SEATTLE CHAPTER

JUNE 1985

VOLUME 22 NO. 6

FOUR SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED: At a special board meeting the Chapter's annual scholarships were presented to four Seattle area students. The $500 scholarships are awarded to students of Japanese ancestry who are graduates of a high school in the Seattle area and will be attending an accredited vocational school, community college, undergraduate or graduate college the following year.

Three of the scholarships are given by the Minoru Tamesa Scholarship Fund, established by Uhachi Tamesa in honor of his son. The fourth scholarship is named for former Japanese Baptist Church pastor Rev. Emery Andrews.

Uhachi Tamesa, who recently celebrated his 101st birthday, attended the scholarship ceremony and presented the three scholarships in his son's name. Rev. Paul Nagano of Japanese Baptist Church presented the Andrews scholarship.

Chapter president Dave Okimoto told the group attending the scholarship awards ceremony how the Tamesa scholarship fund originated. Uhachi Tamesa, a Japanese immigrant, raised three children with his wife on their Burien farm.

During World War II, while they were interned at Tule Lake, Tamesa's son Minoru refused to be drafted into the U.S. Army. Minoru was one of 62 Japanese American men who were charged with draft evasion. In addition, Minoru and five others were accused of conspiring against the government by mobilizing other internees against the draft.

At the dinner Okimoto read from Minoru Tamesa's letter to the draft board, as it appeared in the Supreme Court record of his case:

"...I believe that loyalty is like a covenant between a citizen and his country," Tamesa wrote. "A man should fight for his country. On the other hand he should feel that his cause is just, that he is accorded the full privileges of a citizen of a democratic nation..."

Minoru Tamesa died at an early age, and his father started the scholarship fund in his name to provide for persons in need of financial assistance for college.

Receiving this year's Chapter scholarships were:

Michael Denis Ishii, who is attending Oberlin College/Conservatory. Ishii is in a double degree program in both academics and music. He is a member of Oberlin Students Against Racism and the Oberlin Asian American Alliance. He spent his January Project term in Seattle working as a JACL intern in the redress movement.

Sheri Masami Nakashima, who will attend the University of Puget Sound School of Law. Nakashima received bachelor's degrees in psychology, political science and Asian American studies from the University of Washington. At the UW she participated in the Japanese Students Association, Asian Students in Action Now, and the Asian Students Association. She was Asian representative on the Student Advisory Board and the Steering Committee for the new Department of American Ethnic Studies.

Jill Teiko Nishi, who graduated from Franklin High School this year and will attend the University of Puget Sound, majoring in business management. At Franklin Nishi was a student officer and was enrolled in the Humanities program, a college preparatory course.

Lee Ann Teru Tanagi, a 1985 graduate of Rainier Beach High School who will attend the University of Washington. Tanagi plans a career in science, possibly in medicine or biomedical engineering. Her extracurricular activities included Senior class vice president, Honor Society president, and Asian Student Coalition secretary.

KOZU LEAVES FOR LOS ANGELES: The good news is that Seattle chapter membership is nearly at the highest level ever. The bad news is that one of the persons responsible for the increased membership is leaving town.

Kathy Kozu, a longtime JACL member and most recently chairperson of the Membership Committee, is leaving for greener (read that "smoggier") pastures. The 29-year-old Seattle native is moving to Los Angeles to begin a new job with Paramount Television.

Kozu has worked at KOMO Radio for the past six years. In Los Angeles, she'll work for a former KOMO colleague now working at Paramount.

Her work on behalf of JACL will be sorely missed. Under her leadership membership went from around 450, to the current level around 750.

Continued

Seattle is the largest of 11 chapters in the Pacific Northwest District and is largely responsible for the district winning first place in the most recent membership competition. Kozu says she's proud of having helped get the Chapter "back on its feet," in that area.

A large and diverse membership is important to the JACL's goals, but getting people involved is not easy, as Kozu can attest to.

Kozu says much of the recent increase is due to old members rejoining. The membership is still predominantly Nisei. Sansei, while becoming more active in leadership roles, still make-up only a fraction of the total organization.

Kozu says one factor is the Seattle Chapter's reputation of being progressive and outspoken. She feels some in the Japanese American community may not share the Seattle Chapter's political leanings.

Another consideration is money. Current dues are $35, of which $30 goes to the national organization.

The mechanics of handling the membership list has been streamlined, thanks to Kozu and some help from Mich Matsudaira's computer. Now, renewal notices can be easily sent a month or two before memberships expire.

Kozu says she plans to remain active in the JACL in Los Angeles, perhaps joining the Downtown Chapter.

And, she says, she really does plan to someday return to her real home, Seattle. The computer will be waiting...

Special Reports

FIRST VICE PRESIDENT WAYNE KIMURA: A graduate of Franklin High School, Wayne Kimura received a bachelor's degree in science and electrical engineering from the University of Washington. He received his master's and doctorate degrees in electrical engineering from Stanford University Graduate School in 1981.

During his years at Stanford he managed to find time to join the Sequoia Chapter of JACL, which was involved in the redress movement. His work in the Chapter led to the position of second vice president, a position he held for many years.

