JACL's 32nd biennial convention

AND THE WINNER IS—Outgoing JACL President Cressey Nakagawa welcomes Lillian Kimura as the new head of the organization at the Sayonara Banquet Saturday, Aug. 8.

Kimura wins presidency; reorganization resolution defeated for now but will come back retooled . . .

DENVER—Mark this one down in memory. The 32nd JACL Biennial Convention held Aug. 3-8 was crammed with meetings, voting, discussions, arguments, accords, social events, historic occasions and even high drama.

The most significant event of all, perhaps, was the election of Lillian Kimura as president. She is the first woman elected as JACL national president in the history of the organization. She defeated John Saito, 59-50, in a controversial election (See story below) that created stir and buzzing in convention corridors long after the event was over.

It was also a convention in which

JACL's younger members seemed to take their places in greater numbers and express their views. While the torch may not be officially passing, they made their presence known.

More importantly, they, along with members who have seen it all for decades, stood and sat side by side to discuss a number of issues affecting the course of JACL.

Among the most significant issues was a resolution introduced earlier this year by the Select Committee on Organization Structure recommending sweeping changes in JACL's organizational makeup.

After much discussion, the reorganization resolution went down in defeat. But while many objected to much or part of the plan that was intended to give JACL more visibility and a more efficient manner of governing and communicating, it was finally agreed to send it back to the committee for reworking. Then, after taking into consideration some of the objections raised at the convention, the committee will then disseminate the plan again to chapters for consideration.

Mix-up mars election

By GWEN MURANAKA
Assistant editor

DENVER—Controversy and chaos threatened to overshadow the JACL national biennial convention as the results of the presidential election were mixed up in series of balloting snafus. Origin-nally, John Saito was announced the victor by a narrow 55-54 margin to the cheers of supporters largely from the Pacific Southwest District and the stunned amazement of Lillian Kimura supporters on the opposite side of the hall.

The final national council meeting was seemingly over as people thronged to Saito to offer congratulations, delegates went out to lunch, and a reporter from the Japanese wire service Kyodo news approached Saito for an interview. But after a recount, at the request of Kimura supporter Grayce Uyehara and completed in the presence of both candidates and nominations committee members, Sharon Ishii Jordan, nominations committee chair, returned with the revised tally, 59-50 in Kimura's favor.

As some delegates, unaware of the controversy, were already leaving Denver, Saito supporters questioned the new figures and asked that a new vote be MAKING A POINT—John Saito, candidate for president, was a big convention newsmaker when after a long and argued session over election results announced that he would concede in the interest of moving the organization forward.

SAY WHAT?—Dale Ikeda, right, who chaired the resolutions meeting at the convention, listens attentively to a member making a comment. JACL President Cressey Nakagawa, left, was also helping to guide the session, as was David Igasaki.

VOTING—Paul Shinkawa of the Mountain Plains District casts his vote for one of the resolutions.

FAMILY AFFAIR—Joanne Mukai of Contra Costa Chapter and her brother Bill of the Chicago Chapter reunite at convention.

Message to youth:

Empowerment and involvement

By GWEN MURANAKA
Assistant editor

Speaking at the youth sponsored luncheon Aug. 7, Warren Furutani, past president of the L.A. Unified School District board of education and unofficial candidate for L.A. City Council said the future of JACL depends on its youth members. "As the Nisei are getting older, there has got to be a concern in the Japanese American community; who is going to take up the mantle of leadership?"

The luncheon was attended by more than 60 people including representatives of the National Youth Council as well as older JACL members. At the beginning of the program, Joe Takano, national youth representative, urged the audience to take the message of youth empowerment back to the chapters. Trisha Murakawa, former national youth chair and newly elected vice president of public affairs, said, "We must perpetuate the future of the Japanese American community."

Furutani concurred, crediting JACL as a training for future leaders noting his own involvement in the organization as a youth in the 70s but also said the organization needs to move forward. "(JACL) hasn't grown, relative to agenda. The organization will continue on, but what will be lost is the agenda of the Japanese American community."

"Are we reticent about taking on challenges right now, when the blood is red and gooey rather than waiting for 40 years," said Furutani. "JACL can help mentor Asian Pacific Islander groups to work in coalition. You know and I know they still can't tell the difference."

Furutani to run for L.A. Council

Youth side bar—Furutani discusses City Council hopes Speaking to Pacific Citizen, Warren Furutani confirmed that he is planning to run for Los Angeles City Council, although he has not yet officially announced.

Referring to his tenure as L.A. Unified School District board of education president, Furutani said in his campaign, "I definitely will be transferring from quality of education issues to quality of life issues."

Currently the only Japanese American on the board of Peter Ueberroth's Rebuild L.A. program, Furutani said that it is important to also speak out on issues not related to the Japanese American community. "We can't idly stand by. We have to be involved if we are to have a stake in the greater L.A. community."

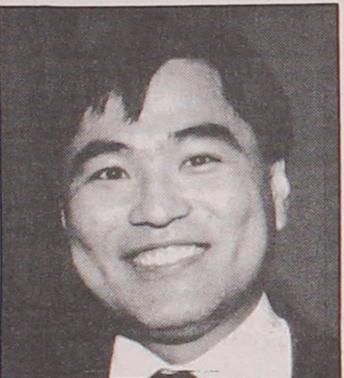

Redress funding bill needs support, staff says

Unfinished business is always part of an agenda. And for the 32nd JACL Biennial Convention, redress, so much a part of the organization's struggle in the past decade or so, is still on the minds of many.

That's because Senate Bill S. 2553, which would provide the additional funding to make payments in the final round of the program, still needs to be passed by Congress.

It was reported by Dennis Hayashi, JACL national director, at the convention that S.2553 recently passed out of the Governmental Affairs Committee where it had been stalled. The national staff issued an action alert at the convention on S. 2553 and its companion H.R. 4551, calling for member support. "These are critical days for both measures," Hayashi said.

The national director was giving the Washington, D.C., report Aug. 3, during the national council sessions, for JACL Washington, D.C., representative Karen Narasaki.

