SEATTLE PNWDC GA/100 FLIGHT TO JAPAN

JACLers in the Pacific Northwest can start looking forward to visiting Japan in the beautiful sakura season of 1978. With approval of the Seattle Chapter board to proceed with sponsorship of Group Affinity-100 flight to Tokyo, tentative dates have been set for a 3-week trip in April 1978, it was announced by Seattle Chapter chairperson Harry Kadoshima. At the Pacific Northwest District Council in Tacoma on Sept. 26, co-sponsorship of the flight was approved, with Dr. Terrance M. Toda appointed as District Council chairperson.

Each year numerous JACL flights leave from California cities, but this will be the first JACL group flight departing from Seattle since 1971 when a Chicago-originating charter flight joined up with a contingent of Seattle JACLers. Further details will be announced as firm dates are set, carrier routes are selected, and different tours are planned. Touring Japan can not only be a memorable experience but also a barrel of fun when going with friends and fellow-JACLers. Let's mark the dates and start saving for that trip!

NURSING HOME DEDICATED TO IS: PIONEERS

The Seattle Keiro Nursing Home for elderly Japanese was dedicated Sept. 19 with participation by numerous civic and Japanese community leaders. Among the speakers were John Spellman, King County executive; Consul General Sono Uchida; Genji Mihara, Japanese Community Service; and Edwin Hiroto, administrator of Keiro nursing homes in Los Angeles.

The home was dedicated to Issei pioneers (first-generation Japanese) in recognition of their courage, industry and sacrifices in establishing their roots in America.

Tomio Moriguchi, president of Issei Concerns, Inc., the non-profit group which organized the nursing home, said the dedication marked the realization of a long-time dream of Nisei community leaders to provide health-care services for Issei in a comfortable bilingual and bicultural environment.

The traditional ribbon-cutting was performed by Mrs. Aya Teramoto, who will be the first patient to be accepted by the nursing home, and Mr. Tadashi Takehara, an Issei pioneer who contributed $10,000 to the Keiro project.

Seattle Keiro (in Japanese, Keiro means "respect for elders") was purchased by Issei Concerns last July for $300,000. The 63-bed facility, located at 1700 24th Ave. S., was the former Mt. Baker Convalescent Center. It has been completely renovated and redecorated. The first patients were admitted Sept. 30.

Issei Concerns has been conducting a campaign, based on five-year pledges, to raise $500,000 to cover the purchase of the home, capital improvements and operational expenditures. To date over $310,000 in pledges and contributions has been received from local organizations, churches, business firms and individuals.

Russell Akiyama, formerly employed by the Washington State Department of social & Health Services, is administrator of Seattle Keiro.

BUSH GARDEN BENEFIT DINNER

The benefit sukiyaki dinner staged by the management and employees of Bush Garden produced nearly $7,000 for the Seattle Keiro Nursing Home fund, according to Roy Seko of Bush Garden and Tomio Moriguchi of Issei Concerns, Inc. This total included $6,500 from ticket sales and approximately $500 from Seattle Keiro's 50-percent share of bar receipts. The entire proceeds from the sale of 1,300 tickets at $5.00 each were turned over to Seattle Keiro.

The idea of the benefit dinner was conceived by the employees of Bush Garden, who received the full support of the restaurant's management. The employees volunteered their services in preparing and serving the meals, and the Seko family, including Mrs. Suye Seko, Roy and Joan Seko and Bob and Amy Seko, donated all the food ingredients.

One of the most successful benefit affairs ever held in the Japanese community, the dinner was a heartwarming display of community teamwork at its finest. The Bush Garden employees and management put in many, many hours of planning and work, and numerous volunteers pitched in, performing the endless number of tasks so necessary for putting on a dinner of this magnitude.

BENEFIT BOWLING

Imperial Lanes has sent a check for $425 to the Seattle Keiro fund. Fred Takagi, proprietor, donated the entire day's receipts of Sept. 1 as his firm's contribution to the nursing home. Takagi says he hopes to make this an annual event, turning over the income from one day each summer to the nursing home project.