Wayne is currently working as a senior research scientist at Spectra Technology, located in Bellevue. His job involves the research and development of high energy lasers, not only in the areas of improvement and better understanding of the technology, but also to discover new uses for lasers.

Three years ago Wayne fell in love with downhill skiing, and during each season he has made at least 40 trips to the slopes. Biking and hiking provide his exercise for the remaining months. In addition he would like to add some golf and tennis lessons when his schedule permits.

"I am at a very early point in my work career," Wayne said, "and am trying to establish myself in my position as a laser physicist. I also plan to stay active in the Nikkei community and feel it is very important to be further addressing my customs and culture."

SECOND VICE PRESIDENT SAM SHOJI: Being a clergyman's son probably taught Sam Shoji that it is better to give than to receive, for he has been giving his time and talents for as far back as anyone can remember. His father, Canon Gennosuke Shoji, was a founder of St. Peter's Episcopal Church and Sam happily serves that church.

But it is his devotion to JACL that occupies a great deal of his time. A member for over 25 years, he is a past president and has been either an officer or board member for the last 15 years. He became interested in the JACL when it became more of a civil rights organization and less of a social organization. He thinks the local Chapter's main objective should be to push for redress. On the national level he sees redress and improving the racial climate as the primary goals.

As a native Seattleite, Sam went through Washington Grade School and Junior High and then on to Garfield High. World War II interrupted his education when he was removed to the Puyallup Assembly Center, then to Minidoka, where he finished high school at Hunt High. He eventually returned to Seattle and got a degree at the University of Washington; later he received a master of social work from the UW. He has been a social worker for the Veterans' Administration regional office for the past 22 years.

Aside from his church and the JACL, Sam find time to serve as secretary of Nikkei Concerns, a board member of the National Kidney Foundation, and a member of the Mayor's Committee on Veterans, the Major's Task Force on Street People, and Washington Coalition on Redress. Although all these activities keep him busy, Sam feels that he is paid back many times more than he has put in. His hobby, he says, is community activities.

LEC TO BEGIN FUNDRAISING AND LOBBYING DRIVE: Thomas Kobayashi was the first in the Pacific Northwest to donate to the Legislative Education Committee, which is gearing up for heavy redress lobbying during the 1986 congressional session. A goal of $400,000 per year for the next three years has been set nationally. The fund drive will need massive support, not only from JACL members, but also from the larger community, particularly those who will benefit by redress legislation.

Kobayashi, a recipient of redress compensation from the City of Seattle, donated $1,000 last year to the local redress effort. After reading a small item in the Pacific Citizen about the need for LEC to raise funds to expand and intensify the lobbying activities for the national redress bill, Kobayashi responded immediately with another $1,000 donation, jumping the gun on the official LEC fund drive kick-off, which was announced in the June 7 issue of the Pacific Citizen.

LEC is a 501(c)4 lobbying arm of JACL, and cannot offer tax deductible receipts. There are currently numerous major fundraising drives in full swing in the local area by organizations which can offer tax deductible receipts.

The LEC fundraising will be viewed by many as the final proof of commitment behind the redress effort and it is being undertaken in a "now or never" approach. Because Seattleites have been exceptionally supportive of the redress effort in the past, the local LEC fund drive is expected to succeed with the continuing support of JACL members, non-JACL members, and everyone who believes there is a basic principle at stake that is important not only to Americans of Japanese ancestry, but to all Americans.

Donations to the Legislative Education Committee should be directed to the attention of any of the "prime solicitors" in the Seattle area: Lloyd Hara, Cherry Kinoshita, Tomio Moriguchi, and Robert Sato. Checks should be made payable to LEC, and mailed to the JACL office at 316 Maynard Ave. So. Room 108, Seattle, WA 98104.

JAYS TO PRESENT STUDENT WORKSHOPS: Japanese American Youth of Seattle will present "Focus on Your Future," a student development program for college and career success. The Program will emphasize general skills that are beneficial to the students in college as well as throughout their careers. Workshops will address public speaking, stress management and studying skills. There will also be a panel of people from the community who will share their personal experiences regarding the advantages and disadvantages they have faced as a minority.

The program will be held on Saturday, June 22, at the University of Washington, Communications Building, Room 120. For registration materials contact the JACL office at 623-5088.

MAY BOARD MEETING HIGHLIGHTS: The scholarship awards preceded the special dinner board meeting, held at the Kawabe House. The potluck dinner was organized by Massie Tomita.

Sam Shoji announced that the Seattle and Lake Washington Chapters would provide volunteers for the KCTS-TV fundraising telethon on June 5. Twenty-seven volunteers took pledges for the station.

A final draft of the endowment fund guidelines was handed out to board members for discussion. Approval will be voted on at the next board meeting.