DENNIS HAYASHI
Redress concerns

Hayashi reported that both bills are expected to be voted upon soon. At convention time, H.R. 4551 was in the Judiciary Committee. He said that there were some indications that the bill would be considered and voted upon in that committee (See story below).

In the action alert, Hayashi urged the national council members to call, write or fax their congressmen in support of the two bills and to urge others to do the same.

The additional funding is particularly of concern because there are now many more eligible redress recipients. Paul Suddes, director of the Office of Redress Administration, told the national council Aug. 3 that there were approximately 77,800 confirmed individuals eligible for redress payments, significantly higher than the 60,000 noted in the original 1988 estimate.

Suddes added that the ORA estimates would eventually reach the figure of 80,000. The oversight was attributed to a lack of actuarial data on Japanese Americans.

The ORA director estimated that 12,500 redress checks should go out in October to those born before March, 1935.

At the awards and recognition banquet held the same night, John Dunne, assistant attorney general, Department of Justice, promised complete payment to all those eligible for redress.

Redress amendments passed out of House Judiciary Committee

Washington, D.C.—The House Judiciary Committee passed H.R. 4551, "The Civil Liberties Act Amendments of 1992", on a voice vote Aug. 11. The bill would authorize the additional funding necessary to fulfill the commitment of the Civil Liberties Act of 1988, which provides redress to the Japanese Americans interned in concentration camps during World War II by the U.S. government.

Congressman Barney Frank (D-MA) introduced three amendments. One incorporated the substance of H.R. 4553 which was introduced earlier this year by Congressman Robert Matsui (D-CA) to clarify that payments under the Civil Liberties Act of 1988 are not counted as income when determining veterans pensions.

The second amendment raised the amount of additional authorization from $320 million to $400 million in response to the announcement by the Department of Justice of its final estimate of 80,000 potentially eligible claimants. The final amendment concerned a technical correction requested by the Department of Justice. All three amendments passed on a voice vote.

Congressman Hamilton Fish (R-NY) noted the support of the Administration and the Republican members of the Subcommittee on Administrative Law and Governmental Relations, which had unanimously passed the bill in March. Congressman Don Edwards (D-CA) also voiced his support for the bill.

Dennis Hayashi, JACL national director, stated "We are heartened by the bipartisan support the legislation has received and hope that it will hasten final passage. It is imperative that the government fulfill its promise to redress the wrong committed 50 years ago."

Karen Narasaki, JACL Washington, D.C. Representative, noted that the extraordinary efforts of Congressman Norman Mineta (D-CA) and Robert Matsui (D-CA), as well as the community grassroots efforts led by JACL and the National Coalition for Redress/Reparations, have been instrumental in moving H.R. 4551 through Congress.

"However, we still face many obstacles in getting the final passage. Continued grassroots efforts will be even more crucial as we move into the next lobbying phase," said Narasaki.

DIGNITARY—Ambassador from Japan, Takakazu Kuriyama, spoke on U.S.-Japan relations at the banquet and in a convention seminar session. The ambassador told the audience that America and Japan have much in common and that he anticipated improved relations in the future.

It's the capper, the culmination of nearly a week's worth of debate, discussion, haranguing, hammering, and yes, even fun. Part social, part official, the event brings together JACL members, delegates, dignitaries and friends together for one last hurrah. It's a time for hellos and sayonaras. It's the event that signifies the closing of one biennium, the opening of another.

And the Sayonara Banquet, Saturday night, Aug. 8, provided a full program of awards and acknowledgments, speeches, and, of course, the introduction of the new national officers.

As for honors, JACL presented its most prestigious—the Japanese American of the Biennium—to two outstanding individuals from different backgrounds: Seattle businessman and civic leader Tomio Moriguchi and Olympic figure skating champion Kristi Yamaguchi.

As for dignitaries, the list was impressive: Sen. Daniel Inouye, keynote speaker; Reps. Norman Mineta, Robert Matsui, and Patricia Schroeder; Takakazu Kuriyama, ambassador of Japan; a representative of Colorado Gov. Roy Romer; Denver Mayor Wellington Webb, and a stageful and slateful of brand new JACL officers. It didn't end there, either. Presidential candidate Bill Clinton called to offer his wishes and to make political points. Along the same lines, a letter from President George Bush was read to members.

Here's a roundup of banquet highlights:

Japanese Americans of the Biennium: Frank Sato, past JACL president and chairman of the Biennium Committee, announced that Tomio Moriguchi and Kristi Yamaguchi were recipients of the prestigious award. Moriguchi was honored for his success as a Seattle businessman and for his longtime civic and community work. Yamaguchi was honored for her achievements in figure skating and for serving as a true role model for young people. Her parents, Jim and Carol Yamaguchi, and her grandmother, Kathleen Doi, accepted the award for her.

Keynote speaker: Serving as the principal speaker for the convention, Sen. Daniel Inouye of Hawaii talked about his internment and World War II experiences as a member of the 442nd. Last up on the program, the senator said he noticed the band was ready to perform and had therefore decided against his original talk.

Sayonara, Cressey: Cressey Nakagawa, in his last official speech to members as JACL president, began by thanking members for "all the personal kindnesses in the last four years." The focus of his talk, which in part related to his Japan trip, was the importance of taking risks as future leaders of JACL. He said that JACL has operated on a "survival mode" in the past but it must now take an active leadership role.

Thanks: Acknowledging the Executive Committee and its work, Nakagawa thanked members Priscilla Ouchida, vice president, General Operations; Bill Kaneko, vice president, Planning and Development; Floyd Mori, vice president, Public Affairs; Alan Nishi, vice president, Membership; Tom Nakao, secretary-treasurer; Trisha Murakawa, National Youth Council chair; Joe Takano, National Youth Council representative; and Lillian Kimura, Pacific Citizen chair.

The new board: Rep. Norman Mineta introduced the new JACL officers: Kerry Kaneishi, National Youth Council representative; Kim Nakahara, National Youth Council chair; Jonathan Kaji, secretary/treasurer; Alan Nishi, vice president, Membership; Bill Kaneko, vice president, Public Affairs.

