Vocational Training Opportunities

(Editor's note: The role of training for skilled trades has gained increased emphasis as nation strives for full employment. JACL encourages everyone who can profit in vocational training to contact Mr. George Iwasaki, a member of JACL board of governors, for further information concerning either the day or evening programs He resides at 1103 26th Avenue, Seattle 98122. East 2-0062)

We in the Seattle area are blessed with the best educational facilities found anywhere in these United States. Three great universities grace our city providing academic programs for those qualified persons in order that they may receive an education above the high school level, but what of those persons that are not college bound?

Most Seattleites are not fully aware of the educational opportunities found in the Seattle Public School's Adult and Vocational Program. Two schools, Edison and Holgate Technical Schools, offer a variety of vocational trades. Upon completion, a graduate is well prepared for employment into any field of his or her choosing. Each trade has a different course curriculum that will differ in the length of time needed for completion. High school graduates will be especially interested in the courses available.

For those already employed and needing upgrading, a full night school program is provided. Many of the courses offered in the day program are also offered in the evenings. The only requirement necessary for enrollment in the evening classes are that each applicant be working in the trade.

Double Feature Offered

A good double feature is being offered for JACL Movie Night at the Kokusai Theater Friday, Saturday, Sunday, April 24, 25 & 26. Tickets may be obtained from members.

PURPOSE OF JACL

by Tak Kubota

As a result of the November Conference held in Los Angeles sponsored by the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, I have become more and more convinced that employment is one field in which J.A.C.L. needs to take a more active role. It has become apparent that J.A.C.L. lacks factual information and data regarding the actual extent which the Nisei experience in employment.

I can assure you that I have been cognizant of the need, and, therefore, I am requesting the District Councils and the chapters to take the necessary steps to obtain this factual information and thereby make it possible for us to pursue this problem objectively.

In addition, we are approaching persons such as Art Takei, who appeared on a panel group in the Los Angeles Conference, to provide us with facts and figures which his union found in a survey that there were hardly any Nisei in the executive and management positions in the retail trades, and, particularly, in the large markets and chain groceries in and around Los Angeles.

JACL Confab Theme

"Human Dignity—Our Challenge" has been officially announced as the theme of the 18th Biennial National JACL Convention to be held July 1-4 in Detroit.

In releasing the theme, Frank Watanabe, Convention Board chairman, stressed the JACL history of concern for civil rights and human dignity.

During the present momentous civil rights struggle, the special National JACL Committee on Civil Rights issued a JACL Civil Rights Statement in support of the Negro Americans' struggle for equality. The implementation of the JACL statement on Civil Rights is our challenge, he said.

The National JACL Oratorical and Essay Contest also stress "JACL and Civil Rights."

Rummage Wanted

The President's Corner

By Dr. Terrance M. Toda

As the announcers say, this was one of the most hotly contested city elections. Of all other races, issues and candidates, the vote was decisive. The one issue on which we should give more than the usual scrutiny is the one on fair housing. Endorsement in support of this measure came from the leadership in our city. Organized labor, PTA, churches, community organizations, city officials and leaders gave their support to this measure. Yet, in the privacy of the voting booth, votes were cast overwhelmingly against fair housing. There is no question but that voters have expressed their voice on this issue. In the light of the proportion of white and non-white voters of this city, this is an expression of the long stand social distance, hostility, fear, and racial attitudes, particularly in relation to negroes. All this means that we can anticipate considerable conflict in Seattle. I think we can contribute greatly to maintain harmony. Also, this should serve to remind ourselves that there is great danger in becoming too complacent about our own acceptance and be constantly vigilant to consolidate the gains achieved by us, particularly since World War II. In this, JACLers as members and as an organization, can play an important role.

MEN OF VISION - "GUTS"
 By Elmer Ogawa

In this year 1964, many Seattle residents, and JACLers too, have possibly not been exposed to the old, old story. The Seattle Chapter is the granddaddy of all the 89 chapters in the nation. It was founded in 1921. There were no Nisei who had attained voting age, with the possible exception of Shig Ozawa. Clarence Arai was 20, Jimmie Sakamoto 18 or 19, and there were other old timers like George Ishihara, Yae and Tomeo Takayoshi, Miss Yuki Higashi, and Allen K. Arai. And others. Your reporter, at the time about 15, was too young to even be invited to the birth of the JACL.

