the Endowment Fund portfolio to provide a higher yield, hopefully around $25,000 a year.

If the present 25,000 renew 100% at the new membership rate, a deficit of $32,000 is anticipated (not $25,000 as previously reported) if allocations as authorized were to be expended But JACL (unlike the federal government) can't expend what it doesn't have in the treasury. Even the JACL Reserve Fund isn't the cushion that it once was, since it's practically depleted. By the time the National JACL Board meets in July, 1973, the bulk of the membership dues will have been accounted and the board can determine then where to trim expenditures. On the other hand, the chapter delegates have proximately 85 percent of the promised to take back the message more memberships, regular and 1000 Club, will be needed to sustain the budget next year. Either we acquire about 3,450 more to conceal a sense of anticinew regular members or 1,280 new Thousand Club- pation not unmixed with exbers or a combination thereof to account for the extra $32,000.

While this kind of segregated accounting of the JACL budget dollar is not in the realm of reality, it can be imagined that the $9 membership dues would tous event that may be of gencover what it takes to run the national organization uine historic import. with the PC subscription to each JACL household thrown in. Since PC subscriptions are to be $3.50 per be member from next year, that leaves about $6 for personnel, overhead and other administrative-executive than the quadrennial ritual of ed the political acument to expenses.

What is raised then by the Thousand Club and al power brokers there is a so close to realization. The atyielded from the Endowment Fund, it might be said, covers the remainder of the budget for program purposes including the staffing and maintaining regional issues oriented people, envioffices. Need for Revitalization

War and destruction of the environment are not the only problems facing the American people and their government. We must, for example, revitalize our educational system nationally. California, long regarded as an educational wonderland, has plummeted relative to national standards. If this state were an independent nation, it would be the fifth wealthiest country in the world. Yet classes are so large in our elementary and secondary schools, that California ranks 47th in class size, just ahead of Mississippi and two other progressive states. There are approximately 12,000 unemployed teachers in California this year, but that total could does material abundance avail be erased if we reduced class size by just one pupil in each classroom in the state.

Schools need more money, to be sure. But they also need new ideas, new techniques, new philosophies, and some new people. We can no longer accept an educational system

Hot Time in D.C.

The dust is just now settling as the aftermath of the D.C. national convention comes to the forefront. Opponents and proponents of the outcome are lining up and a flood of information will assault our communities so that they can be informed. As one of the participants, I am preparing to provide my perspective and point-of-view to this forum, but before I do, I would like to explain and convey some unproblems of our urban society related feelings before I partake in this present controversy.

Tokyo, Japan LAND OF OPPORTUNITY? - We were talking about economic opportunity for Nisei and Sansei in Japan, and some of the conversation became interesting enough to report here. The Nisei, of course, are pretty much over the hill as a group so far as new careers go, but Kay Tateishi, night news editor of the Associated Press bureau here, is among those convinced that there's a promising future for Sansei in Japan.

"But," I protested, "not many of them can speak, read or write Japanese."

"Doesn't matter," Kay said. "If they want to come over here with the intention of spending a year in intensive study, they'll become better qualified in that time than most Americans living and working in this country."