Affairs; Trisha Murakawa, vice president, Planning and Development; Neal Taniguchi, vice president, General Operations; and Lillian Kimura, president.

First words: In her address as the new JACL president, Kimura told the banquet audience that 12 years ago she was the first woman to run for president, and that now she had become the organization's first woman leader.

Kimura then paid tribute to "all the women of JACL" who have provided continued support to the organization over many decades. "They continued to be the backbone of the organization," she said, and then named many of the key women of the past and present.

The new president also commended John Saito for "the true gentleman that he is," making reference to his concession during the election controversy.

Finally, Kimura thanked and presented Cressey Nakagawa with a certificate of appreciation and an original collage for his leadership and service to JACL.

Speaking up: The winners of the Minoru Yasui Oratorical Competition Awards were Emily Durham of the St. Louis Chapter in the high school competition, and Miwa Takanaka, also of St. Louis, in the college competition.

A JOB WELL DONE

Awards banquet

REP. GEORGE MILLER
Co-recipient of Uno award

CHERRY KINOSHITA
Recognition for service

JOSEPH HORIYE
First Masaoka intern

California congressman, Arkansas mayor honored with Uno civil rights award

By RICHARD SUENAGA
Editor

Taking a break from the campaigning, conferencing, electioneering, and speech-making, JACL members and staff took time out for its traditional National JACL Award Banquet Program.

Held Thursday, Aug. 6, the event pays tribute to individuals who in their careers made lasting contributions to the organization or to the Japanese American community.

● The Edison Uno Civil Rights Award—One of JACL's most distinguished went to McGeehee, Ark., Mayor Rosalie Gould and Rep. George Miller (7th District, California).

Gould was honored for her long and dedicated support of the Japanese community. In particular, she was singled out for her support in the restoration of the monument at Rohwer and the monument marker at Jerome, Ark.

Miller, as outgoing JACL national President Cressey Nakagawa said, has been both a friend and supporter of JACL. He has played key roles in the redress bill and its appropriations and recently was instrumental in the passage of the bill making Manzanar a national historic site and the bill that would study other Japanese American landmarks.

● Special award: Bill Hosokawa, Colorado journalist and author who served as toastmaster, began the event by honoring the late Ralph L. Carr who as governor of Colorado from 1939-43 took an unequivocal stand against the unjust attacks against Japanese Americans and others during a time of prejudice and violation of civil rights. A memorial to Gov. Carr will be erected on the east lawn of Denver's capitol building.

● The George Inagaki Chapter Citizenship Award, sponsored by the Venice-Culver Chapter, JACL, goes to chapters for the leadership in social, civic and legislative activities. Winners this year were the Honolulu Chapter, first place, for its program to counter anti-Japanese American sentiment during the 50th anniversary of Pearl Harbor event. The second place award went to the San Jose Chapter for its program of scholarships, for senior citizens, and work in the areas of redress, anti-Asian violence, and the establishment of the Issei Memorial Building.

● Mike Masaoka Congressional Intern-

ship Program—Joseph Horiye was introduced as the first awardee of the program. The award, which honors the name and work of JACL's most prominent advocate, provides $5,000 to the winner and a 15-week internship program with a U.S. senator or congressperson. Horiye will be working in the office of Rep. Norm Mineta.

Presenting the award were Etsu Masaoka, widow of the civil rights leader, and Dr. H. Tom Tamaki, chairman of the program.

Grant Ujifusa, an editor with Readers Digest, was presented with a gift in memory of Mike Masaoka for his leadership in the redress effort.

● Ruby Pin, acknowledging dedicated service to JACL, went to Cherry Kinoshita of Seattle for her work at the local chapter, district and national levels, service on the Pacific Citizen board, membership on the Education Committee, service as national vice president for public affairs, and for chairing the Redress Committee.

● ORA administrators—Assistant Attorney General John Dunne,

RANDY SHIBATA
Praises for convention planners former ORA administrator Bob Bratt, and current ORA head Paul Suddes were all given special awards for their work in the redress payment program.

● Blue Shield health program—recognized for its health plan offered to JACL members.

● Convention work: Randy Shibata, outgoing Mountain Plains District governor, acknowledged the hard work of many members who planned and worked on the convention. Among many, he singled out Emilie Ito of the Mile-Hi Chapter and the Ft. Lupton, Colo., Chapter as a whole for their efforts.

MIX-UP

taken. Rose Ochi, East L.A., JACL chapter member, said, "We are not alleging tampering, however, because the potential for such is there, it raises questions about the integrity of the process." Ochi reiterated that she was not accusing anyone of tampering, but because of the potential divisiveness of the results, an entirely new vote was warranted. Her comments were received with groans from Kimura supporters.

Both camps traded turns at the microphone. Pat Okura, Washington, D.C., JACL chapter, warning about the escalation of accusations, said, "(This is) lending a dark cloud over a very successful convention. All we're doing is hanging a heavy cloud over the next administration."

Explaining what happened, Ishii Jordan said that during the counting process a number of votes were transposed in the wrong column resulting in the miscount. The election chair accepted blame for the mistake and said that the second vote was checked six times with both candidates present.

There was earlier confusion with the voting when 110 ballots came back from 109 delegates. Because of this, the first set of ballots were thrown away unopened and new ballots were distributed by having delegates line up alphabetically by chapter and turn in their voting card in exchange for a ballot.

Cressey Nakagawa, then JACL national president, tried to quell growing disorder by suggesting that both candidates reexamine the ballots, this time checking specifically for tampering. Some delegates noted that an accurate re-vote of the entire National Council was impossible because some delegates had already left, giving their proxies to others, but not indicating which way they voted for president.

Although at one point he asked to also see the envelopes for signs of tampering, John Saito remained largely silent during the debate which enveloped the floor. In a single, quiet move, Saito silenced all debate, stating that he had seen the ballots, accepted the decision and conceded defeat. The issue resolved, the room stood in unison, for the first time since the beginning of the controversy, to honor Saito for his brave, gracious gesture.

