SEATTLE CHAPTER

AUGUST 1989

VOLUME 26 NO. 8

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT: TWO EVENTS DEMONSTRATE "IMPORTANT PRIORITIES"

Two major events occurred recently and are worth mentioning here. The dedication of the Fort Vancouver Monument and the meeting with the Educational Service District (ESD) 121 board were events made possible by the leadership of two JACL Board members and the support of members at large.

These events demonstrate two important priorities for JACL: international relations with Japan and the protection of civil rights. Let me share with you how we have addressed these priorities recently.

About a year ago, Ken Nakano, chair of our International Relations Committee, came over on a Sunday morning and discussed his dream of a monument commemorating three Japanese seamen who landed in our state in 1832, and the bond between the Japanese and Americans that aided them. Ken Nakano pursued his dream, and through many setbacks and long hours tackling the state bureaucracy, he was able to connect with the Japanese government and garner their financial support in the form of a beautiful monument which now stands at Fort Vancouver.

This monument is a gift from Hyogo Prefecture in Japan to Washington state citizens. Over 100 Nikkei were present at the opening ceremonies, including our national President Cressey Nakagawa. It was a momentous occasion in our state's history and an example of how one JACLer has contributed to the bridging of our community with the citizens of Japan. Many thanks to Ken Nakano for his historic contribution.

Last month, Ben Nakagawa spoke before the ESD 121 school board and expressed some principles that reflect of JACL. He stated that JACL will not tolerate racism--that we, as Nikkei, will not stand by and let it happen. He presented a cogent, hard-hitting account of ESD 121's lack of affirmative action and hiring practices. He was powerful in his insights and courageous to be so honest.

There were over 30 JACL members present at the meeting. Ben presented a list of actions necessary to remedy the situation, and a time frame for a response from the ESD 121 board. Our Executive Committee will be meeting with Ben to discuss their response which was received this past week.

I deeply appreciate the efforts of these two JACL members and their willingness to accept leadership and to follow through on their beliefs. It isn't an easy task, but both of these men will tell you that they just had to do it because it is important to make a contribution to our community. I believe the strength of JACL is in its members, particularly in their convictions and visions to see beyond today and to embark on action that will result in a better tomorrow. Thanks again to Ken and Ben, two men with commitment.

Other notes: In August, I will be attending the JACL bidistrict council meeting in late August to discuss JACL issues. I also met recently with Cressey Nakagawa and JACL District Governor Denny Yasuhara. Over lunch, I learned of the historical civil rights battles JACL has experienced and the strategies used in them, and the efforts we must make to get funding for redress.

On August 2, I participated in the opening ceremony for the Hyogo Fair and was impressed to see over 600 citizens from Hyogo, Japan, as well as government officials here to greet state and local leaders. On behalf of the Japanese American Citizens League, I greeted many Japanese citizens to our city and enjoyed meeting people from a country from which we share a common bond.

JACL TAKES ACTION ON MINORITY AFFAIRS POSITION AT U.W.

JACL wrote a letter to Dr. William Gerberding, joining other organizations to call for a fair and open process to select a new Vice President for Minority Affairs. JACL was pleased to hear recently that the university president did decide to conduct a search to find a replacement for Dr. Bob Pozos.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT WILL RETAIN MOST HIGH-RANKING ASIAN AMERICANS

Darrell Mihara, representing the Asian Pacific Directors Coalition and JACL, met with Seattle school Superintendent William Kendrick last month to discuss ways to retain the highest-ranking Asian Americans in the school district's central

VOLUNTEERS RECOGNIZED FOR THE 1989 CHERRY BLOSSOM FESTIVAL

The following letter was submitted by the co-chairpersons of the 1989 Seattle Cherry Blossom and Japanese Cultural Festival held at the Seattle Center, April 14 through 16, 1989:

Dear Volunteers:

Thank you so much for your time and energy volunteering in the 1989 Seattle Cherry Blossom and Japanese Cultural Festival.

We, the Committee of the Seattle Cherry Blossom and Japanese Cultural Festival, cannot express our gratitude enough. We work a full year and sometimes two years ahead of time planning the Festival. We work out all the logistics as to who's coming, how they will get here--all the way down to where the lights are positioned. But, in the end, it is because of people like yourself, volunteers, that make the Festival possible for all of Seattle and the surrounding area.

Again, a belated thank you. Our apologies to anyone we may have omitted.

Sincerely yours,

AL SUGIYAMA WILL SEEK POSITION ON SEATTLE SCHOOL BOARD

Al Sugiyama, Seattle Chapter JACL vice president, longtime community activist and life-long resident of Seattle, is running for Position #7 on the Seattle School Board. The seat is currently filled by Board President T.J. Vassar, who is not seeking re-election. If elected, Al will become the first Asian American to serve on the Board.

Al is currently the executive director of the Center for Career Alternatives, an award-winning, nationally recognized non-profit employment and training agency located in the Rainier Valley. Prior to founding this agency in 1979, Al worked with youth and adults at the Employment Opportunities Center, Seattle OIC, the City of Seattle and Seattle Public Schools. A graduate of Garfield High School in 1968, Al currently lives on Beacon Hill with his wife Kathy and two daughters.

Correction: The June, 1989 issue of the Chapter Newsletter incorrectly reported that Washington State Representative Dennis Braddock helped defeat legislation being considered by the Senate Children and Family Services Committee which would exempt redress payments from being a factor when determining if a person was eligible for federal public assistance programs.

Representative Braddock, in fact, provided key support for the legislation written by Representative Gary Locke, which was eventually amended onto Senate Bill 6152 and passed.
