REGULAR JACL CHAPTER MEETING SET FOR SEPT. 18 FEATURING KING COUNTY PROSECUTOR BAYLEY

President Sam T. Shoji who is nearing the last third of his 1974 term in office will sound the gavel for Sept. 18 from 8 p.m. at the JACL office, 526 S. Jackson St. President Shoji has called on King County Prosecuting Attorney Christopher T. Bayley who will make his campaign presentation on his platform. In order to give equal time, Edward Heavey of King County Legislative Branch District 8, will speak during the October meeting. Bayley will appear about 9 p.m. and President Shoji emphasized that everyone is invited to attend and to ask question.

Dr. Minoru Masuda reported on the "The Pride and the Shame" traveling exhibits in Fort Lewis. There were lots of comments from the viewers but little opposition to the presentation. The committee is negotiating to go to Ontario, Oregon. The Pride and the Shame elementary school level textbook project has reached the point where rough preliminary layouts are being made in preparation for taking proofs.

Tomio Moriguchi made the motion for the chapter to purchase $265.00 ditto duplicating machine to make copies of material numbering 200 prints or less. Ben seconded the motion. Someone suggested that ditto copies will fade in time but this was counteracted by the argument that it is possible to make Xerox copies for filing. The motion passes.

The Seattle Chapter will host the quarterly Pacific Northwest District Council meeting to be held Sept. 28 and 29 at the Sea-Tac Holiday Inn. The meeting starts 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 28 and from 10 a.m. Sept. 29. All JACL members are invited to attend. All meetings are also open to the public, according to Sam T. Shoji, and there will be no charge except for the luncheon which is optional.

President Shoji announced that Don Kazama will chair the nominating committee. How the board stacks up for next year will be determined by how successfully one can talk the members to run as officer or for the board of governors. Each receives only one vote. The only way to help sway the board or to protect your persuasion to your liking is to bring a list of nominees willing to run and submitting to Don Kazama. The 1975 course for the board is determined here and now. Let's have an interesting election.

It has happened. In the August issue we spoke of the grave risk of omission in naming names of persons at the National JACL Convention. The name of Debbie Uno, daughter of Chick and Shigeiko Uno, was missing. And she had worked so hard for the convention youth exhibits and activities. Sorry about that.

A heated discussion ensued for forty-five minutes during August meeting when the board was in the process of passing resolution reprimanding Taki Kubota for his submission of petition carrying 100 signatures of Seattle Chapter members expressing disapproval of citizenship-creed resolutions submitted to the National Convention. The matter was tabled but we can't guarantee that the question will not surface again during September meeting. The story is treated in the separate article in this issue.

Remember to mark your calendar for Sept. 18 JACL meeting!

SPOKANE CHAPTER OVERLOOKED BY INAGAKI SELECTION COMMITTEE?

One of the bigger disappointment for the members of the PNWDC delegation to the 1974 National Biennial Convention was the awarding of the top 1972-73 Inagaki Chapter prize to the West Valley JACL for their $45,000 project in construction of Issei drop-in center. The Seattle received one of the two "consolation" awards good for $150.00 in check and we really have no axe of our own to grind. There is no denying that a small group of West Valley JACL tackling the drop-in center project was inspiring.

But somewhere along the line the Inagaki selection committee forgot the Spokane Chapter. Maybe their proposal was not as articulate compared to some of the Chapters such as Seattle experienced in this form of documentation.

From the demographic point of view we feel that Spokane's accomplishment is even more spectacular with its Nikkei community numbering merely 1,000. The completion of the Spokane's The Hifumi En (Issei retirement home) has two-story and 41 units. The construction was financed by forty-year loan to the Spokane Chapter of the JACL and insured by the Federal Housing Administration to the tune of $400,000.00. And this is a frightening figure. We are seeing an unusual sense of sacrifice and dedication and a sense of complete trust in the community that they will support them to the end. It took great leadership to consummate a project of this magnitude in the city which has no gigantic much less middlesized commercial or business interests and whose Nipponmachi was razed to make way for "progress."

We share with the Spokane Chapter and to delegate Denny Yasuhara for the disappointment. We are behind you 100%.

The Seattle Chapter has sent a letter of support to the Spokane Chapter in recognition of their $400,000 dedication to the benefit of Issei and to other Nikkei retirees.