Legacy Fund grant proposal awards

JACL awarded the following grants based on the chapter's proposed use for the funds

Philadelphia Chapter

Amount awarded: $1500
Project Chair—Tarynn Yokomizo

In early November of 1992, the Philadelphia Chapter, JACL, will hold an East Coast Conference on anti-Asian violence in conjunction with: the New York Chapter of AALDF (Asian American Legal Defense Fund); Philadelphia's AAU (Asian Americans United); the Philadelphia Chapter of AFSC (American Friends Service Committee); and AASA (Asian American Students Alliance) at the University of Pennsylvania. The two-day conference will highlight the growing incidents of anti-Asian violence and various strategies for responding to the media, law enforcement officials, and the community in the aftermath of such brutality. Keynote speakers will speak on anti-Asian violence topics such as media response, victims' rights, and administration policies regarding hate crimes. The Philadelphia JACL Chapter believes the conference to be at an appropriate time to address the growing problem of anti-Asian violence and to work to find solutions to the problem amidst the media's Japan-bashing campaign and society's xenophobic fears. The conference will help to strengthen local coalitions with other groups involved in fighting against anti-Asian violence.

Contra Costa Chapter

Amount awarded: $1500
Project Chair - Jim Oshima

The Contra Costa Chapter has proposed to assist the Richmond Unified School District (RUSD) in accurately incorporating the Japanese-American experience into its school curriculum. The RUSD is currently restructuring their curriculum to include the study of multicultural contributions to our society. This project will enable the RUSD to incorporate the Japanese-American experience into its curriculum without additional excessive financial burdens by providing the training and the instructional resources and materials to be used by the district. It is the goal of the Contra Costa Chapter to ensure that the history of the Japanese-American wartime experience be incorporated and accurately represented in the RUSD curriculum. The implementation of the Japanese-American wartime experience into the school curriculum will educate society on some of the many contributions Japanese-Americans have made to the United States. Through education, awareness, and understanding, we hope to promote a more positive image of Asian Americans, thus minimizing anti-Asian sentiment and countering the negative impact of Japan-bashing.

Asian Pacific American Network Chapter

Amount awarded: $750
Project Chair—Shari Uyeda

On Oct. 10-11, 1992, the Asian Pacific American Network Chapter will sponsor The Future of the Nikkei Community Conference, the culminating event of the "50-Year Remembrance," a year-long series of events commemorating the Japanese-American internment during World War II. This conference was created to address the present status and future directions the Japanese-American community will take into the 21st-century. The two-day conference will feature a number of workshops (i.e. negative impact of Japan-bashing, increase incidents of anti-Asian violence, inaccurate reflection of Asians in the media, Japanese Americans in politics, etc.) and general participation sessions. One thousand participants nationwide are expected to attend the convention. Conference discussions concerning the future of Japanese-Americans as a community, its organizations, institutions, and residents will provide an opportunity to examine the status of our community, its positive and negatives, its future, and an agenda to empower ourselves as a community to shape our future.

Detroit Chapter

Amount awarded: $750
Project Chair—Ernest Otani

The Detroit Chapter has proposed to establish an educational program available to schools, churches, and civic organizations in the Detroit Metropolitan area to increase the awareness of the human impact of the Japanese-American internment during World War II. The program will consist of a coordinator and a pool of volunteer speakers, each of whom may have personal memories of the wartime internment and could speak on the internment experience at local schools and groups. The objective is to increase the visibility of the historical events as well as to impress upon the American community the human cost of racial hysteria.

Olympia Chapter

Amount awarded: $750
Project Chair—Gordon Yamaguchi, DDS

Opinions

From the frying pan

BILL HOSOKAWA

Insensitivity and discrimination

There was a story in one of our local papers the other day about an unnamed 13-year-old girl who encountered a peculiarly senseless form of discrimination.

She was one of 10 children in a summer study program funded by the National Science Foundation who went to the Martin Marietta laboratories with their adult leaders on a pre-arranged tour. Martin Marietta are the folks who build the rockets that carry intercontinental ballistic missiles and loft satellites into space. When the visitors checked in at the guard shack, this child alone was denied entry.

The reason was that she wasn't a citizen. Although reared in the United States she had been born in Southeast Asia. As a foreign national she was required to present certain documents which she wasn't carrying. So she couldn't visit the plant. That's what the regulations said.

A 13-year-old girl a security risk? Well, said the official, those were the rules and a defense contractor has to abide by the letter of the regulations or face all kinds of terrible penalties.

So nine of the children were allowed to pass through the gate and the 10th, who had escaped from Southeast Asia with adults who sought to give her freedom and opportunity, was placed in a cab and sent home. You couldn't blame her for weeping tears of disappointment. It made her feel only a little better that several days later, after the story made the papers and Martin Marietta thought it over, she was invited back for a special tour.

For a generation of Japanese Americans, this girl's unhappiness carries a special poignancy. They grew up in a time when such rebuffs, for even less worthy reasons, were almost routine.

It may take a bit of prodding after so many years, but older Nisei can tell you about those times when equal opportunity was still a dream. About the only way they entered a plush hotel or country club was through the employees' entrance along with other bus boys and dishwashers.

You could buy a ticket to a movie but you automatically headed for the uppermost rows in the balcony. They had a name for that section and it was not a nice one.

One Nisei I know remembers turning out for the school swimming team and being denied entry to the municipal pool where the team practiced. I know another who went to a pool to pass his Boy Scout life-saving test and was told to go away.

There was a friend of mine whose family name didn't sound Japanese. In fact, it was mistaken frequently for a Caucasian name. When he registered for classes at a state university he received an invitation to visit a "rush" party at a fraternity house. He rang the doorbell and when the brother saw my friend's face he became flustered and apologetic and said it must have been a terrible mistake. Then he closed the door.

There are laws now that are supposed to guarantee these things don't happen. It took time and anguish, and some blood, to pass those laws. It can be argued that the little girl's embarrassment was a bit different. Rules are rules, the official said. Sorry, but it's a national security matter.