The purpose of these teen age youngsters was to form a group which would seriously prepare itself to undertake the responsibilities of voting citizens upon reaching the age of 21. A commendable purpose indeed, which exactly fits the present day motto of the national JACL. Mr. H. H. Okuda, who came to this country in the 90's was the advisor.

The "Seattle Progressive Citizens' League" as it was called flourished for a while and then went into the doldrums after a few years.

In November, 1927, Jimmie Sakamoto came back to Seattle after a torrid 6 year "career" in the east, which involved several activities; but we'll mention only that professional boxing left him with detachment of the retina in both eyes, and his sight was failing rapidly when he returned to Seattle.

Jimmie was just "looking around" but he called a meeting of several Nisei and this time your boy was old enough to be invited. In characteristic fashion Jim got right to the point, and told the group that the ghetto-like community was sick. He described the top club athletic rivalry which was eating into the economic life of the community. The situation was so tense that supporters and members of one club would not patronize the business establishment run by a member of the other club. In the tight little segregated community of 40 years ago, things like this were important.

Then Jim went on with his talk, and we'll take the liberty to quote from memory: "And another thing I would like to see, would be a reactivation of the Citizens' League. More and more young men and women are approaching legal maturity, and the need for a citizens' organization is now greater than ever."

All present listened attentively, captivated by this example of dynamic leadership. Then Jimmie announced very simply: "I'm going to start a newspaper!" That statement was a shocker—coming from a guy who could just barely get around a fuzzy world in bright sunlight. The Japanese American Courier (all in English) came out on Jan. 2, 1928. In three months the Sakamoto orbs went into a total blackout.

But the Courier carried on, and ceased publication only by the circumstance of evacuation in 1942. In the interim, make the year 1930, a convention was held here in Seattle, and at that time, the

Phil Hayasaka writes—

(Ed. note: Phil Hayasaka is Exec. Secy., Human Rights Commission.)

There has been much speculation on what is going to happen in Seattle, since the voters have rejected the open housing ordinance. Everyone, it seems, is analyzing the who, what and the whys of the result.

The work of the Seattle Human Rights Commission is now made more difficult. The housing ordinance would have been a most important educational tool. As someone once said, "The laws of today are the customs of tomorrow". This has been true in the past of the child labor laws, women suffrage, and the many other laws that once were controversial, but are now accepted as a matter of course. Even the Declaration of Independence came under severe attack at that time.

The city ordinance that created the Seattle Human Rights Commission in July, 1963, states that the commission shall "carry out a public education program and solicit the cooperation of individuals and organizations in the city in promoting equality and understanding among all citizens." The commission is also to "study and investigate problems arising in the city which may result in tensions and discrimination because of race, color, religion or national origin."

The problem of minority people, whether they be Negroes, Japanese, Chinese, Filipino, or anyone else, still remain — that of being denied equal opportunities — that of being denied their human rights — that of being less than a first class citizen. There will be unrest until these inequalities are resolved — until the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States are implemented for all Americans. Seattle is headed for a period of tension and crisis, unless concrete action is taken now for complete freedom of all citizens.

Credit Peter Marshall, former chaplain of the United States Senate for saying "It is better to fail in a cause that will ultimately succeed, than succeed in a cause that will ultimately fail".

It seems to me that the Nisei in Seattle, and especially those in JACL, has a role to play, rather than being spectators. "For Better Americans in a Greater America" can be more than just a motto.

DONATION FROM MRS. TOKITA

A generous donation to the JACL Reporter has been received from Mrs. Ann H. Tokita, ardent supporter of JACL.

Japanese American Citizens League, consisting of a few Pacific Coast chapters, was formed as a national organization.

A nostalgic memory pops up now and then—when your reporter was trying to lend a hand on The Courier in 1928—one day Jim called us over to the desk. He said; "Hey guy, don't try to use that word 'Guts' in this paper any more."