BOARD IN ARGUMENT TO CENSURE TAKI KUBOTA FOR PRESENTING PETITION TO THE NATIONAL CONFAB

The Seattle Chapter had a mini "watergate" hearing (sort of) during the regular August meeting as a follow through on the Taki Kubota presentation of 100-signature opponent petition of Seattle JACL members during the National Convention debate to drop citizenship requirements for JACL. President Sam T. Shoji said he brought the subject on the agenda "as a matter of clarification and information since it was inappropriate in the manner it was done. This type of minority report should have been brought to the attention of the Chapter at the local level and at the PNWDC level."

Dr. Minoru Masuda made the motion for the resolution to reprimand Taki Kubota. Ben Nakagawa seconded.

Kubota in his initial statement said "I wanted to make clear to the delegates at the convention that there are people here in Seattle having strong feelings of citizenship requirements and (the retention of) creed which has taken a significant part in the building of JACL."

Kubota explained that three days before the convention at the suggestions of past Chapter presidents have circulated dozen or so copies of the petition. The feeling was that a matter so important as citizenship requirements, should be aired. And we we may talk about the right to dissent. There is nothing to prevent us from expressing feeling through petition. One of the reason for the circulation stems from several reports that Convention was stacked to eliminate citizenship-creed resolutions. "I feel very strongly that the acts of the board should be sensitive to the wishes of (total) membership," Kubota continued.

Delegate Ben Nakagawa said, "I hope this board is sensitive to the will and feelings of membership. My bone of contention is not that you did not have the right to but the manner it was handled. I don't think it's a ethical way to operate." Nakagawa reminded that four months is an ample time to take any appropriate action.

President Shoji read Toru Sakahara's letter as a proponent to Kubota's action. But Dr. Masuda still insisted that it was not a question of legality.

Mitch Matsudaira brought up a point that resolution so complex as the two resolutions and the manner it was presented on the petition. "But the wordings of the petition is so simple with the option to sign one or the other or both. I am opposed to this method."

But then the discussion turned the corner. Hideo Watanabe said, "We should think what is good for the Chapter and I'll speak against the resolution.

Nagaoka's feeling as expressed at the meeting was that we've watched in the last ten years the progress of the right to dissenters break up the meetings on the U.W. campus, school board meetings, attempt to break up the meeting in the national Democratic confab in Chicago, etc., etc., and all applauded by the media. The National JACL convention in Chicago not to be outdone the youth group showed Viet Cong propaganda war film, dissertations on socialism and communism, protest dance against the huge corporations in the likes of Bank of America, ITT, Standard Oil, but all aimed primarily at the establishment image of JACL. We thought we had all become callous (or sophisticated) to this type of demonstrations. Suddenly Kubota presents a petition during the National JACL session debate yet and the board begins to act like an "old guard" establishment. So he asks "What's the big deal?"

Ted Taniguchi called for tabling of the motion. The motion was undebateable and carried. We may not have seen the end of this resolution.

MERRIAM COMPANY TO MAKE APPROPRIATE REVISION ON DEROGATORY WORD FOR 1975 PRINTING

A complete turnabout was made in the attitude of G. and C. Merriam Company, publisher of the Webster's Third New International Dictionary when their editorial director H.B. Woolf wrote to Ben Woo, chairman of the Governor's Commission on Asian American Affairs with the following:

"First, let me assure you that we appreciate and sympathize with your concern over the use of the word Jap. We are indeed aware of its derogatory nature, and at the entry for the noun on page 1209 of Webster's Third New International Dictionary our unabridged dictionary, you will find a usage note indicating that it is a disparaging term . . . The upshot is that we expect to make an appropriate revision on page 619 of the New Collegiate for the 1975 copyright printing."

Shosuke Sasaki's long and persistent campaign to define this word in the dictionary as derogatory has now paid off. Sasaki has called on the national libraries associations, and other professional groups to rally on this issue. The State of Washington Commission on Asian American Affairs had advised the state purchasing agents for public schools in its memorandum citing special precaution be used in the selection of dictionaries for purchasing.

E.O.C. SEEKS FUNDING TO CONTINUE INTO 1975

Employment Opportunities Center (4726 Rainier Ave. S., Seattle 98118 (206) 725-8200) has reached a point where it will have to seek future funding. E.O.C. board has effective ties only with the Japanese community. A quick review of attendance at the E.O.C. board meetings for 1974 reveals minimal participation from the Chinese, Filipino and Korean communities, and no participation from the Samoan community, or other ethnic minorities. The need for total Asian community participation was stressed. In attendance at the July 12 EOC board meeting were Hilo Hasegawa, Fred Takayesu, Glenn Akai, Tosh Okamoto, Sam Shoji, Art Yorozu, Chuck Kato, Mitsuye Mihara and Lloyd Hara. John Rey Maeno was introduced. He is E.O.C. proposal writer, Manpower Analyst. Rey is from Los Angeles and graduate of the Univ. of Washington with a degree in political science. United Way will not be taking any application for funding grants until 1976. E.O.C. will continue to write proposals for grants.