As I recall, that's the same thing they said with the same insensitivity 50 years ago, back in 1942. ☐

It's time to educate next generation

JACL President Cressey Nakagawa's constant message has been to uphold the rights that we fought so hard to get and to seek the involvement of the young people in JACL to prevent any eroding of these rights in the future. His message has not been reaching the young people because they are not there to hear him. We, the older members of JACL have not passed the message to our grown-up children.

Perhaps we do not understand the significance of Cressey's message. Perhaps we are very comfortable and feel we deserve to just coast and enjoy the fruits of our long years of labor. Perhaps we see that our well-educated grown-up children are doing fine, engaged in their successful professional lives and providing us with loving grandchildren. So what more do we need since our dreams of 50 years ago in camp have turned into reality?

Should we now be satisfied to just sit back and enjoy the remaining years of the good life? I think not, unless we have passed the message on to the next generation so that they too become involved as we did to make sure that the rights of our children were not violated. I feel that most of us, as older members of JACL have been directing our energies trying to educate people out there and have assumed that our children have acquired the same through osmosis so there is no need to educate them. However, the high percentage of our sons and daughters have not paid any attention to JACL let alone joined as members when they became adults which suggests they are not of like mind. Now is the time before it is too late for all of us to immediately start educating our own grown-up children and encouraging them to become members of JACL so they will carry on and to protect their children's and their grandchildren's right as we did and are doing.

She likes Crichton's 'Rising Sun' book

Thanks to the Pacific Citizen, I was introduced to one of the most enjoyable books I have read in a LONG time—RISING SUN by Michael Crichton. The author excelled in skillfully entwining the extenuating circumstances involving the numerous characters in the novel. The plot was intensified in intrigue. I could hardly wait to turn the pages. My only objection was the fact that two four-lettered words were used to the extent of monotony.

It was obvious that Mr. Crichton spent much time in researching the sentiments, philosophy, psychology and know-how of the Japanese businessman and his role in the business and/or corporate world. I failed to note ANY Japan-bashing or ANY negative views regarding Japan or the Japanese. If more Americans and/or Nisei who are contemplating the Japanese business market would take heed to the data in this book, it would indeed be most beneficial to them.

RISING SUN is a READING MUST. After I finished the book, I felt as though I would personally like to meet the author, Michael Crichton, a feeling I rarely get.

Political 'plantings'

THE OTHER DAY, traveling down highway I-95 toward Wilmington (Delaware), a billboard caught my eye with its terse message. It read "WOO," in large letters, and above it "Your Next Congressman" with the "man" part struck out and scrawled above it the term "person." Yes, S. B. Woo, born in Shanghai, China, immigrated at age 18 to America, Professor of Physics at the University of Delaware, Lt. Governor of Delaware (1985-1989), who made a run for the U.S. Senate in 1990—as a Democrat in a Republican state—was now running for the sole (U.S.) House seat from Delaware. If "S.B." (as he is known) makes it—and he has a good chance—he will be the first Asian American member of the U.S. Congress outside of the State of California. And all of America will be the better for it.

S. B. WOO, who just turned age 55, in addition to obviously being bright (summa cum laude from Georgetown College, Masters and Ph.D from Washington University), brings with him a fine sense of humanity which is topped off with him a fine sense of humanity which is topped off with a delightfully keen sense of humor and refuses to take himself too seriously. (Describing his duties as Lt. Governor: "The Governor of Delaware placed me in charge of the weather.") Obviously, he is a person on a mission, a mission to better our society. The local JACL chapter has had him as a dinner speaker in years past. Beyond that, periodically our paths would cross, oftentimes seated at the same table.

AIDED BY his good wife, Katy, who in her own right is knowledgeable about Delaware's political landscape, S. B. continues to conduct an imaginative campaign. Consider the billboard mentioned above: few words, a stroke through "man" and replaced with "person"—it tells it all, in seconds. And sticks. Instead of blasting the electorate with T.V. ads (which I assume he will be doing some, at least), or haranguing crowds with promises, what does he do? He employed campaign funds to feed the needy elderly! An imaginative move.

