WHERE THE ACTION IS (Concluding Part IV)

As advertised, the 1972 National JACL Convention triumphed as the only one of its kind. Delegates not only met with their congressmen during the week but were able to tour the White House, the Capitol, Supreme Court, Library of Congress, attend a special State Dept. briefing, a reception at the Japanese Embassy, a preview showing of "Executive Order 9066" at the Corcoran Gallery and a reception at the Freer Art Gallery (rated among the top three Oriental museums in the country). But, in our opinion, the most stirring was the memorial service at Arlington National Cemetery on the final day of the convention.

Scholarship

Alameda JACL boosts scholarship awards

High school graduates eligible for the annual Alameda JACL scholarship awards were reminded by Hi Akagi, chapter president, to submit their applications on or before

Akagi said an applicant is eligible if he meets the following requirements: that he is a graduate of June 1972 class, that he is a resident of the City of Alameda, or he or his parents are chapter members, that he is of Japanese ancestry, and that he will enter college in the fall.

The awards this year have been increased to $250 for the first prize, and $150 for second prize.

For the first time since the competition was started 12 years ago, there were no applicants last year, according to Akagi. The 1970 contest ended in a three-way tie among David Mikami, Lenni Terao and Gale Uchiyama.