JAPANESE BAPTISTS. SPONSOR LAOTIAN FAMILY

The Seattle Japanese Baptist Church congregation had previously voted to take this action. The Vieng Khou arrived Aug. 27 from Hong Kong and were greeted by the church special committee. Prior preparation had been made expecting them to make home in Seattle. It became known that relatives were living in the United States and Mr. Vieng Khou's youngest sister had come from California to meet them. They wanted to leave for Los Angeles as soon as possible. However, the church committee did manage to arrange several dinners for the family, brought them to Church Worship Service and arranged for the completion of necessary papers with governmental agencies. The committee picked up the tab for air fare to Los Angeles and gave them a big sendoff in September.

Eiko Shibayama and Sadao Nakagawa were co-chairs for the committee and assisted by Alice Ko-no, Nobi Omoto, Mary Hide Kimura, Charlotte Yamane and Taneichi Ota.

JOHN SATO PLANS "FUNKY" RESTAURANT, 36 MILLION SHOPPING CENTER IN BELLEVUE

John Sato now has under way several interesting projects along 148th Ave. N.E. in Bellevue. Sato, the Seattle-based developer of apartments, commercial projects and builder of the Seahawks headquarters, now has under construction at 2239 148th Ave. N.E., what promises to be one of the funkiest restaurant-discoteques around. Called Saratoga Trunk, it will seat 400 to 450 persons in various nooks and crannies in a setting of glaved comic book covers, wine bottles and Indian teepees.

And across the street, Sato is preparing to start construction of a $6 million shopping center called Overlake Village to include a Payless drugstore, three restaurants, various shops and the biggest Safeway grocery store in these parts containing 41,000 sf. of floor space.

Saratoga Trunk will be joined later by a 10,000 sf. retail area which will join the restaurant to the Standard Brands store already in operation. The entire complex, called Sunset Plaza, also includes an Olympic Sports Center. The Sato firm is owner-constructor-architect.

Overlake Village, scheduled to open in late spring, 1977, will have a total floor area of 147,000 sf. Not all of the tenants have been signed up yet. But the three restaurants will include Corkscrew's, a stucco building done up in King Arthur's castle style, Coco's, a chain operation, plus a pizza eatery. The other buildings will be mainly red brick and tile mansard roof. Owner of Overlake Village is Overlake Village Associates with Sato the principal. Sato Corp. will be general contractor and John Y. Sato Associates, architect.

HARBORVIEW MEDICAL CENTER BONDS ON BALLOT

On September 16, 1976 the King County Council voted unanimously to place Harborview Medical Center's $19.5 million capital construction bond issue on the King County general election ballot. The bond will be used to modernize Harborview Medical Center and to build a new and expanded burn center. About $7 million of the amount will be for plumbing, electrical, and ventilation repairs, $1.5 million to renovate the Inpatient Psychiatric Unit, $3 million to create improved triaging capability in the emergency room as well as to update certain specialty clinics in the Outpatient Department, $6 million for the Burn Center, and $2 million for Radiology Services.

Mr. Robert Jetland, hospital administrator, said the only increase in beds in the entire project is for the Burn Center to which 19 beds will be added to make a total of 40 beds. The rest of the project is modernization and updating of existing facilities." Jetland said that the national Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals safety and physical requirements as well as those of other regulatory and safety agencies have indicated an immediate need for updating of Harborview's facilities. Without the funds from the bond issue, the hospital could have difficulty meeting accreditation standards.

Owned by King County and operated by the Univ. of Washington Medical School, Harborview provides health services for primarily the King County area. Anyone who needs the specialized services of the Center may be treated as well. The emergency trauma center handles 125 patients on an average day and the burn center serves the entire Northwest, since the nearest other regional burn center is in Los Angeles.

The cost of the bond issue to the King County property owners would be 17 cents a year per $1,000 assessed valuation for 20 years. This would amount to $5.10 a year on a $30,000 home. The hospital will try for matching federal moneys if the voters approve the bonds.

