July 1970
Vol. VIII, No. 7

REGULAR CHAPTER MEETING SET FOR JULY 22 ONE WEEK LATER THAN USUAL

Chapter president Don Kazama moved the regular membership meeting to Wednesday, July 22 at the JACL office, exactly one week later than usual to avoid conflict in date with the 21st biennial National JACL Convention slated July 15-18 in Chicago. Kazama will be heading the delegation to Chicago uninstructed. Kazama invites Chapter members to express their opinions on different issues by calling him at his home (PA 5-3472) till July 14. You may still write to him c/o Palmer House, 17 East Monroe, Chicago in time for the convention.

Budget request to the National Planning Commission to open Pacific Northwest District JACL office in Seattle will be introduced by Tak Kubota, PNWDC governor. Kazama will also request in behalf of the Seattle Chapter special fund for Issei-Nisei living history project. The Northwest District Chapters will be pulling out all the political know-how to win the election for Don Hayashi, candidate from Portland for National Vice-President post.

A quick tally taken during June meeting resulted in the unanimous approval to make the Civil Rights Program separate arm of the JACL something along the line of Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. Question on withdrawal of American troops from Southeast Asia won out by 10-8 votes amid drawn battle lines and noisy discussion. The question was raised on the propriety of bringing up this type of question when so many other problems remain unsolved in the community such as inadequate police protection. "The vote is inconclusive," was one comment.

President Kazama announced the appointment of Tom S. Iwata as nomination chairman. Helen Akita is the chairman of newly created Issei Concerns Committee. New board members are Andy Goto, mutual funds broker; Robert Ashley, president of Save Our Ships, Inc.; and Barbara Yoshida, social worker and recent recipient of JACL-JAL scholarship to Sophia University in Tokyo.

President Kazama will be back in time for the July 22 Chapter meeting and he should be able to portray his impression and thought and the direction the JACL is moving. The meeting starts at 7:45 p.m. at the JACL office on Wednesday, July 22. Everyone is encouraged to attend including friends and guests of the Seattle Chapter.

ASIAN- AMERICAN TEEN DROP-IN CENTER

The JACL is again sponsoring an Asian-American Teen Drop-In Center under the Mayor's Youth Division Summer Programs. A UW work-study student, Ruthann Kurose, is directing this year's activities which will provide recreational opportunities for the Jr. and Sr. high age group. Some equipment has been borrowed from the Park Department and a small budget is provided for activities. However, because it was necessary to rent a small office (2410 Beacon Avenue South), a request is being made to all members of the community for monetary donations to help defray expenses of rent, utilities, and other activities. Please send contributions to: JACL Teen Drop-In Center c/o JACL, 526 South Jackson Street, Seattle 98104.

Activities will include traditional recreational activities and group discussions on the role of Asian-Americans in America. Adults are invited to drop in and participate.

Miyo Kaneta and Dr. Joe Okimoto are co-chairmen of this Youth Concerns activity.

FROM THE DISTRICT COUNCIL DESK

By Tak Kubota, PNWDC Governor

It seems that the time is appropriate that I should as District Governor share some of my views thru the Chapter news media which, incidentally, is one of the finest in our national organization. It is, however, regrettable that so few recognize the time, energy, and effort which goes into a publication of this kind. The hard-work and dedication of its news editor has not fully been acknowledged, recognized, and appreciated, particularly, among the very individuals who really should appreciate his efforts. Writing an occasional column presents no real problem but when you must be responsible to fit in all the news and meeting deadlines month after month on a strictly voluntary basis is a different matter. The newsletter has been the eyes and ears of the Chapter and community activities. It has been responsible for the communication between the chapter, its membership as well as the community and has contributed over the years to its orderly growth. No matter how good an organization it may be it must have good public relations. The 100th Battalion and the 442nd Regimental Combat team, for examples, are well known now for their outstanding achievements in the field of battle but without our Mike Masaoka and others in public relations their accomplishments would not have been known to the public as it is today. To Eiba and to the capable staff such as Mrs. Mickey Oyama, who does the mimeographing for newsletter and other District and Chapter work, to the contributing writers, and to the faithful mailing group, our sincere thanks and appreciation for years of service putting out a fine publication.

In addition we owe our thanks and gratitude to Joe Hamanaka and Ute Hirano whose regular columns appear from time to time in the Pacific Citizen, official organ of JACL, informing the national membership their respective outlooks on whats happening in the Pacific Northwest.

Chance for Sansei Hayashi Good

I believe that it is a healthy organization that has many nominees vying for elected positions and we find this year we have three qualified outstanding candidates, namely, Dr. Tom Taketa, Raymond Uno, and Henry Kanegae, who are running for national president. The Pacific Northwest District Council has Don Hayashi, Sansei, running for Vice President of General Operations because we recognize his ability to create rapport among and between Nisei and Sansei. The future of JACL lies with young adults and, particularly, some one like Don Hayashi, who is more than qualified for the office of Vice-President of General Operations. We believe that Don has an excellent chance of being elected the first Sansei to be elected at the National Convention in Chicago. It seems whether it is on a national, district, or chapter level it appears to be much better for the nominating committee to come up with as many qualified candidates for each position. In the past, it would have been more than difficult to fulfill this idea but with the present climate an active nominating committee should have no problems.