During the August meeting John Matsumoto made the motion that JACL write to United Methodist Commission on Religion and Race asking support for proposal submitted by E.O.C. Keiji Sato seconded. The motion passes.

It was announced that Harry Wong, staff member of E.O.C. is assigned to the Interim office at 627 S. Jackson St. for the purpose of taking job applications, offering resume aid, counsel, and to refer and set up appointments.

REPORT ON CULTURAL/SERVICE CENTER

The Center committee met Aug. 30. As mentioned in August newsletter the prospect for funding looks very favorable as Seattle-King County EDA district prioritizing committee has given the project high preference. There are seven such district in the state of Washington to compete against with King County having the largest population and being most important.

The biggest burden at the present time is in the finance committee. Chuck Kato who called the meeting said this committee should be given feedback in order to establish guidelines. They will have to set up machinery for perpetuating the Center once established for determining maintenance and operational costs.

Henry Miyatake suggests that we should have management description written by those who know the operation so they won't overpower other committees. There should be total cross-checking to provide "limit of responsibility." Kato agrees that we need management structure and should get started right away on job description to define authority for finance committee. The same process will determine other committees for defining authority as the project comes toward fruition.

Economic Development Administration (EDA) has been extended for two years with 15% less fund than last year.

SERIOUS MOMENTS PREVAIL AMID CARNIVAL ATMOSPHERE AT THE PEOPLE'S FESTIVAL

The International District Youth Council (I.D.Y.C.) sponsored with JACL among the many supporters held the International District People's Festival Aug. 17 at the Hing Hay Park with all the trimmings of ethnic foods, arts and crafts, movies, music, bands and dances.

We were able to see the banners "Support Low Cost Housing," "People are Important Not the Dome," "Support the Struggle in the International District." After a slow start the crowd picked up and the festival was packed for the evening. Many of the booths reported complete sellout. The booths were represented by EOC, Asian American Education Association, Katipunan ng mga Demokratikong Filipino, International District Youth Council, Legal Service Center, United Garment Workers Local 17, Alaska Cannery Workers Association, Asian Multi-Media, Liberation Book Store, Wing Luke Museum, Asian Drop-in Center, International Drop-in Center, Filipino Youth Activities, Chinese Information Center, Nichiren Buddhist Church Youths. Imperial Drum & Bugle Corps, Tokiwa-Kai Japanese dancing group and Miyagi Kai performing on Koto represented Nikkei cultural participation. Loud portable gasoline generators with heavy noise pollution was a source of irritation for festival goers. A beefed up public address system would have helped especially with the dramas presented on the stage. Band music performing in another area clashed with the program music on stage distracted the dancings on the stage. All in all the Festival can be chalked up as another grand success.

The festival was to bring honors to Asians who have struggled against poverty, racism and inequality that the system has perpetuated.

RETROACTIVE PAY FOR VIETNAM VETERANS

Veterans who served in the military between October 1, 1972 and January 1, 1973 also have retroactive pay coming to them. JACL HEADQUARTERS BUILDING FUND

A National Headquarter building for JACL is being built in San Francisco. The initial cost of a quarter million dollars for the building has been upped to $375,000.00, unfortunately by increased building construction costs. $285,000 has been raised to date. JACL with 30,000 members can make this a successful project if each member put up their fair share of roughly $15.00 each. People from the Seattle area has always comet through for similar projects. Send check to JACL National Headquarters Building Fund, 22 Peace Plaza Suite 203, San Francisco, CA 94115.

OPEN LETTER FROM THE NATIONAL TREASURER

To all JACLers:

A line to express my appreciation and support during my campaign for the National JACL Treasurer Office. With the support of the Seattle Chapter and other Northwest Chapters, it appears as if all other candidates for this important office, wisely or otherwise stayed away.

Although a National Executive is not selected or representative of any specific district, I will do my best to look out for the interest of our Northwest District. Please call on me to be the vehicle for input into the National Board and Executive Board, when the need arises.

Seattle should be very proud to have an outstanding Chapter. I will try to bring to the National level some of the ideas and projects initiated in Seattle.

Thank you again for all your support; I look forward to reporting to you from time to time on projects and decisions made in San Francisco.

Most sincerely,

/s/ Tomio Moriguchi, National Treasurer