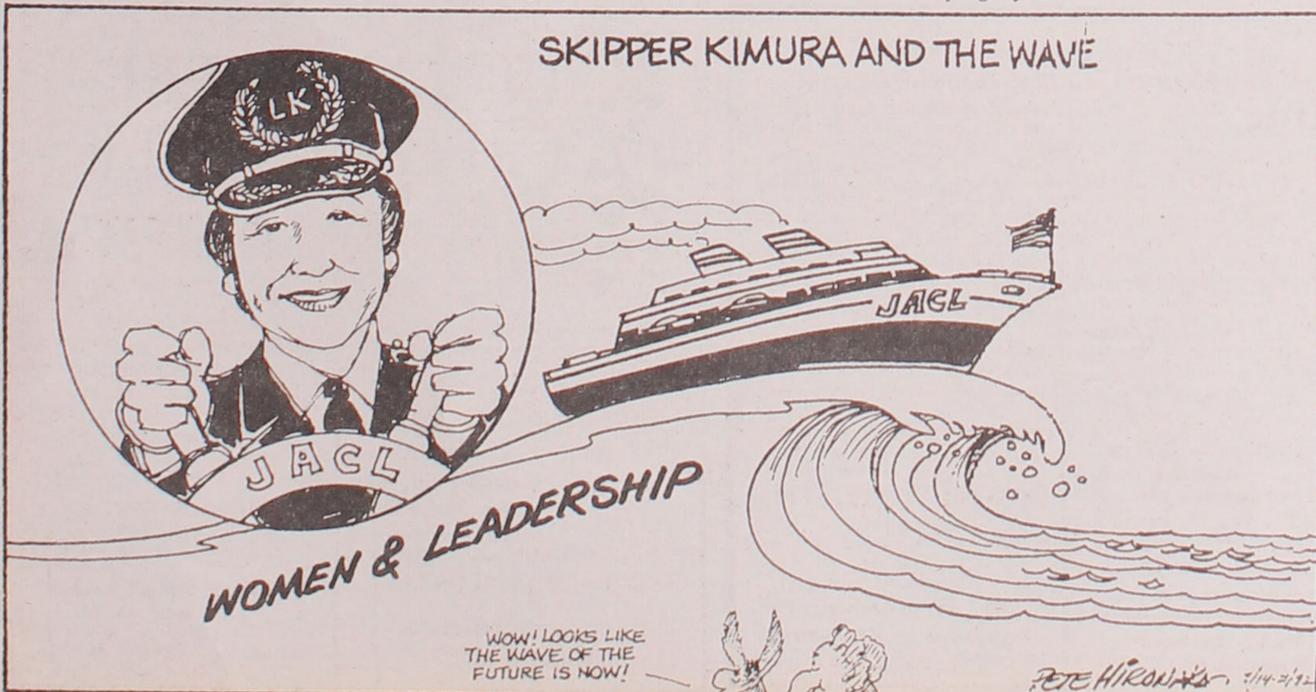

Sure, we contributed to his campaign; we need Americans like that—and that he is an Asian American is a bonus for me, and for my progeny. All our progeny.

WE ALSO CONTRIBUTE to the campaigns of other candidates in other places, such as that of AJAs (American of Japanese ancestry) in California. Whatever transpires within the borders of these United States, should be a concern to citizens wherever they may be; state borders are not insulation against hatred, racism, and such other factors destructive of the fabric of our society. We need all segments of our society represented in all levels of our governance. And that includes no less Asian Americans.

I'VE OFTEN PONDERED what the situation of AJAs would be if we did not have those dedicated, competent AJAs in the U.S. Congress; what remedial legislation would never have been realized; how their very presence and actions have raised the quality of our respective lives. And then I look decades ahead to the future to see what new "political plantings" have been effected so that the continuum of Asian American elected leaders on the national scene will not be lost. And so when I learn of an AJA running for the California State Assembly, or another running for the U.S. Congress out of Orange County, we provide a (modest) amount of that all-important element needed to run any political campaign: money.

It's the least we can do. For the future of our progeny. ☐

WOW! LOOKS LIKE THE WAVE OF THE FUTURE IS NOW!

Defense Nakagawa's trip to Japan

I've been following with interest Cressey Nakagawa's address to the U.S.-Japan Parliamentary League, his interviewers in the Japan times, Nakagawa's editorial in Pacific Citizen, and the numerous subsequent criticisms of his address. We have in Nakagawa one who has taken a stand as a Japanese American against the powerful nation of Japan. This is the same nation that not too long ago caused us to question our identity through no fault of our own. That nation caused us to deny our identity, some through quiet compliance or submission, some through serving our nation in the military and some even giving their last full measure of devotion for our country. Isn't it about time that someone assert the identity of the Japanese American! That we are unique Americans not to be banded about by Japan. The Japan who has always considered us second class Japanese. It doesn't matter if the print of issue is the "comfort women" issue, which Japan admits is true, nor does it matter whether JACL is involved or not. I personally hope JACL has the guts to support Nakagawa. I am proud of my Japanese ancestry and laud Nakagawa for finally voicing the identity of we Americans of Japanese ancestry.

I teach a course: "Understanding Japan" on introductory language and Japanese culture. Sponsored by the South Bay JACL. I love Japan's history, art & literature. We JA's have wonderful roots but this does not preclude our not being treated with due respect and dignity simply because we are Americans.

Some Japan members not upset

Regarding your Guest Editorials, John Yanagisawa states, "Third, The Japan Chapter has every right to be upset."

On behalf of those who are more calm and understanding of the inequities of the JACL organization system and of the Japanese American character traits, I wish to clarify that there are many members of the Japan Chapter that wishes to say that "we are not upset" and that "we do not wish to be classified" along with those who wish to discuss character traits instead of facts about improving the JACL organization.

JACL is in a transition. The Board of Directors has a responsibility to its members. The entire system needs to be involved in policies that affect its members.

Prejudice about another person's personality should be kept separate from the JACL organization issue, or can it for Japanese Americans?

We hope that history will not repeat itself at the Denver convention.

travesty of the internment camps, the Olympia Chapter has proposed to print 1,000 copies of "This Was Minidoka," a book of Minidoka memoirs in Japanese and English, co-authored by internees Jack and Dorothy Yamaguchi. Also accompanying the book is the videotape "This Was Minidoka." Copies will be provided for local libraries and schools, while proceeds from the sales of books and videotapes will be used for the express purpose of furthering the education process on the wartime relocation camps.

Seattle Chapter

Amount awarded: $750
Project Chair—Joy Misako St. Germain

The Seattle Chapter will hold an 8-week seminar series, 2 hours on consecutive Friday evenings, offered to JACL members and the community at large. There will be an opening and closing session to the seminar series and each of the six sessions will cover a different topic that is related to one of the "Program For Action" goals. There are many goals of this program: to educate the JACL membership and general community about the importance of securing and upholding civil and human rights for all people; to provide an opportunity for JACL members to get together in a social setting and share visions for the future of JACL and our world; to discuss and pursue the next steps in redress and reparations of the injustices of wartime internment of Americans of Japanese ancestry; to provide opportunities to the community and members of JACL to learn about cultural heritage activities; and many more.

Selanaco Chapter

Amount awarded: $750
Project Chair—B.J. Watanabe

The Selanaco Chapter has chosen "Chibi-no-Gakko" ("Children's School") to be their project. "Chibi-no-Gakko" will be a 2-week, 8-day program for Japanese-American children, ages first grade and older. The goal of this program is to go beyond being an arts & crafts class, and instead concentrate on what it means to be a Japanese American today. Not only will "Chibi-no-Gakko" help to preserve cultural heritage and values of Japanese-Americans but parents will also be exposed to JACL and its importance to the Japanese-American community.

Chicago Chapter

Amount awarded: $500
Project Chair—Joy Yamasaki & Chiye Tomihiro

The Chicago Chapter has proposed the project of revising, expanding, and updating a redress audio slide show. In addition to the subject of redress, the audio slide show will be expanded to include more Asian American history, as well as discrimination and violence against Asian Americans. The new and improved audio slide show will be a valuable resource in schools and by speakers discussing the internment experience, Japan-bashing, anti-Asian violence, or any such related topic.