The hospital will have to apply for a certificate of need for the improvements in the county owned center if the voters approve the bond issue. City Council Chairman Dave Mooney who introduced the measure on behalf of the hospital said the prime requirement is the expanded burn center. This specialized service is a necessary County resource.

Endorsed by Asian Physicians Committee for Harborview Bonds.

FROM THE BOARD (Continued from page 1): Last July Dr. Minoru Masuda sent a memo to the National JACL office that they try to establish national level Committee Against Defamation.

No reply. A similar letter was sent to National JACL VP Judge Uchiyama. No answer. Dr. Masuda followed up with the summary of Seattle Chapter committee work. No letter. It appears that the work of Committee Against Defamation which is the basic grass root raison d'etre for the existence of JACL continues to be ignored.

Sam Shoji and Haruko Shoji chairing the membership committee have been working tirelessly and effectively and have reached the 697 members as of Oct. 20. Kimi Nakanishi who chairs the One Thousand Club said the Chapter has 110 members in good standing including two Century Club and six Fifty Club members. There are 9 new members and seven past members reactivated. A tremendous showing by Kimi.

JACL DROPS THE BALL IN HANDLING PRIVATE GRANT FUNDED PROJECT

Early this year well wishers were happy for JACL receiving United States Catholic Conference sponsored Campaign for Human Development (CHD) grant. This was a form of breakthrough. Dr. Minoru Masuda now reports on the "sad saga" of certain JACL conflict of interest and serious problems in complying with ground rules laid down by CHD in implimentation of the project. The difficulties were expressed by CHD to JACL in the letter of June 18 addressed to Dave Ushio. This remained unanswered. Letter was again addressed last July 29 to Mr. Ushio.

The difficulties pointed out by CHD follows: 1) Your reliance on exclusive use of the outside consultant for project direction and implementation for an extended period of time. The proposal called for the hiring of staff for this purpose 2) Your contracting the consultant's services without the prior knowledge or input of the Project Advisory Board 3) Your changing the program implementation methodology without prior review or approval by the CHD national office 4) Your failure to establish a separate ledger for the CHD account until approximately May 20, 1976 5) Your charging portion of your salary to the CHD account 6) Your representing expenditures in your reports to CHD as having been made during the first program quarter when in fact such was not the case 7) Your selecting the initial "nucleus" Advisory Board in a manner not consistent with the proposal's projection.

This problem has the effect of JACL losing credibility for future fund grants. CHD, we hear, has stopped the fund after the first quarter. Dr. Minoru Masuda who was on the National Advisory committee for the implementation of the grant wasn't even given the courtesy of the JACL DIFFICULTY IN HIPLEMENT ON OF CHD GRANT (Cont'd): copic of correspondences and the problems besetting the fund. And fund to JACL was to study how the various Japanese American organizations were being slighted for the share of grants. Which makes for the irony of this mess.

Please hurry as time is running out. INTERNATIONAL DISTRICT GARDEN NEARS COMPLETION

The partial completion of the ID Community Garden on its beautiful site near 7th and S. Washington is in clear sight. Construction phase is near finish after four months of labor. Six students have been hired through INTERIM to help install the retaining walls. Railroad ties are being used to hold the soil of the terrace site from sliding once the winter rains commence. This phase also consists of making pathways, the wall, and laying water and drainage lines. Next is making favorable growing medium for the garden by mixing sand and horse manure with clay soil on the site. This will break-up the clay presently on the site and provide excellent top soil.

If anyone is interested in lending some free time, or would like to see our progress, this is the time to visit or contribute to the garden. Also many more hours of labor is needed if we want to plant produce early next spring. Come view the garden progress—follow the street up Washington from 6th S. located next to Kobe Terrace Park! Donate your labor, materials or monies. Talk to Glenn Takagi, garden coordinator c/o INTERIM. Alaska Cannery Workers Association has donated labor. —INTERIM Newsletter