Rod Kaseguma of the Affirmative Action/Legal Committee announced vacancies on several state commissions. He encouraged interested persons to apply and stressed the importance of having representation on these commissions. Current commission vacancies are: 1) Four vacancies for the Commission on Asian American Affairs, three year terms. CAAA examines issues relating to Asian Americans and makes recommendations to the governor. 2) One vacancy for a five year term on the Human Rights Commission, which investigates violations of state laws against discrimination. 3) Five vacancies on the Advisory Committee on Minority and Women's Business Enterprises, four year terms. The committee assists the Office of Minority and Women's Business Enterprises, which encourages participation of qualified minority and women-owned businesses in public works and procurement.

Contact Rod at 642-7562 (evenings) or Ellen Miyasato at 442-2935 (days) for applications and information.

Mako Nakagawa announced that the JACL District Council presented a plaque to the Seattle Chapter Membership Committee for having the highest percentage membership increase. The board thanked Kathy Kozu for her many hours of work on membership.

Mako also announced that the Nikkei Diabetes Study is looking for male Nisei volunteers, aged 40s to 50s, who are NOT diabetic. Contact Donna Leonetti at 722-1894.

CHAPTER NOTES: The newsletter's new look this month comes from designer and illustrator Tom Yaguchi, who recently moved his office to 601 Valley St. #305. His new phone number is 285-7307. The typesetting was done by Eric Tomita at West Coast Printing, 622 Rainier Ave. So. Our thanks go to both of them for making the newsletter so much more attractive.

A note of thanks to the May mailout crew: Christine Shigaki, Jerry Shigaki, Sam Shoji, Roger Shimizu, Hana Masuda, May Sasaki, Saki Shimizu, Vicki Toyohara, George and Jean Nishi, Alan Kurimura, Mako Nakagawa and Wayne Kimura.

Our thanks to Michiko Harada for typing the May newsletter and Yoko Cullinan for typing this month's newsletter.

The following JACL members graciously volunteered their help for the Cherry Blossom Festival last month at the Seattle Center: Florence Fujita, Amy Hirai, Yumiko Hiraoka, David Hoekendorf, Ken Katayama, Wayne Kimura, Linda Kodama, Kathy Kozu, Mitsue Kunitsugu, Lori Matsukawa, Hana Masuda, Kimi Nakanishi, Ken Nakano, Rose Ogino, Arlene Oki, May Sasaki, Edward Suguro, Mary Suzuki, Lily Takatsubu, Pat Terao, Massie Tomita, Dale Watanabe, Jack and Tassie Yamashita and Yaeko Yorozu.

The Seattle Chapter received contributions from the following people in May: Shea Aoki and George and Alice Yasutake, in memory of Tom Imori; Chie Nakata and Harry Iwata, for the Japanese community directory; Uhachi Tamesa, for the scholarship fund. A hearty thank you to all the May contributors.

CRJAWC RAISES FUNDS: The Committee to Reverse Japanese American Wartime Cases received generous contributions from the community on the eve of Gordon Hirabayashi's Federal Court trial.

On May 23 the joint Puyallup/Olympia JACL Chapters raised $1,264. Emi Somekawa was chairperson of that fundraiser.

On May 24 Mayumi Tsutakawa and Glenn Chinn were gracious hosts of a joint CRJAWC and American Civil Liberties Union cocktail party that raised $1,580. Arlene Oki and Alex Gottfried were co-chairs of that event.

On May 25 the performance of "Breaking the Silence" raised $4,526 with a capacity crowd at the HUB Auditorium. Many thanks go to the performer, director, stage personnel and others who donated their talents and time. Thanks to the committee members also, especially: Aki Kurose, Hana Masuda, Ann Takawa, Tomo Shoji, Esther Furugori, Massie Tomita, Buffy Sato, Saki Shimuzu, Kay Cronin, Tim Otani, Greg Tuai, Tracy Lai, Stan Shikuma, Roger Tang, Diane Narasaki, Sue Davidson and Dr. Tets Kashima.

The Committee urges the community to participate and attend the court trial on June 17, beginning at 9 a.m., in U.S. District Court for Western Washington, Judge Donald Voorhees' courtroom, fifth floor. The federal courthouse is located at Fifth and Madison in Seattle.

GOLF TOURNAMENT AND AWARDS DINNER NEXT MONTH: Seattle JACL 14th Annual Golf Tournament will be held Sunday, July 28, at Jefferson Park Golf Course starting at 11:00 a.m. The House of Hong restaurant will be the scene of dinner and awards following the tournament. A social hour will start at 5:30 p.m. Entry fee is $9.00 and dinner will be $11.00 including tax and tip. All paid up 1000 Club members and spouses are eligible to compete and/or attend the dinner.

Community Notes

Tsuguo "Ike" Ikeda, executive director of the Atlantic Street Center, received the 1985 Community Service Award from the Rotary Club last month in recognition of his 32 years in Social Work. Ikeda, chair of the Chapter's Education Committee, was probably the first Asian American executive director of a social service agency in the country.

Mark Mano was recently promoted to the position of director at KING-TV. Mano has been a floor director at KING since 1980, working on the station's regular and special programming, and on newscasts. He has been director for "Gardening with Ed Hume," "KING 5 Morning News," and "Celebrate the Differences."