Cleveland High News

"Cleveland Day," March 13th, was under the co-chairmanship of Coralie Akita, supported by the school organizations and their leaders. Among them, Susan Takagi, Jan Taketa, Oli Kinomoto, Kay Hayashi, Karen Shimomura, Jack Ibuki, Steve Shimamoto, Susan Kihara, Alan Harada, Barbara Iwata, Susan Kihara, Phil Kato, Sandi Shiomi and Gayle Okamoto.

Sue Takagi, a Mrs. Cleveland candidate, was nominated for her good leadership, outstanding citizenship, and other "ideal student" qualities. The top four boy and girl seniors compete for the honor of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland.

Special junior boys and girls honored during Junior Week were Coralie Akita, Mike Morishima and Jim Otoshi. Linda Tsuchikawa was in charge of lunchroom decorations and Ken Shimomura was chairman of "Thursday Blue Day."

Karen Shimomura, a gold key and blue ribbon winner in the Scholastic Art Awards contest, will have her travel poster entry sent to New York to be viewed with other winning entries.

Nancy Watanabe, Cleveland alumna and a songleader at the University of Washington, was a guest speaker at the Girls' Club Assembly and spoke on make-up problems, good grooming and tips for good conversation.

Appearing with other notable "personality" teachers, Mr. Frank Fujii, art instructor pantomimed one of the fabulous Beattles at a Pep Rally. Attired in Koji Furuta's yell leader jacket, a wild wig, and strumming a guitar, Mr. Fujii and the other teachers created a five minute standing ovation with their "yah, yah" singing.

Joy Nakanishi Awarded Seattle U Scholarship

Joy Nakanishi, Immaculate High School senior, was awarded the President's Scholarship, a one year full tuition scholarship to Seattle University, on the basis of her academic achievements. A popular student, she has held various offices in school organizations and is presently secretary-treasurer of the Student Body Council and is also co-chairman for the Senior Prom. She is the daughter of Mrs. Kimi Nakanishi, a secretary of the Seattle Chapter JACL.

Membership Drive On

About two-thirds of the goal of 500 set for the Seattle Chapter has been realized so far in the current drive for members, both new and old.

Committee members are asked to turn in their reports and money to Eddie Shimomura, chairman, or Mary Ishii, Assistant chairman, so that they may be tabulated. Old members are asked to send in their renewals and prospective members should send in their dues to the JACL office, 318 Sixth Avenue So., or to any JACL member. Dues are $6.00 per year for one or $10.00 for a couple; $25.00 a year for 1000 Club membership and $2.00 for local membership.

Garfield Notes

Robert Mizumori, senior class math whiz at Garfield High, received the highest score among the 58 students from Garfield, Meany Junior High and Washington Junior High taking the test. Sophomore class president, Glen Namatame received the highest score among the sophomore group. Roger Mizumori plans to major in math at Cal Tech.

Lotus Bandits casaba team took the senior division title of the Nisei League as they won the close game from St. Peters. Junior division champs are the Imperial Lanes team. Imperial Lanes, St Peters and Lotus Bandits are all predominantly Garfield students. Bandit roster includes Ray Kihara, Stan Hiraoka, Paul Toshi, Martin Mano, Art Uyeda, and Barry Kikuchi, all of Garfield, and Alan Harada of Cleveland.

Members of the varsity baseball team at Garfield include Steve Sumioka and Gary Kobata, 2nd base, and Stan Hiraoka, outfield.

We hope to pursue in employment questions as to union membership, eligibility for apprenticeship training, upgrading to managerial and supervisory positions which might be answered by questioning not only Japanese Americans involved or interested in such jobs and positions but also union and public officials as well as firm and plant or office managers, etc.

It is quite evident that there must be an educational program among those of Japanese ancestry to recognize that they are victims of actual racial discrimination and to be willing to file and prosecute claims on such grounds. When the Federal, State, and local governments have created special agencies and committees to protect the rights of minorities in employment those of Japanese ancestry should take advantage of these official efforts to eliminate race, color, and religion from these areas of human activity.

It has been suggested by John Yoshino, Deputy Director, Field Service, President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, that our committee conduct a survey among sansei college students at several large universities such as the University of Washington, University of Oregon, University of California, University of Utah, U.C.L.A. to learn about their vocational interest, goals, and attitudes toward racial discrimination.