San Mateo Chapter

Amount awarded: $500
Project Chair—Karyl Matsumoto

As a means to counter Japan-bashing and anti-Asian violence, the San Mateo Chapter proposes to publish and distribute a new pamphlet on the services and programs of the San Mateo community center. The purpose of the pamphlet is to increase general community awareness of Japanese Americans and the San Mateo Center's role as a clearing house for problems affecting the Asian community. In today's changing times and differing needs of 4 generations of people, the pamphlet needs to be updated in order to fulfill the needs of Japanese Americans and increase public awareness.

Convention short takes

Tuesday Night Mixer — Not forgetting the successful "Rope 'em In" reception staged at the previous JACL Tri-District Convention, the Mile-Hi chapter repeated before a hall full of delegates from across the U.S. and Japan on Tuesday (Aug. 5). Delegates were unanimous in their praise of the tasty Western-style chow of barbecued beef rib, corn-on-the-cob (donated by Sakata Farms) plus the trimmings and prizes barbecue. Tom Masamori emceed the evening with welcoming remarks from Steve Newman (who succeeded the late Min Yasui, executive director of the county human relations commission), chapter and convention board leaders, Mountains Plains area chapter presidents and Tom Migaki, reception committee chair. Instructions to country dancing followed the buffet dinner. Marki Saiki gave instructions.

Golf Tournament — The team representing the Pacific Northwest (Bob Sato and Bob Mizukami) won the 3rd biennial convention golf tournament. Mountain Plains (Russell Matsunami, Omaha, and Mas Yamazaki, Houston) and Denver (Jim Imsatani and Jim Kanemoto) followed. Overall trophies were won by Patrick Cornwell, Haru Yamamoto (Denver), Mas Yamasaki (Houston). Plum Creek Golf Course winners Joe Maruyama, Denver; Patrick Cornwell, Union City; Roy Kodakari, Foster City, Calif. Arrowhead Golf Course — Howard Kiyota, Denver, David Hayashi, Minneapolis; and Cornwall.

Whing Ding — Eight new 1000 Club members joined during the Monday night whing ding, successfully presented with the Denver Nikkei Singles headed by Jim Hada, a past Mile-Hi JACL president. Tom Masamori entertained with songs that frolickers remembered while Bob Sakaguchi led the line dance. Diskjockey Herbert Okamoto, now retired in Denver, supplied the music.

Mari Sabusawa Michener, Philadelphia 1000 Club Life member and past MDC governor, helped recruit Kaye Uyeda Patterson of San Francisco to join. Incidentally, Mari was the first woman elected to the National Board in the late 1940s, the first woman chapter president in Chicago and the first woman district governor in the Midwest.

Oldtimers from Marysville, Chiyo and George Nakagawa promptly gave their $1,000 checks, which Headquarters will soon follow with credentials. Others joining at the special $500 Life trust rate include June Yoshioka, Eden Township; Gail Tanaka and Ayako Okubo Heard, both of Seattle; Etsu Masaoka of Washington and Misako Honda of San Gabriel Valley.

Getting reacquainted with everyone at this first night of the convention were President Cressey Nakagawa, Mas Hironaka (wearing his PSW 1000 Club jacket), Ron Shiozaki from Gardena, Sat Nakahira from Milwaukee, Hid Hasegawa of Idaho Falls, the Japan chapter co-founder Barry Saiki now in Stockton, Alice and Bill Hosokawa of Denver, Lily and Pat Okura of Washington, Micki and Harry Honda from San Gabriel Valley; Randy Shibata of Albuquerque, Lily and Masa Yamasaki of Houston, Fuzzy Hisamoto of Denver, Ruth Yamauchi of Denver, and the two candidates for National JACL president — John Saito of East L.A. and Lillian Kimura. — By Dr. Frank Sakamoto, 1000 Club chair, Chicago.

Three all-day tours popular Take it from the San Jose sisters, Helen Mineta and Etsu Masaoka, their all-day tours arranged by the Mile-Hi Convention Committee were "wonderful and exciting and a lot of fun." On Tuesday, they and others on the chartered bus covered the Rocky Mountain National Park where the highway peaked at 12,175 feet above sea-level (enough to make one light-headed). For lunch it was a huge hamburger sandwich plate at the Stanley Hotel, where a "Stanley Steamer" sits in the lobby. (At the Continental Divide, they lost their "cool" almost to see an old passenger van parked nearby with "NORM" painted above the cab — that could have doubled for their brother's campaign wagon.)

The next day, it was to Vail, about 100 miles west, into picturesque country that reminded Etsu of the time she and her late husband, Mike, visited Switzerland.

The third day, down to Colorado Springs and the vast spread of the U.S. Air Force Academy — and it was unlike scaling the mountain passes going over 11,000 ft. the first two days. "We were glad to have spent a third day — seeing as much of Colorado as possible within a day's ride to and from the convention," Helen said.

Helen said she was headed the Saturday morning for the free Coors Brewery tour. Bad scheduling, however, with all their shops necessitated a last-minute cancellation.

A veteran conventioner later observed that the 32nd Biennial may well set a trend in JACL national conventions where the oldtimers can gather in reunion fashion, spending the day relaxing or touring the countryside while the official business is being conducted by the younger members as well over 60% here were attending for the first, second or third time as delegates. Mt. Olympus JACLers staging the 33rd Biennial in Salt Lake City at the downtown Marriott Hotel opposite the Mormon Temple in August 1994 have taken this under advisement.

Colorado convention booklet is first rate

By HARRY K. HONDA
Editor emeritus

"JACL Solid as the Rockies," a 64-page booklet for conventioners, turns out to be a first-class status report of the Japanese American Citizens League as it convened for its 32nd biennial national convention in Denver, Aug. 4-8, at the Sheraton DTC Hotel.

President George Bush, in a message to the convention, recognized the achievements and contributions that JACLers have made. He shared the sense of satisfaction over the Civil Liberties Act of 1988, and said "the granting of reparations marked an important milestone for our country as we reaffirmed America's promise of liberty and justice for all."