Need for Diversified Programs

We note that chapters with programs and projects which are geared to the interest of one segment of their membership find a sharp decline not only in interest but in the total membership. Chapters must have diversified programs and projects which will benefit the young, middle-age, old, rich and poor, conservatives, liberals, and moderates. The ultra-liberals, and ultra-conservatives should join other organizations in the community which will meet their needs and where they can "do their thing." Fortunately, nationally we must be meeting the demands as we are continually year by year showing an increase in our total national membership.

Our heartiest congratulations to Chairman Nobie Tsukiji and her committee, especially Toshi Moriguchi who headed the finance, for the long hours and hard work on the Queen Contest and Coronation Ball which appeared to be highly successful. Let me add, the Moriguchi brothers are well known for their dedication to whatever the cause and this is another fine example of their efforts.

The Pacific Northwest District Council, in its recent District Council meeting in Oregon, passed a resolution requesting National to budget and allocate $20,000 and establish a district office in Seattle with a full paid staff. The members of the National Board are vitally concerned and have expressed the need to build up the image and foundation of JACL in the Pacific Northwest which we heartily concur.

Remarkable Showing of Puyallup Chapter Effort

I would like to believe that the Pacific Northwest area appreciates the outstanding contribution that Mike Masaoka has made for the benefit of persons of Japanese ancestry because of the fine response to the Mike M. Masaoka Trust Fund. At this writing, 458 persons have generously contributed $5915.00 in the Pacific Northwest which includes over 258 persons from the Seattle area who have contributed $2915.00 and the Puyallup Valley committee under the co-chairmanship of Kaz Yamane and Dr. John Kanda, raised from 144 donors $1969.00, a remarkable showing considering they have only 157 members in their chapter. This without question is a good showing and reflects well for our area. The co-chairmen for the Seattle area are Genji Mihara, Toru Sakahara, James M. Matsuoka, Min Tsubota, Yoshito Fujii, and Dr. Terrance M. Toda, who join me in expressing their thanks and appreciation for a truly outstanding contribution to date. At a later date I will acknowledge so many who have assisted us in this campaign but I would like to acknowledge one person, in particular, Midori Uyeda, District Council Secretary (Corresponding) who has been doing a terrific job on the district level but also has been responsible for taking care of so much of the paper work necessary in a campaign of this kind.

I would like to leave for the benefit of some of our Johnny-Come-Lately leaders some food for thought that progress does not come easy. Take, for example, "Urban Renewal" for the Central Area. It took us 14 years before we could use federal funds (Cont'd next page) to start to improve this community. I recall Phil Hayasaka and myself, a part of the Mayor's team, went down to Berkeley, Calif. to study other cities which had been involved in the improvement of their cities, namely, Urban Renewal. In 1955 we went to the State Legislature to urge the passage of enabling legislation and thanks to our friends in the legislature it became law finally in 1957. Because of our efforts, we were given priority but because of so much delay due to opposition by some selfish business interests, it was hung up for a number of years at tax payers expense. We should now see some real improvements. "Operation Break-thru" will see the old Washington Junior High School torn down for a park and a housing unit being built on 18th & Yesler. This land is now being cleared. I am happy to announce that the Kawabe Senior House on 17th and Main has just about finished all of the necessary paper work and planning and will be moving into high gear now for a high rise 157 unit housing for our elderly citizens.

MINIDOKA WRA CENTER'S "IRRIGATOR" PUBLISHED LAST ISSUE 25 YEARS AGO

"As the days of the Minidoka Relocation Center is drawn inevitably to a close, the IRRIGATOR finally succumbing to the effects of relocation, is signing its final thirty to its pages. Since the IRRIGATOR made its first appearance on September 10, 1942 in mimeograph form, it has grown progressively to its present printed format.

"Under the capable management of its first editor, Dick Takeuchi, a University of Washington journalism major, the IRRIGATOR has managed to survive a barrage of editors, among them Jackson Sonoda, at present a Technical Sergeant at Ft. Snelling, Hideo Hoshide, U.S. Army, Sachi Yasui, and the "terrible triumvirate" of Cherry Tanaka, Mitsu Yasuda and Kimi Tambara. The fluctuating editorial staff has since succumbed to the glamorous life offered beyond the gray barracks of Hunt. . . .

"Though evacuation and center life seems like a nightmare which is best forgotten, to many of us it will remain an interlude, a period, in which all of America was also on trial, and lessons learned will never be forgotten and we shall profit by the many experiences during this period in war-time America.

". . . The majority of real Americans who believe and practice the Democratic ideals are rooting for us. Let us take a deep breath and girding ourselves, bid a fond farewell to that gray barrack city of Hunt and pray that never again will another group be made to open its gates again."

THE PRIDE AND THE SHAME

THE PRIDE --- from across the broad Pacific they came --- at the turn of the century --- young and vigorous --- to till the soil --- to fell the tall timber --- to lay ribbons of steel --- to reap the harvest of the finny silver horde. The Northwest owes much to these pioneering Issei for they have left their imprint on this cherished land. And from their loins have sprung their greatest treasure - the three generations of offspring Japanese Americans, a distinctive blend of race and culture. This exhibit chronicles the proudness of accomplishments of these generations to the development of the great Northwest and further tells another story of ---

THE SHAME --- that shame that falls on America for the wartime mass evacuation of 110,000 Japanese, aliens and citizens alike, from the West Coast into concentration camps. This exhibit unfolds the dramatic events of evacuation in picture and text, highlighted by a scale model of a concentration camp as well as a model depicting a rudimentary living unit.

The Nisei and Sansei who put together this exhibit hope to show the uniqueness of Japanese race and the frictional blending of people have produced in its historical course an ironical mixture of both prideful accomplishments and shameful events.