Locally, we are considering as a Seattle chapter activity a pilot plan to hold a one day conference for nisei and sansei Junior or Senior High School students in order to give our young people an opportunity to meet with outstanding successful specialists to discuss their specialties. The youth will meet in a number of small panel groups which will enable them to ascertain for themselves by early exposure what is expected of them if they were to pursue this particular field.

SAVINGS BOND FOR WINNERS

As part of the 18th Biennial National Convention, the Seattle chapter will participate in the National JACL oratorical and essay contest. The purpose is "to give Japanese American youth an understanding of JACL's concern for Civil Rights, and how they as Americans of Japanese ancestry might advance Civil Rights through organizational and individual efforts." Contestants must be between 16 and 21 during 1964 and must be sponsored by a JACL Chapter. Contestants may compete in either oratorical or essay contest but not both. Contest theme is "JACL and Civil Rights."

Contestants for speech shall prepare delivery time limited from eight to nine minutes and may possess one 3X5 card for notes.

Contestants for essay will submit a manuscript between 800 to 1000 words typed double-spaced on regular letter 8½X11 papers, and postmarked not later than May 31, 1964, 12:00 midnight, and submitted to Nat'l JACL Essay Contest Chairman Dr. Joseph D. Sasaki, 4320 Fresno Lane, Ann Arbor, Mich. 48104.

Essay will be judged on content, originality of thought, effectiveness, and good English. Oration will be judged on personality, content, delivery, and overall effectiveness with score ratio of 2, 2, 4, 2 respectively. Winner of the finals at the national convention in Detroit will receive $200, $100, and $50 Savings Bond for oratorical and $100, $50, and $25 for essay.

Mrs. Margaret Yanagimachi (TA 4-5306) for essay, and Mr. Richard M. Ishikawa (SH 7-2672) for speech are co-chairing the contests here and should be contacted for further information.

JACL Bowling Tourney

A number of prizes were captured by Seattleites who journeyed to Sacramento for the annual JACL National Bowling Tournament last week. Massy Kobayashi, hitting a 752 took first place in the squad sweeper. Fred Takagi, rolling 1284 in six games likewise came in first in the squad sweepers. Others were Fumi Yamasaki who placed fourth in the singles with a 608; Lois Yut, 11th in the sweepers; Hiro Sasaki, sixth place in the sweepers with 1276; Jack Shiota, 14th in sweepers with 1219; Wally Hadano, second place in squad with 1194; Mako Murakami, second in his squad with 1315; Tommy Namba, third in singles with 605.

Fred Takagi placed 30th in all-events.

Team No. 2 with Mako Murakami, Jack Shiota, Tosh Funai, Hod Otani, Akio Yanagihara came in first place in squad with 2981. Imperial No. 1 made up of Ben Nakata, Tuk Mikami, Mako Fujihara, Mote Yasuda, and Dan Mio copped sixth place and main prize with 2885 and Team No. 4 with Fred Takagi, Morrie Yamaguchi, Tommy Namba, George Naito and Sho Suyama placed second in squad with 2840.

New Dance Classes

Is your dancing a little rusty? Do you sit out when the band starts playing the rumba or the tango? You needn't, not if you sign up for the JACL dance classes which are now being formed. The first session last Spring proved so popular that a second one following the same pattern will be inaugurated very shortly. Niles and Marguerite Brewster, advisers of the JACL Dance Club, will be the instructors.

These classes will be open to anyone interested in learning to dance, regardless of JACL affiliation.

Sign up now with Kimi Nakanishi, LA 3-5937, or call Tik Suyama, PA 5-6719, for further information.

City Officials Visit —

Aspirants for offices in the recent city election were visitors at the February Board meeting last month. Among those who dropped in to say "hello" were Dorm Braman, winner of the mayoralty campaign; John Cherberg, Lt. Governor of the State and unsuccessful candidate for mayor, Councilman Floyd C. Miller and Councilwoman Mrs. Harlan E. Edwards who were re-elected, and Robert J. Block who was defeated for council position. Councilman Wing Luke whose term does not expire at this time also made an appearance. Tak Kubota introduced the erstwhile politicians.