A new feature for a convention booklet are statements from 12 upcoming JACL chapter leaders in the "Movers & Shakers" segment. Responding two questions,

(1) Why did you join and why do you participate in JACL? (2) What do you feel is the most pressing challenge facing Americans of Japanese ancestry in the next decade? were:

Larry W. Grant, 41, Salt Lake JACL president; Carol Kawamoto, San Diego JACL, Pacific Southwest District governor; Calvin

Kobayashi, 40, New Mexico JACL president; Elisa Kamimoto, Fresno JACL vice-president; Sharon Ishii-Jordan, 37, Omaha JACL, incoming Midwest District Governor, August 1992; Joy Yamasaki, 37, Chicago JACL, v.p. of human/civil rights; Tom Nakao Jr., 39, Cleveland JACL national JACL secretary-treasurer and 4-term chapter president; Emilie H. Ito, 27, Mile-Hi JACL chapter president ('90-'91); Teresa Maebori, 46, Philadelphia JACL past chapter president, past Eastern District governor; Neil Yoshio Sugimoto, 39, High Desert JACL president; David Mas Masumoto, 37, Fresno JACL, Central California District publicity/p.r. officer; and Kimberlee Tachiki, 28, Asian Pacific American Network past president and Pacific Southwest District youth representative.

Greetings from Colorado Roy Romer, Denver Mayor Wellington Webbs as well as the two U.S. Senators from Colorado, Timothy E. Wirth and Hank Brown and U.S. Congressmen Dan Schaefer, 6th District; Wayne Allard, 4th District, round out the messages from the political world.

On exhibit was a 1946 convention photo of delegates along with other historic photographs of "The Japanese in Colorado" from the Tom Masamori Collection.

A copy of the book is $5 plus postage ($2.40 first class priority in the U.S.). Write to the Mile-Hi JACL, P.O. Box 480682 TA, Denver, CO 80248-0682.

Tsukamoto wins Onizuka award

Mary Tsuruko Tsukamoto of Elk Grove, Calif., and a longtime member of the Florin Chapter, JACL, was honored with the National Education Association's Ellison S. Onizuka Memorial Award at the organization's annual human and civil rights awards banquet in Washington, D.C., July 6.

Tsukamoto was recognized for her leadership in resolving social problems relating to Asian and Pacific Islander Americans. A retired educator, she is a nationally recognized writer, activist and speaker. Tsukamoto is co-author of "We the People: A Story of Internment in America," an account of the Japanese American experience during World War II.

The honoree was also one of the grassroots organizers of the redress effort that resulted in the Civil Liberties Act of 1988. She organized a two-week remembrance of the internment for her community and helped develop the Smithsonian Institution's exhibit, "A More Perfect Union: The Japanese Americans and the United States Constitution."

Kyoto: Worth all the time in the world

by TYLER TANAKA

The last century witnessed cities sinking slowly into a morass of grey sameness. It became difficult to describe architectural differences between Singapore and Frankfurt, or Tokyo and New York. It is fortunate for the world that there are exceptions.

for tourism may not be cities which play a vital role in world politics or commerce. There are interesting giants such as Munich, Paris, Hong Kong, Rome, the real treasures are much smaller cities like Salzburg, Florence, Queenstown and others. Kyoto is prominent in this latter group.

I returned to Kyoto in April, just in time for Cherry Blossoms. The fragile, delicate beauty this city makes it a perfect setting for many scenes which epitomize all of Japan, from the weeping willow Cherry tree laden with blossoms to the hundreds of temples, shrines, and palaces. Nothing matches the picturesque three hundred year old narrow residential streets just off the main thoroughfares. The mountain walking paths are lined by giant cypress trees, whose branches form a canopy high overhead filtering the bright sun though its green foliage. It is truly a city that I love to return to over and over.

Besides endlessly discovering new physical charms there is another aspect of the city which attracts visitors. The citizens of Kyoto retain the courtesies of a much earlier era of Japan. They are friendly, helpful, and considerate. I never will forget the experience of one American couple who found themselves caught in a sudden down pour of rain. Huddled in a doorway, a young girl came walking by with an umbrella. When she saw the couple's plight, she came up and handed them her umbrella. Before they could say "thanks", she was away in the rain.

Stories like this are not unusual in Kyoto. Even cab drivers are nice. About what other city in the world could this statement be made?

There are many hotels in Kyoto. It is as fun a destination for people from other parts of Japan as it is for foreigners. The original Miyako Hotel is known throughout the world. It was built before WWII, but it has been regularly refurbished and new wings have been added. The hotel is on a large plot of land which has been cultivated into a lovely garden. Facing the garden is the Japanese inn style wing of the hotel. This is definitely a top class hotel.

Other hotels favored by foreign visitors are the ANA Hotel Kyoto, the Tokyu and the Kyoto Grand. Of these, my favorite is the Kyoto Grand. It is always a pleasure to see the welcoming smile of Takashi Sakaki, Director of Room Division, and to renew my friendship which spans more than two decades with Hiroshi Tomozawa, the personable Director and Manager. The location of this hotel is exceedingly convenient. But most importantly, the efficient, yet friendly, professional service provided by the hotel's excellent staff is outstanding.

If you wish to have the ultimate experience, try staying at a Japanese Inn. Two of the most famous in Kyoto are the Tawaraya and the Hiiragiya. Both are for the rich and famous. The cost per person per night can exceed $400 USD. This includes, of course, dinner and breakfast. I stayed at the Hiiragiya once. It was a great experience. I recommend that you give yourself this treat.

There are many organized sightseeing tours of the city or neighboring destinations such as Nara, Ise Grand Shrine, White Heron Castle, and the Takarazuka All Girl Revue. And, during certain seasons, special events, like the Miyako Odori or outdoor spectacular festivals, are in progress. There is much to do and see. Few visitors allow sufficient number of days in Kyoto to really enjoy all that the city has to offer. One can easily invest an entire two week vacation and still go away wishing you could have stayed longer.
